HEAVY RAIN, BUT LITTLE WATER

Bombs Level French Legation At Hanoi

U.S. Jets Blamed As Official Complaint Filed

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. warplanes were reported to have leveled the French legation in the heart of Hanoi today and the French government complained officially to the United States. Hanoi called the reported bombing "an extremely grave act of escalation" but gave no sign it would break off secret peace talks with Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

The U.S. Command in Saigon and the U.S.Defense Department acknowledged there were raids on North Vietnam toay, expressed regret at any injury to the French mission but said the damage may have been caused by North Vietnamese SAM2 missiles falling back and exploding when they missed U.S. Navy planes bombing across the Red River from Hanoi.

U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, speaking in a Washington news conference, did not rule out the possibility that American pilot error and a faulty bomb drop might have been responsible for the attack on the French compound.

Laird said he was investigating to see if the explosion at the French mission was caused by an American bomb but that he could not be certain whether it was caused by "a faulty bomb drop by a pilot or by a faulty SAM missile."

"It is regretted," Laird said. "...I cannot state emphatically that this might not have been an error (by an American pilot.)" He added that, "we do not target non-military sites; we do not target downtown Hanoi."

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers sent a message of "personal regrets" to French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann although the White House said U.S. officials were not sure how the damage occurred.

Reports from Hanoi Radio, Moscow, Sweden and Hungary said four Vietnamese employes and an Egyptian woman were killed when the French legation was hit and that French diplomat Pierre Susini and Albanian diplomat Treman Ramamai were wounded. Ramamai was visiting the French legation at the time.

Other damage reports said American bombs fell near the Swedish Embassy, creating "extensive damages" and hit the Algerian Embassy. Hanoi Radio said several other persons were injured and said there was extensive damage to

DEAL MADE FOR RETURN OF FLAG

The Marin Bay flag is home again!

Hercules L. Viglienzone, owner of Marin Bay Lincoln Mercury in San Rafael, said today he paid a $100 ransom for return of the twice-stolen 24-by-40-foot American flag which flutters outside his firm at night amid spotlights.

Viglienzone said he arranged the deal after several calls from an enterrising youth who said he was an acquaintance of the thief.

The flag was first stolen Sept. 24 and later recovered after an apologetic thief called and said it was stashed behind a sign near McNear's Beach in San Rafael.

Recreation Area Hurdle Cleared

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A last-minute roadblock by the Army to final congressional approval of the Golden Gate National Recreation apparently was resolved today.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, a primary author of the legislation, predicted final approval this week that would send the measure to the President for his signature into law.

The congressman, however, qualified his prediction with the caution that "there are always things at this stage of the game that can come unstuck." Congress is supposed to adjourn by the end of the week, thus the proposal will be dead until next year unless approved within the next three days, according to Mailliard.

The compromise was negotiated by Mailliard and others with Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the potent House Armed Services Committee.

The Army had objected that too much of its property in the Presidio of San Francisco and Fort Baker in Marin could be incorporated into the recreation area. The amendment worked out with Hebert assures the Army will retain control over all its lands included in the recreation area until no longer needed for military purposes, Mailliard said.

The amendment won prompt approval this morning at a special meeting of the interior committee, which previously endorsed the bill that has been pending approval on the lower house floor.

Mailliard said Senate proponents of the measure have agreed to seek an immediate vote there on the amended version once it wins House approval.

Mailliard said the amendment also resolved objections from Hebert that the recreation area bill should have gone through his committee as well.

Mailliard added that the Army had been "unnecessarily

POOCH PARK

Belvedere Will Honor Its Dogs

Parks may be for people but in Belvedere, they're for dogs, too.

The city parks and recreation commission disclosed last night it plans on Nov. 4 to dedicate a small vacant lot at Beach and Peninsula roads expressly for the community's pooches.

It's a Marin first — a doggie park.

Belvedere had trouble in the past with pets that littered public thoroughfares with their waste. But then the city council adopted an ordinance requiring owners to clean up after their pets and clamping tight controls on roaming animals.

As part of the crackdown, the city reached agreement with the Belvedere Land Co. to use the lot at Beach and Peninsula as a sort of dog stop. Litter cans will be provided.

Tiburon Targets Redevelopment

After labeling Tiburon's downtown district, "a blighted area," the Tiburon City Council prepared last night to create a redevelopment agency to improve that part of town. (Other Tiburon council stories, page 8.)

The draft ordinance, given its first reading last night, designates city councilmen as directors of the agency and city staff as the new body's staff.

California law provides that redevelopment agencies may freeze the assessed value of land and improvements for all taxing districts in the designated redevelopment area. The agency then sells bonds to finance capital improvements in the area and collects the increased property taxes attributable to the increase in the area's assessed valuation. When the redevelopment bonds are paid off, the freeze on assessment for other taxing agencies in the community ends.

The draft ordinance does not specify which lands would be included in the redevelopment area. A survey of lands considered likely to be included will be made before final boundaries are drawn.

Financial consultant Vernon Perry suggested the council include every possible piece of land in the survey area, because land not in the survey area cannot be included in the redevelopment area.

Councilman Allan N. Littman disagreed, saying, "We should only put in the study those areas which we can reasonably expect to include in the redevelopment area."

Littman stressed the need for additional parking, harbor facilities and nontourist-oriented businesses downtown.

The draft ordinance could be adopted in two weeks, but the redevelopment agency would not become official until an additional 30 days had elapsed. According to City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer, it will take about two or three months for his staff to prepare a thorough report on the economics involved and the suggested areas to be included.

Toughest Code Yet On Building

The vote was 4-1, with Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro casting the negative vote, saying that the ordinance is "too strict" and shouldn't be passed until the general plan is completed.

The measure went into effect immediately and will remain in effect for one year.

It prevents permanent change of any sort on all undeveloped lots and all commercial lots, developed or not, without a use permit. Other cities have exempted smaller parcels from the regulation.

The most vociferous speaker at the public hearing was David Greenlee, executive director of Marin Builders Exchange, who attacked the proposed ordinance as "unnecessary" and warned that taxes would rise as a result of assessed valuations being frozen.

The ordinance includes several exemptions: proposed subdivisions approved by the planning commission or city council within the previous 18 months; lands for which a grading, excavating, fill or building permit has been approved, and lands considered by the planning commission prior to adoption of the ordinance.

Councilmen wanted also to exempt single parcels of 7,500 square feet or less zoned R-1 (single-family dwelling) not contiguous with other undeveloped land, but were informed by City

Reagan's Plan To Cut Taxes

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan, frustrated by years of legislative defeats, is proposing to give California voters a chance to cut their income taxes by 10 per cent, reduce property taxes and provide more money for schools.

In a move described by a Republican lawmaker as "obviously calculated" to counter the Watson property limitation initiative on next month's ballot, Reagan yesterday pledged to take his $1.1 billion package directly to the voters unless the legislature approves it by Jan. 30.

Under the proposed 10 per cent across-the-board income tax cut, a married couple with two children who grossed $15,000 a year and filed a joint return with standard deductions would pay $24 less —$220 instead of $244.

The same couple grossing $12,000 would pay $112 instead of $124 while the same couple with a $25,000 income would pay $778 instead of $864.

In a speech today to the California Real Estate Association in San Francisco, strong supporters of the Watson plan, Reagan warned the initiative would "shackle" Californians with an unbearable tax burden.

"I cannot quarrel with the frustration that has prompted you and other groups to support Prop. 14," Reagan said in a prepared text.

"But after the most careful analysis of the overall impact, we have come to the realization that it just does not do the job and it would create more problems than it would solve," he said.

Reagan told delegates to the association's convention he had been working without success for tax relief for homeowners during the past four years and outlined a property tax-school finance program he said would be submitted to the legislature next month.

Prop. 14, named for its sponsor, Los Angeles County assessor Philip Watson, would place strict limitations on property taxes.

But Reagan said approval of the measure would mean "freezing into the state constitution" a $1.8 billion increase in consumer and business taxes and still leave an unfunded state and local revenue gap of more than $1.2 billion.

Senate Democratic leader George Moscone accused Reagan of "showboating." Assembly Democratic Speaker Bob Moretti said he favors property tax cuts and more money for schools rather than an income tax reduction. Moretti said he "still expects" Reagan will join him in securing Senate approval of their jointly sponsored $1.2 billion tax shift and school finance bill. The Senate turned it down last August by four votes and Moretti said he is now "within two votes" of obtaining the 27 needed for Senate passage.

Under Reagan's latest proposal, which would be subject to voter ratification if passed by the legislature, personal income taxes would be reduced by about $200 million while the statewide sales tax would be boosted from five to six cents on the dollar, an increase of about $600 million.

Reagan said his legislation would be submitted to the Democratic-controlled legislature on Nov. 8, when lawmakers return from a three-month recess.

The governor said the sales tax hike would be spent to finance property tax relief while budget surpluses resulting from reforms of welfare and Medi-Cal would be used to finance the income tax cut on a "permanent" basis.

Loeb Denies Letters Phony

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) —Publisher William Loeb of the Manchester Union Leader says two letters-to-the-editor claiming Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, referred to French-Americans as "canucks" were "authentic."

A Washington Post story charging the White House with fabricating one of the letters to hurt Muskie's chances in the New Hampshire primary was "nonsense," Loeb said.

Loeb Tuesday also discounted a third letter to the newspaper by a man claiming he had been paid $1,000 to help plant the story about Muskie.

Inmates Take Over Jail, Hold Hostages

WASHINGTON (UPI) —With shouts of "you're going to have to kill every one of us," about 50 prisoners took over part of the District of Columbia jail today, seized the city's corrections director and threatened to kill him.

More than 200 police and guards sealed off the jail 19 blocks east of the U.S. Capitol, and brought in a dozen families of the inmates to plead for the release of Corrections Director Kenneth Hardy and nine other hostages.

Some of the family members talked from the prison yard to the fourth floor cellblock of the century-old maximum security

By PAT ANGLE

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency last night selected a Washington, D.C., firm to build 444 apartments and condominiums in Marin City.

ith minimum discussion, the agency board chose Mid-City Developers Inc. to complete development of the remaining 36 acres of residential land in the redevelopment project.

The firm won out over four other companies which had submitted proposals for all or part of the land. Losers in the competition were Subsidized Housing, Inc., of Beverly Hills; Inland Steel Corp of Chicago, Barry Slatt Mortgage Co. of San Francisco, and Larwin Corp. of Los Angeles.

The Mid-City proposal had also been the choice of the agency's project area committee (formed to advise in redevelopment matters), a real estate consultant hired by the agency and the Marin County Planning Department.

According to Wallace K. Shepherd, agency executive director, the county planning staff thought the Washington company's plan was the best from an architectural standpoint and closest to the county's master plan for Marin City.

The agency board also agreed to enter contract negotiation with Mid-City and appointed chairman George H. Gnoss Jr. and board member Collie Gaines to represent the agency.

The board will consider a final contract at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The Mid-City proposal calls for 284 studio, one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments which will rent from $180 to $275 a month and 160 sale condominiums, $32,000 to $35,000 per unit.

The firm would pay the agency $1.1 million for the land. Total cost of the development will be $10.7 million.

McGovern Outlines War-Ending Policy

CHICAGO (UPI)—George S. McGovern today rejected charges by Republican critics that his seven-point plan to end the Vietnam War was tantamount to a surrender but conceded that his peace program was "not risk free."

McGovern pointed out that if the United States withdrew all its forces from Vietnam 90 days after his inauguration, the Saigon government would be left with an army of more than a million men plus all the equipment that the United States has provided to the South Vietnamese.

Appearing on the Today Show (NBC), McGovern said "that is not exactly a surrender."

McGovern said he would not want to see South Vietnam come under a Communist government but added that, no matter how long the United States remained in Indochina, eventually it would be a decision the South Vietnamese people would have to make.

"My proposal is not risk free —no proposal is—but there is no other way to get out," McGovern added.

He said that "we have to face the uncomfortable fact that the only way we can assure" the Saigon regime the government it wants would be to remain in force in South Vietnam.

But McGovern said that would mean the prisoners of war would never be freed and the United States would have to pay $1 billion a month.

He again charged that President Nixon "has never given any assurance that he would end the war" and added he did not believe that special emissary Henry Kissinger could reach a settlement with the North Vietnamese without a prior end to the bombing.

The Democratic presidential nominee, who began campaigning before dawn today, presented his peace proposal in a 30-minute prime time television program Tuesday night.

McGovern said "our sons have asked for jobs and we have sent them to an Asian jungle; our sons have asked for an education, and we have taught them how to kill; our sons have asked for a full measure of time—and 50,000 of them have been lost before their time.

"So let us seize the chance to lift from our sons and ourselves the terror of war and bestow the blessings of peace."

In effect, the plan was a restatement of McGovern's policy toward the Indochina conflict with two new additions.

The South Dakota senator— for a long time considered a one-issue (the war) candidate— revealed he would send his vice-president, Sargent Shriver, to Hanoi to speed the release of American prisoners-of-war and would seek to salvage U.S. military material.

McGovern's seven-point peace plan:

Immediately after taking the oath of office, he would cease the bombing: terminate shipments of military supplies; begin the withdrawal, to be completed in 90 days, of American forces for Vietnam, Cambodia, and Laos, and retrieval of salvagable equipment.

Notify North Vietnam, that the United States expects the release of all prisoners-of-war, an accounting of the missing in action, and pledge to no longer interfere in the internal politics of Vietnam.

Send Shriver to Hanoi in an effort to speed the return of POWs.

After all prisoners are returned, U.S. bases in Thailand would be closed down and U.S. naval craft taken out of Indochina waters.

Once the political situation is worked out by the Vietnamese, the United States would join in repairing the wreckage of the war.

An expanded program for veterans with the guarantee of a good job or a fully-funded education.

Amnesty, with a suggestion that draft evaders volunteer for two years of public service duty.

Shortly after watching himself on television, McGovern, shepherded by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and Sen. Adlai Stevenson, spoke at a $15-a-plate fund raising dinner that grew so large it had to be spread over nine banquet rooms in two hotels.

One Teacher Walkout Is Over, Others Continuing

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Teachers in Racine, Wis., are returning to work today, ending a 17-day strike, but similar walkouts in New York and Pennsylvania still bar school doors to more than 23,000 children.

In Providence, R.I., where city authorities have disowned a mandatory busing program, police are maintaining order in three racially troubled high schools.

Members of the Racine Education Association voted 1,031 to 108 Tuesday night to return to work today on a temporary basis under a conciliation plan proposed by a judge. Some 1,500 teachers in the Wisconsin city have been on strike since Sept. 25, keeping 31,500 students out of class.

The Racine plan calls for a mediator appointed by the American Arbitration Association to meet with both sides for five consecutive days in an effort to iron out a new contract.

If no agreement is reached in the five days, the mediator will present nonbinding recommendations to the two sides. After another two days, he would release his proposals to Circuit Judge Howard Durocher, who devised the plan.

No progress toward a settlement was reported in the Pennsylvania districts of Duquesne, Clairton, South Allegheny, North Cambria, Claysburg Kimmel and Charleroi, where strikes affected close to 20,000 students, or in Conklin, N.Y., where more than 3,000 children are being kept out of school.

Teachers in North Hills, Pa., returned to classes Tuesday, ending the longest school strike in the state's history. It began Aug. 24. Classes in Cornell, Pa., closed since Sept. 1, reopen today.

Bonn, Peking Begin Diplomatic Relations

PEKING (UPI-DPA)—West Germany and China established diplomatic relations today and immediately discussed plans for strengthening links between the two countries.

West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel, who arrived in Peking Tuesday, signed the agreement with Chinese Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei in the festival hall of the National People's Congress, the Chinese parliament.

The New China News Agency (Hsinhua) published the sparse four-line communique announcing the decision.

West Germany became the 78th nation to establish relations with China since the Peoples Republic was founded in 1949 and the 29th since Taiwan was ousted from the United Nations a year ago.

The one paragraph communique made no mention of Taiwan. But West Germany does not have diplomatic relations with Taiwan, so that today's agreement raised no special problems.

West Germany's relations with the former regime in Peking were broken off 30 years ago, in the middle of World War II.

Today's resumption of relations was prepared in two and one half months of talks in Bonn between German Foreign Ministry experts and the Bonn bureau chief of the Hsinhua news agency. These negotiations reached a "successful conclusion" Sept. 25, Bonn officials said.

At a news conference in Peking, Bonn government spokesman Ruediger von Wechmar said ambassadors would be exchanged "shortly", but he could not name a date.

He said that at a two-hour meeting after the agreement establishing relations was signed, Scheel put forward several proposals for strengthening ties.

Scheel proposed immediate talks on means of improving Sino-German trade and cultural exchanges. Several working groups were to discuss these topics Thursday, while Scheel and his delegation were still in China.

Von Wechmar also said Scheel discussed the possibility of an air traffic agreement and the possible staging of a West German industrial exhibition in Peking in 1974 or 1975.

10 Witnesses Killed By Tribe

BLANTYRE., Malawi (UPI) —Tribesmen have killed at least 10 Jehovah's Witnesses and burned the homes of others in the past week, sources within the religious sect said today.

The government news agency Mana reported that one unidentified tribal chief has ordered members of the fundamentalist sect to leave their homes in his area but Mana gave no further details.

Sources within the sect said large numbers of witnesses have fled to neighboring Mozambique and Zambia to escape the killing.

The Jehovah's Witnesses were banned in Malawi in 1967, because its members refused to join the Malawi Congress party (MCP)—Malawis only political party—and refused to sing the national anthem or serve in the army.

Magee's Trial Is Postponed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The trial of Ruchell Magee on charges of murder, kidnaping and conspiracy has been postponed until Nov. 27.

Magee was one of two convicts who tried to escape from the Marin County Corthouse 2 1-2 years ago. A gunbattle during that escape attempt resulted in the deaths of two convicts, a judge and Jonathan Jackson, the brother of the late George Jackson.

Tuesday Superior Court Judge Morton Colvin agreed to delay the beginning of Magee's trial, but refused to postpone the case until Jan. 10 as requested by attorney Robert Carrow.

The trial was to have started Oct. 18.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

'Just Got Mad'

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI) — The judge who removed himself from the complex securities trial of millionaire supersalesman Glenn W. Turner gave his unofficial reason in a courthouse hallway.

"I just got mad," said Circuit Court Judge William A. Patterson.

Patterson disqualified himself yesterday and fellow Circuit Judge Robert L. Williams took over the case and pushed the trial forward. Two jurors were picked before the end of Tuesday's court session.

Judge Wounded

BELFAST (UPI) — A gunman on a motorcycle tried to assassinate a magistrate driving to work today, police said.

William Staunton, a Protestant judge of Belfast magistrate court, was hit in the neck and arm when a motorcycle drew up alongside his car and a man on the motorcycle opened fire.

Staunton's car careened out of control and struck a lamppost.

'Letter' Bombs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two "mousetrap" letter bombs mailed from Malaysia have been received since Friday by Jewish women here, but both proved to be duds, post office officials disclosed Tuesday. Neither woman was injured.

A third bomb was intercepted in Malaysia, police said.

Officials said the three Malaysia bombs were similar to those Arab terrorists in Amsterdam mailed to Israeli officials here and elsewhere last month.

Syria Not Bowing

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has tried but so far failed to obtain naval and air bases from Syria to substitute for those lost in Egypt, diplomatic sources said today.

The Russians also have renewed pressure on Damascus for conclusion of a 15-year "friendship treaty" on the lines of the now near-defunct pact with Egypt and a more recent one with Iraq, the sources said.

Syria, according to latest reports, is holding out against an accord which would make it more difficult to resist Soviet requests.

Dock Strike Ends

HONOLULU (UPI) — The first dock strike in Hawaii in 23 years was settled yesterday, ending two days of panic buying by islanders who anticipated long, drawn-out negotiations.

Announcement that the two-day strike had ended followed intensive marathon talks between the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and four Hawaii stevedoring companies.

Within an hour of contract settlement for 300 allied workers, such as maintenance, service and security personnel, pickets were removed from the Honolulu waterfront.

Lid To Be Lifted

MANILA (UPI) — Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad said today the Philippine government hopes to lift censorship shortly on international news agency dispatches.

At the same time, Tatad said there was a feeling, "and also a fear," on the government's part that some Philippine newspapers, radio and television networks closed down under martial law might not be able to resume operations.

Wife Of Longest-Held POW Files Dissolution Papers

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The wife of a Navy flier, America's longest-held prisoner of war in North Vietnam, is seeking a divorce despite alleged Navy attempts to stop her.

The wife of Lt. Everett Alvarez Jr. filed a petition for dissolution of marriage in July 1970, but the proceedings didn't come to light until this week when the pilot's sister reported it to a newspaper.

Tangee Alvarez, 32, had been married to her husband only eight months when he was shot down over the Gulf of Tonkin in August 1964. She told her attorneys she waited for his return until she felt she could wait no longer.

Her lawyer, Myron Tower, San Leandro, Calif., said the Navy tried to stop the divorce on grounds the action would badly hurt his morale and might give the North Vietnamese a lever to pry out information.

Towers also said the Navy prohibited direct communications with the prisoner and the summons was finally served through the Department of Navy in Washington.

San Jose attorney Richard J. Wylie, representing Alvarez, said he doubts the validity of such a procedure.

"Our position is that Mrs. Alvarez couldn't obtain jurisdiction over him because of lack of personal service of the summons," he said.

But Towers said the divorce should be resolved in the next three to four weeks. Grounds for the action are "irreconcilable differences."

"She's a young woman who's been waiting five or six years for a man who may never come home," Towers said.

He added, "You have to pity both of them, it is really heartbreaking."

The attorney said the petition asks only for "dissolution" of the relationship and community property was not part of the action.

Seven Perish In Fire

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — A match factory burned to the ground early today and at least seven workers who were changing into their uniforms in a dressicg room were burned to death, police said.

Plan For Empire State Building To Regain Title

The building survived a fictional attack by King Kong, and a real airplane crash into its side in 1945. Last year, it became the second tallest in the world. By the end of next year, it is threatened with becoming third tallest.

To halt the relative decline, Robert Jones, a prominent New York architect, announced Tuesday that he is investigating the possibility of increasing the Empire State's height by 11 stories, thus making it once again the tallest in the world.

"We have convinced ourselves it can be done," Jones said. The final decision, however, would be up to the owners of the building, the Empire State Building Association. An official said a decision has not yet been made.

Built in the 1930s, the Empire State is 1,250 feet high. Last year, when the World Trade Center at the southern tip of Manhattan was topped out, the Empire State became 100 feet shorter than the trade center. In Chicago, the Sears Tower is due to be completed late next year or early in 1974. It is to be 1,450 feet high.

If the additions are made to the 102-story Empire State, it would become 1,494 feet high.

Nicolaisen Plans Gain Second Nod

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night took a look at its first "environmental impact study," something now required for all developments not considered "trivial" under a recent state Supreme Court decision.

The result was recommended approval for the second time for a project north of the Marin Civic Center.

The staff, in a report discussing economic, physical and traffic impact of contractor Arthur B. Nicolaisen's proposed Northgate East, had found that "aspects . . . that are detrimental have been mitigated to a major degree . . . "

In accordance with an earlier traffic study, city staff said that the plan for a six-story office building, restaurant and other development across Highway 101 from Terra Linda would not create traffic problems.

Several residents of Terra Linda disagreed with this conclusion last night, as they have in the past. One Terra Linda woman, Jean Starkweather, called the '3,000 to 4,000 cars to be added a day, bad planning."

The study estimated that the project would generate $10,000 to $11,000 a year in property taxes as compared to a $7,000 to $8,000 if the site were used for a motel complex, as had once been proposed.

The staff also said buildings planned for the project would make good use of the already heavily graded property.

The matter was sent back to the city council for review on Oct. 30.

The commission was also advised last night that it and the city staff can term certain matters "trivial" so that environmental impact studies will not be needed.

The studies are now required as a result of a Supreme Court decision in a case where conservationists successfully blocked a proposed development in Mono County on the grounds such a study was necessary.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said the city is advertising for a senior planner to handle such plans as well as work on the city's general plan and redevelopment. The job will pay a salary range of $13,092 to $15,864.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

REDEVELOPMENT — After brief discussion postponed further consideration of the city's redevelopment plan to a public hearing Oct. 24 scheduled by the city council.

LIGHTS — Agreed to write a letter to Sears asking if bright lights bothering neighbors could be turned down.

PREZONING — Recommended approval by the city council of zoning and planning guidelines for the Terra Linda Community Services District territory comparable to those now existing.

EASEMENT — Approved a transmission line easement in East San Rafael for a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. transmission line on towers to the Greenbrae substation.

APARTMENTS — Turned down requests by a 3-3 vote for multiple-residential developments at 127 Ross Street and 320 Bayview Street because of the size of the lots. The commission, however, approved a use permit for multiple units at 122 Ross Street on a 26,000-square-foot site.

ABSENT — Chairman Joseph J. Barbarino was absent because of illness.

Works Displayed At Novato Library

Paintings, photographs, jewelry and other forms of art are on display this month at the Novato branch library on Novato Boulevard west of Seventh Street.

Julia Lee and Josephine Oberding of Novato are displaying their work. The North Bay artists have several displays of macrame, jewelry, ceramic work, wood carving and sculpture. Donald Kellogg of Mill Valley has a display of photographs.

Quarry Site Rezoning Agreement Delayed

The Corte Madera Planning Commission failed to reach agreement last night on rezoning the so-called Quarry Site for various residential uses —a matter which has been the subject of official town scrutiny since February.

After four inconclusive motions aimed at sending the Meadowsweet Drive project to the city council, the commission decided to try again at its next meeting Nov. 13.

A majro roadblock was the absence of Commissioner James W. McClintock, leaving the panel with only four members. Chairman C. William Thomas expressed hope McClintock, who is ill, would return at the next session.

Before the commission was an application to rezone the 23.69-acre property, owned by American Savings and Loan Association, from high density multiple dwelling to multiple and single-family residential, both low and medium density.

The recommendation was based on a study of the property by Sedway and Cooke of San Francisco, town planning consultants, brought into the picture after the commission earlier this year proposed that the entire acreage be designated for medium density single-family use.

Amid cries of hardship by an American Savings representative, pleas by residents for tight controls and the commission's own indecision, the rezoning discussion sputtered on for more than an hour.

Members of the audience and at least one commissioner, William Collier, held out the possibility the city council might wish to acquire the land as open space.

Basing his proposal on the Sedway and Cooke report, Commissioner David I. Freed first moved that a 5.85-acre bowl on the site be rezoned to low density multiple residential, with remapping of the remainder of the site to be held for study in view of its hilly characteristics.

When it became apparent that wouldn't pass, motions were made to obtain legal opinions from the town attorney on a proper course of action; to rezone the land to medium density single family, and to accept a variety of uses as outlined by Sedway and Cooke. Only one, to rezone to medium density single family, came to a vote, and the commission deadlocked 2-2, Collier and Thomas approving of the move.

Attorney Julius Selinger, representing American Savings, didn't like Freed's plan for further study of certain parts of the property, calling it an "evasion of responsibility." And, he noted, the whole issue seemed to be making too many laps "around the old Mulberry bush."

The Corte Madera Planning Commission Also:

MADERA DEL PRESIDIO — Pending a possible new environmental report arising from last month's state Supreme Court decision, approved several design standards for the first unit of the Madera del Presidio development above Koch Luggage. The development is the subject of a court battle initiated by town residents.

HIDDEN VALLEY — Because the matter didn't come up until late in the meeting, continued until Nov. 13 consideration of a tentative map for unit 6 of the Hidden Valley development off South Way.

POLES — Was told that the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. had temporarily withdrawn its application for installation of power transmission poles on the city's east side, pending an environmental impact study. Speakers were concerned over the impact of the poles' route on the Heerdt marsh, sought for preservation by some.

TAMAL VISTA — Although the development site is within county limits, reviewed tentative plans by Ronald Glander of Madera Properties for construction of 78 townhouse units at 66 Tamal Vista Drive. Freed and Collier hoped for a reduction to 74 units once final plans are submitted.

KOCH — Continued until Nov. 13 action on plans to erect a free-standing sign at the Koch Luggage plant. The necessity of a free-standing device was raised, as were objections over debris which has remained outside the plant for a long period. Collier said sign approval should be contingent on a quick clean-up.

GALLERY — Approved two signs for the Framer's Gallery at 5609A Paradise Drive, sought by Marlene Feldman.

COLONIAL — Denied an application for a free-standing sign at Colonial Liquors, 212 Tamalpais Drive, but enabling store owners to reapply with revised design.

TAMAL PLAZA — Continued to Nov. 13 consideration of a tentative map submitted by Frost and Meglio for the Tamal Plaza development on Tamal Vista Drive.

Prop. 17 Defeat Urged By Group

The Marin chapter of Local 535 of the Social Worker's Union, with half its delegates voting, has urged defeat of Proposition 17, the measure on the November ballot to restore the death penalty.

The local, a unit of the Service Employees International Union, has eight delegates representing its membership, which includes 65 county social workers and probation officers. Only four delegates voted Friday at the monthly meeting.

Herve Alphand, French foreign affairs secretary general, summoned U.S. Ambassador Arthur K. Watson to tell him of "the strong emotion felt by the government upon learning of the bombardment of last night," ministry officials said.

President Georges Pompidou, informed of the incident which seriously wounded France's representative general, Susini, called the destruction "a deplorable act," a government spokesman said.

In spite of the protest the French government did not expressly pin the incident on U.S. aviation.

"We are waiting for more information," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said. "Communication ines with our Hanoi people, as you can imagine, are interrupted."

Vietnam Communists said raiding U.S. warplanes were responsible for the legation's destruction.

Despite the bitter Hanoi and Viet Cong statements Kissinger, President Nixon's personal envoy, conferred with the North Vietnamese today for the fourth consecutive day-the longest the secret talks have been held. With him were Le Duc Tho, member of the ruling North Vietnamese Politburo, and Xuan Thuy, chief of Hanoi's delegation to the Paris peace talks.

Hanoi and French news reports said the legation was destroyed by U.S. bombs. The U.S. militar command in Saigon said the U.S. planes struck "north of the area in which the French delegation building is located" and said North Vietnamese SAM missiles "could have impacted on the ground after missing the aircraft."

The North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris negotiations said the sudden swoop of 20 U.S. warplanes over Hanoi at noon was "an extremely grave act of escalation. We vigorously condemn the Nixon administration for these attacks against Hanoi which do not even spare the diplomatic quarter."

The Viet Cong in a similar communique issued to the press said the destruction of the French legation was "a deliberate act. The Americans cannot pretend it is an error because they know the city."

But, in the absence of any White House statement to the contrary, the negotiations were believed by observers to have continued their increased pace with U.S. elections less than four weeks way.

And a spokesman for the North Vietnamese peace delegation said its members would take their places as usual around the conference table for the 614th session of the deadlocked Paris peace talks Thursday.

French government officials privately said that although the bombing incident was tragic France was not likely to demand that the negotiations move to another country.

The Foreign Ministry said the French ambassador to China had been sent to Hanoi.

The bombing raid came a scant 24 hours after Kissinger reported to the French government Tuesday on the progress on his peace negotiations. Kissinger met with French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann who immediately reported to Pompidou.

The Vietnamese News Agency (VNA) said "Susini suffered third degree burns on his body. A bomb splinter hit his left temple and cut an artery there. In spite of devoted care given him by Vietnamese doctors, he is in serious condition."

can funds, Reagan said Tuesday afternoon that if the legislature turns him down as it has done for years, he will personally lead a campaign to qualify it for the ballot as an initiative and call a special statewide election next year.

A spokesman for Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. estimated the cost of such an election at between $4 million and $6 million.

"If the legislature agrees to put this on the ballot, fine," Reagan said. "If not, we'll put it on the ballot anyway.

Reagan did not fix a price tag on the proposal, but administration and legislative sources estimated it at around $1.1 billion.

The governor sketched these general details:

Reduce local property taxes by at least doubling the current homeowner's tax exemption from $750 to $1,500.

Boost state aid tg low wealth schools by $200 million in funds from federal revenue sharing and earmark about $250 million of the sales tax increase to roll back school property taxes. In his speech, he proposed a system of flat grants of at least $955 per student in high school and $765 per elementary student.

To assure that the property tax relief would be permanent, school city and county tax rates would be frozen at approximately their current level with increases permitted only with voter approval.

Require that state taxes be increased only by a two-thirds vote of the legislature. The lawmaker now can approve most new taxes with a majority vote.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael, the Assembly's Republican tax expert who participated in the plan's drafting, said it was "obviously calculated" to counter Prop. 14 on the Nov. 7 ballot, the tax limitation initiative sponsored by Los Angeles County Assessor Philip Watson. Bagley said the proposal contains room for compromise.

"To have credibility with the public in expressing opposition to the Watson initiative, you have to guarantee that they'll have another shot at voting on property tax relief within a short period of time," Bagley said.

The Reagan plan also would increase the banks and corporations tax by one per cent to 8.5 per cent for corporations and 12.6 per cent for banks, raising about $100 million. This would finance a reduction in the business inventory tax paid by farmers and merchants.

Officials estimate that welfare and Medi-Cal savings will produce about $250 million on a continuing year-to-year basis. That surplus now is estimated at about $250 million.

Moscone, like Moretti, a potential candidate for governor in 1974, criticized Reagan for not proposing to close "loopholes" for the rich. He said Reagan should know that tax programs "are not thrown on the legislature to be voted on as is."

Sears Warning On Belt Massagers

CHICAGO (AP) — Sears, Roebuck and Co. says 11,000 belt massagers it sold between December 1969 and Oct. 4 present a potential danger of serious electrical shock to their owners.

The company issued a warning Tuesday, asking all owners of massagers with model No. 449.29110 to bring the units to the nearest Sears outlet for repair.

HOUSING

In addition, Mid-City proposed the most comprehensive plan to involve community residents in the project. It plans to provide opportunities in employment, investment and training for residents.

The developer has promised:

1. To hire residents at almost every stage of construction and maintenance of the new development.

2. To encourage community participation in planning, construction and maintenance through the Project Area Committee.

3. To pursue construction of nearby shopping and recreation areas to enhance livability of Marin City.

4. To assist residents in establishing minority businesses.

The firm has said it will refinance the 56-unit Oak Knoll Apartments in Marin City and give them without charge to a community group, yet to be formed, which would then own and operate them. Oak Knoll is currently in default on mortgage payments and has been taken over by the Federal Housing Administration.

Mid-City would also develop — on an interim basis — the Tamalpais High School District's now vacant 30-acre property in the redevelopment project as a recreational area until the district decides what it wants to do with the land, which it purchased from the agency for $60,000.

The only person to speak against granting Mid-City the development franchise was Terance O'Mahoney, senior vice president of Barry Slatt, one of those submitting proposals not chosen.

Pointing to the problems the agency had had in the past by naming the California Development Co. as its sole developer, O'Mahoney questioned whether the agency should pursue the same path as it had in the past.

O'Mahoney also said his company had submitted plans for only nine acres of the project because "we were told one developer wasn't going to get everything and that we should decide on one part and do waht we could with it."

Once the final contract is approved with Mid-City, their development plans will be submitted to the county planning commission and board of supervisors for approval.

If all goes well, Charles B. Davis, vice president of Mid-City, said the firm should be ready to begin construction in June of next year and complete it by January 1975.

worried" about its control over its lands, but "in order to get a bill we're spelling it (control) out."

The President is expected to sign the bill if it reaches him since he already has endorsed it. The latest version of the bill includes the Olema Valley, which was not included in an earlier Nixon administration version.

The bill pending on the floor would set aside 34,000 acres for the recreation area, providing a virtually continuous greenbelt from the San Mateo County line to Point Reyes National Seashore.

The bill includes 2,685 acres of forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite in Marin and Mason, Funston and Miley and parts of the Presidio in San Francisco. Of this acreage, the Army said it immediately would declare 1,588 acres excess when the bill is passed. Transfer of the remaining acreage would be left to the Army's discretion.

The bill would authorize $118 million to acquire and develop the recreation area.

facility; but there were shouts of "you're going to have to kill every one of us" and "we don't care, we're going to die anyway."

Police armed with shotguns, teargas launchers and rifles with telescopic sights surrounded the building as such black leaders as Rep. Walter Fauntroy, District of Columbia delegate to Congress, and Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., went to the jail's command post to help with negotiations.

Seven of the hostages were said to be guards.

The disturbance began around 1 a.m. EDT. When Hardy and William Claiborne, a Washington Post reporter, entered the cellblock Hardy was seized and told "you're a prisoner."

Claiborne was allowed in and out of the cellblock to tell police —as well as other reporters — about what was going on inside. He said the only inmate demand was "unconditional freedom."

The Rev. Carlton Veazey, chairman of the D.C. City Council's Public Safety Committee, quoted the prisoners as saying the freedom demand was not negotiable.

"The strange thing is that there has been no other demand except 'we want out,'" Veazey said. "They aren't talking about food, living conditions, or anything else except being released."

Atty. John G. Buresh that the ordinance could not be amended the same time as the public hearing. The amendment will be considered at their next meeting.

The proposed ordinance was scheduled to be adopted Sept. 26, but councilmen decided to forego what would have been a four-month urgency measure and instead held a public hearing so that the period would extend to a year.

State law allows a maximum of two years for a ban on development without permit.

OBITUARIES

Richard Johnstone, 78, Dies; Funeral Set

Richard Johnstone of Larkspur, retired Naval Reserve commander and long-time amateur radio enthusiast, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. He was 78.

Johnstone, who lived at 67 Heather Way, also served for 12 years as a special deputy in the Marin County Sheriff's Department and was at one time district manager for the Radio Corporation of America in San Francisco.

Born in San Francisco and a Marin resident since 1946, Johnstone volunteered for duty in World War I and served for four years during the Second World War at the huge naval ammunition depot in Hawthorne, Nev.

There, he served as housing chief, officer-in-charge of the air field, senior depot duty officer and as police chief at a low-cost housing development at the depot. Before retiring in 1956, Johnstone, who also served for 12 years in Nevada as a deputy sheriff, taught communications classes to young naval radio enthusiasts.

Swift at the wireless during the early days of the telegraph, Johnstone went on to become chief operator at station KPH in San Francisco during radio's early days.

Johnstone, whose call letters as an amateur radio operator were K6FZ, was first president of the Society of Wireless Pioneers, president emeritus and honorary life member of the Quarter Century Wireless Association and belonged to the American Radio Relay League, the Society of Amateur Radio Operators and the Radio Old Timers Club.

He also was a 33rd degree Mason and 50-year member of Paul Revere Lodge 462, Free and Accepted Masons, San Francisco; past commander of West of Twin Peaks Post 233 of the American Legion.

Surviving is his wife, Phoebe.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, conducted by Paul Revere Masonic Lodge. Memorial contributions are preferred to the American Cancer Society or Guide Dogs for the Blind, San Rafael.

MISS KAPLAN

Memorial service for Ellen Irene Kaplan, Novato High School student, will be at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato.

She died Monday at her home at 14 Pierce Drive, Novato, after a long illness. She was 16.

Miss Kaplan was a livelong Novato resident.

She is survived by her parents, Max R. and Rose Kaplan, and by a sister, Janet Linda Kaplan.

Burial will be at 9 a.m. Friday at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society would be preferred by the family.

FRANK TARANTINO

San Rafael restaurant owner Frank L. Tarantino, 38, died yesterday at Marin General Hospital after collapsing at his Galley Restaurant on Third Street.

Death was apparently due to a heart attack, according to Coroner's Deputy Bill J. Thomas.

Born and reared in San Francisco, Tarantino had lived in Marin for the past 11 years. The family home is at 245 Riviera Drive in the Peacock Gap section of San Rafael.

Tarantino had been in the restaurant business for many years. He first owned Bingo's in San Francisco and then the T's in Terra Linda and the Three T's in San Francisco.

At the time of his death, he owned the Galley and Smack's in San Francisco and had just opened a new restaurant, Moose, Meals and Meats on Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Tarantino had been a member of the Northgate Merchants Committee and had sponsored Little League teams.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian V. Tarantino; a daughter, Deborah Tarantino, and a son, Gary Tarantino, both of the family home; his mother, Mrs. Minnie Tarantino of San Francisco; two brothers, Peter Tarantino of Mill Valley and Robert Tarantino of Novato, and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Lara of Terra Linda.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Friday at St. Sylvester's Church in Peacock Gap. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

MRS. SHERRY

Mass of the Resurrection for Theresa L. Sherry of Ross will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

Rosary will be tonight at 8 o'clock at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mrs. Sherry, 48, died Monday at a local hospital after suffering a seizure the night before at her home at 47 Bridge Road. She had long been ill.

Mrs. Sherry, a native of San Francisco, was the wife of Fred J. Sherry, a court reporter with Endicott, Sherry and Biggs of Oakland.

She also is survived by a daughter, Regina, of the family home; four sons, Robert of Pittsburgh, Pa., Vincent, Paul and Stephen of the family home; three sisters, Barbara Anderson of Santa Rosa, Nancy Burke of San Diego and Lucille Spellman of San Francisco, and a brother, John Horstmann of San Francisco.

ALAN SANT

Alan R. Sant, 18, of Petaluma, who suffered head injuries in a three-car accident Monday in Petaluma, died yesterday at Hillcrest Hospital.

Sant was a native of Los Angeles and lived in Oregon before moving to Petaluma in 1969. He made his home with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Finley, 1716 Orinda Court.

He was a student at San Antonio Continuation High School, Petaluma.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley L. Sant of Beaverton, Ore., and a brother, Wesley L. Sant Jr. of San Francisco.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Friday at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

F. CIMINO

Requiem Mass for Frank Cimino of San Francisco, brother of Sebastian J. (Jack) Cimino of Fairfax, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Ignatius Church in San Francisco.

Cimino, 65, died Monday at hishome after a long illness.

He was a native of San Francisco.

Cimino and another brother, Joseph, were in the real estate business together in San Francisco.

He also is survived by hiswife, Rosemarie; two sons, David Cimino of San Francisco and Rev. Joseph A. Cimino, a Jesuit who is studying at Loyola University; a daughter, Carol Clecak of Petaluma; another brother, Santo Cimino, and a grandchild.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Carew and English Mortuary in San Francisco. Entombment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

PAUL GOODIN

Paul William Goodin, a retired Navy man, died yesterday at a Santa Rosa hospital after a short illness.

Goodin, a native of Oklahoma, had lived in Petaluma 14 years and made his home at 218 Petaluma Boulevard South.

He is survived by three brothers, Jack Goodin of Fort Smith, Ark., Leroy Goodin of Los Angeles and Tommy Goodin, and two sisters, Frances Laslow of La Mesa and Elsie Krusoupp of Fort Smith.

Funeral and burial will be in Fort Smith.

SOPHIE TALLI

Sophie Marie Talli, mother of Paul W. Sasse, Harriet Nelson and Florence Nichols of San Rafael, died in a local hospital yesterday after a long illness. She was 81. Mrs. Talli, formerly Sasse, had lived in Santa Rosa for 25 years, and previously had been a San Rafael resident. A native of New York, she had lived in California for 65 years.

She was a member of the Goat Rock Club of Petaluma, Senior Citizens Grandmothers Club of Santa Rosa, Druids of Santa Rosa, Veterans of Foreign Wars Wr Mother Memory Auxiliary 1844 of Santa Rosa, Veterans of WW I Auxiliary 258 of Santa Rosa, DAV Chapter 48 of Santa Rosa, and American War Mothers Chapter 34 of Santa Rosa. She had been president of several of these organizations.

She is also survived by another son, John H. Sasse of Redondo Beach, and by six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren

Funeral will be tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. at the Daniels Chapel of the Roses, 1225 Sonoma Avenue, Santa Rosa, and Father Timothy O'Sullivan of St. Rose Catholic Church will officiate. Rosary will be recited tonight at 8 p.m. at the Daniels Chapel.

Burial will be at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Mount Tamalpais Cemetery Chapel, San Rafael.

DEATH NOTICES

JOHNSTONE — In Larkspur, Oct. 10, 1972. Commander Richard Johnstone, United States Navy, Retired, beloved husband of Phoebe B. Johnstone. A native of San Francisco, California, aged 78 years. A 50-year member of Paul Revere Lodge No. 462, F& AM of San Francisco; a member and past commander of West of Twin Peaks Post No. 233, American Legion, of San Francisco; honorary member and past president of the Society of Wireless Pioneers; a member of the Quarter Century Wireless Association; the American Radio Relay League; the Society of Amateur Radio Operators; the Radio Old Timers Club; retired commander, U.S. Naval Reserve, World War I and II. Open Space Issue For April Ballot

The San Anselmo City Council last night agreed to place an open space bond issue on the ballot for the April 10, 1973, municipal election, but held off specifying a money figure until more data is collected. (Another San Anselmo council story, page 1.)

The proposal was made by Vice Mayor Lewis W. Stewart who was named chairman of a committee to organize and publicize the bond issue.

Councilmen were unanimous on the need for acquisition of open space parcels, but refrained from adopting any formal measure until the city's Citizens Open Space Committee tallies up undeveloped land in the city and recommends priorities. They will then decide on the amount of the bond issue.

Several councilmen expressed regret that San Anselmo wasn't the first city to vote on an open space bond issue, but Stewart said he was promised assistance from San Rafael and Tiburon residents who were active in their successful campaigns.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

NONCONFORMING USES — Tabled for a week discussion of proposed guidelines for the licensing of nonconforming uses of multiple-family residences.

ICE CREAM SHOP — Granted an appeal from Schafer's Ice Cream and Candy Shop, 702 San Anselmo Avenue, for a variance allowing a projecting illuminated sign which was denied by the planning commission. The appeal was granted only until June 1973, when its competitor, Baskin Robbins at 604 Red Hill Avenue, will have to remove its free-standing sign to conform with the city's upgraded sign ordinance.

FENCE VARIANCE — Granted an appeal from Dr. Kenneth Appel for a variance to allow an eight-foot-high fence in front of his home at 1001 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard which was denied by the planning commission. City Atty. John G. Buresh said the matter was not under the jurisdiction of the commission at all, but that variances for front yards are at the sole discretion of the police chief who had already indicated approval.

COUNTYWIDE PLAN — Scheduled a meeting with the city's planning commission for a public hearing on the countywide general plan, the City-County Planning Committee transportation report, and a government structure study Nov. 1 at 8 p.m. at the council chambers.

POLICE CONSOLIDATION — Expressed to the board of supervisors disapproval of a study of countywide consolidation of police departments, specifying that if any study be made, that consolidation of fire services be given top priority.

DESIGN REVIEW — Accepted the resignation of James G. McDonald from the design review committee and appointed Douglas Anawalt, San Anselmo architect, to replace him.

TAX EQUITY — Appointed Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson to the tax equity committee of the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

RETIREMENT — Adopted on second reading an amendment to the city's contract with the Public Employees' Retirement System.

PUBLICITY — Appropriated $3,000 for advertising and publicity and designated the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce to administer the funds.

GARBAGE SERVICE — Adopted on first reading an amendment to the municipal code relating to procedure for collection of delinquent garbage service payments.

Aid Program For Drinking Police

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Police Department says officers with drinking problems will be offered a chance for rehabilitation, but if that doesn't work they will be fired.

The new policy was drawn up after officer Arthur Lord, 45, won a year's disability pay by claiming that his job drove him to drink. Lord died recently of still undetermined causes.

Under the new policy announced Tuesday, commanding officers will be responsible for detecting drinking problems and must promptly refer the officers to the department's alcoholic rehabilitation program.

If attempts at rehabilitation fail, termination of employment "on a consistent and equitable basis" will be "in the best interests of the department," the new policy says.

UNREST IN CHILE

Banging empty pots and shouting antigovernment slogans, Chilean women marched through downtown Santiago late yesterday in a protest against the regime of Socialist President Salvador Allende. Tens of thousands of Chileans converged on a speakers' platform where opposition representatives attacked the government for soaring inflation, shortage of consumer items and a climate of violence. Plaques For War Dead Endorsed

Marin County supervisors yesterday endorsed a proposal from county veterans to place a series of plaques along the civic center's Avenue of Flags commemorating Marin's war dead.

The proposal was an outgrowth of a request from Gregory Fearon, a Vietnam veteran, that a plaque honoring Korean and Vietnam war dead be placed on the doughboy statue which stands near the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Roy Partridge, chairman of the Marin County United Veterans Council, told the board his organization supported a series of separate plaques — one for each war — since the doughboy statue is limited on space.

In placing the plaques along the avenue, he said, space could be provided for honoring casualties of future wars.

Fearon, a College of Marin student, said he supported the idea of separate plaques but questioned a comment from the veterans' organization that the Vietnam plaque be placed at the war's conclusion.

Urging the plaque be placed now, Fearon said he doubted there would ever be a formal end to the war.

At the suggestion of Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the matter was referred to the department of public works to design the plaques.

Hilltop Housing Project Delayed By Supervisors

Marin County supervisors delayed action yesterday on a controversial hilltop housing project near Tiburon pending a state required environmental impact report. (For the impact report requirement on other Tiburon development, see story, page 8.)

The board's action, in compliance with a recent state Supreme Court ruling requiring the report, stalls the project for at least another two weeks.

The 128-unit development, called the Highlands, has sparked opposition from nearby residents living in the Reedlands and Bel Aire subdivisions just below the 32-acre site.

They had argued before the county planning commission, which approved the development, that it would add to already bad sewage, traffic and drainage conditions. The Tiburon City Council also opposes the project sponsored by Security Capital Corp. of Walnut Creek.

The matter was continued to Oct. 24 as the board once again delved into the problems created by the high court's ruling that all developments having a substantial impact on the environment must undergo an environmental study.

Staff members from the county counsel's office, planning department, administrator's office and public works department spent more than an hour yesterday otlining procedures they are establishing for handling the studies.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told the board a checklist of guidelines has been drafted with which to measure whether a development has significant environmental impact and thus requires a study.

He said probably all but minor projects such as construction of a single family home or home addition will require a report. A list will be prepared of those that don't.

The procedure tentatively being considered, he continued, would require a public hearing on the environmental impact report in conjunction with development plans.

Maloney, who met with other county counsels on Friday, said plans are in the works to appeal to the Supreme Court for a six-month grace period before its ruling takes effect to allow counties to "tool up" administrative procedures for handling the reports.

He said, however, he doubted the court would grant the appeal.

The court decision, interpreting the 1970 Environmental Quality Act as requiring such reports for private as well as public projects, again brought blasts from Supervisors Louis H. Baar and Robert A. Roumiguiere, both real estate agents.

Baar, a frequent critic of the high court, said its ruling had infringed on the rights of the legislature, while Roumiguiere charged it threatened the jobs of thousands of construction workers.

Supervisors Arnold M. Baptiste and Michael Wornum took more moderate views, saying the ruling could be lived with. Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. was absent due to ill health.

New Council Is Formed To Aid Marin Alcoholics' Rehabilitation

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday appointed 17 persons to the newly formed Marin County Alcoholism Advisory Council to oversee planning of rehabilitation programs.

The council, composed of former alcoholics, professionals, business and labor representatives and members of the community at large, is required under the state's Hughes Act which provides funding for treatment programs.

Named to the council were Donald Purdy, Gay Albanese and Emilie Wilson of San Rafaal, Lea Anderson of Larkspur, Willard Anderson of Belvedere, Mollie Eschen of Ross, Karen Ewing of Kentfield, Edward F. Buchanan of Novato and Frank Fogerty of Greenbrae.

Also, attorney Gary T. Ragghianti of Corte Madera, Dr. J. Lyman Hurlbut of Larkspur, Dr. George C. Wilson Jr. of Mill Valley, Rev. John Cunningham of Mill Valley, Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith, Police Chief Allen Klemme of Novato and James Heidinger, vice principal of Middle Creek School in Terra Linda.

The council members, who will serve indefinite terms, were recommended by the county's mental health advisory board and the community planning group for alcohol and drug abuse programs.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed Alfred Hansen to the county's board of appeals representing the Marin County Labor Council and Judith Martin to the mental health advisory board representing the Marin Nurses' Association.

CONTRACT — Approved increasing the county's payment to Sonoma County for housing of jail inmates. The daily rate was increased 10 cents to $9.67 per inmate.

DRAINAGE — Authorized $2,300 for three temporary storm drainage lines for roadway drainage along South San Pedro Road, currently being reconstructed.

TREATMENT — Approved a $32,904 contract with Rafael Convalescent Hospital for short-term treatment of alcoholics. The agreement holds six beds for the county's use.

LIBRARY — Endorsed SB 1261, a senate bill to provide funding to library systems throughout the state. It would provide about $15,000 to Marin to offset costs of belonging to the North Bay Cooperative Library System which offers consultant and technical services.

CABLE TV — Deferred action on a request from the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association that the county arbitrate a rate dispute between the homeowners and the Tele-Vue Cable Television Company. The firm wants 60 cents per month per home to provide signal; the homeowners are willing to pay 15 cents per month. Both sides agreed to continue negotiations.

TRANSIT — Took no action on a request from Leslie Grant of San Rafael for endorsement of his proposal that the Golden Gate Bridge District provide free bus fare for the blind. The matter was referred to staff for further study.

AMBULANCE — Granted a three-month extension on its contract with United Ambulance pending a report on the possibility of contracting emergency ambulance service from both ambulance companies in Marin. United's contract was due to expire at the end of the month. The board also changed the contract to allow the county's medical director to set qualifications for ambulance drivers and attendants.

FUND DRIVE — Authorized the Bay Area Combined Health Agencies Drive, a group of 12 national health agencies, to solicit payroll deductions from county employees much the same as the United Bay Area Crusade.

GRIEVANCE — Agreed to split the $1,000 cost of an arbitrator with the deputy sheriff's association over a grievance lodged aainst the county by a deputy sheriff. Deputy Dennis Shine claims he worked about three years as an nspector but was paid as a deputy — a difference of about $8,000 over three years. The sheriff's office maintains he was being trained.

SUBSIDY — Delayed action on a request from the Delancey Street Foundation drug abuse center of San Francisco that the county provide welfare payments to Marin offenders placed at the center by the courts.

WATSON — Took no position on the controversial Watson tax shift initiative slated as Proposition 14 on the November ballot. Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste opposed the measure while Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere supported it. Supervisors Michael Wornum and Louis H. Baar took no stand.

Big Telescope In Balloon Flight

The infrared telescope with a 40-inch mirror was contained in a 3,700-pound package of instruments designed to provide scientific data for the study of infrared radiation from the stars, possibly of stars in the process of being formed.

The balloon was expected to gain an altitude of 94,000 feet and travel southwesterly for approximately 60 miles. Scientists hope to retrieve the balloon, telescope and its related equipment near Waco, Tex., tonight.

Trade Pact Seen With Russians

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Peter G. Peterson believes there is a "fair chance" for the United States to negotiate a trade agreement with the Soviet Union before the end of the year.

Peterson told about 200 officials of the National Newspaper Association and their wives Tuesday that the administration was making "good progress" this week in negotiations with Soviet officials on maritime problems, lend lease repayments, trade and credit arrangements.

The cabinet officer said four separate groups of Russians are meeting in Washington with American counterparts and that more Soviets will arrive soon.

Council Sparks Over Hiring Of Consultant

A proposal to hire a planning consultant to revise the town general plan produced the traditional split vote and sparked brief fireworks between Fairfax town fathers last night.

The council voted 3-2 on a motion directing staff to meet with zoning consultant Thomas E. Cordill, Marin County zoning administrator from 1966 to 1970, to discuss his employment as an interim planning consultant for the updating of the general plan.

Nelder said hiring Cordill would be a "squandering of public money," claiming the consultant lacked proper expertise for formulating complicated general plan revisions.

The Fairfax Town Council also:

COAST — Voted 3-1, with Nelder opposed, to support the coastline initiative (Proposition 20) on the November ballot. Nelder said he opposed the measure because of its "fuzzy wording," and Souza abstained from the vote for similar reasons. The measure would establish a coastal commission charged with developing a coastline master plan.

YIELD — Authorized placement of yield signs on Porteous Avenue and Creek Road.

TECHNICAL REPORT — Said a technical report detailing the 1968 general plan was supplemental, and not an amendment, to the plan. Souza and Nelder voted against the ruling, saying the report was drawn up after the plan had been adopted.

MORATORIUM — Took no action on a request by the citizen's committee to review the general plan for a moratorium on all land use changes.

VEHICLES — Approved specifications for a new police car and a dump truck, and directed staff to purchase the budgeted vehicles.

FRIEDMAN SUIT — Instructed City Atty. Wallace S. Myers to issue a "general denial" of a suit by Marin Town and Country Club owner Max Friedman, who claims an April 11 initiative action rezoning his land is illegal.

DEBRIS — Announced the Fairfax Garbage Diposal Co. wouldonduct a free debris pick-up on Nov. 3.

VACANCIES — Announced applications would be accepted for two vacancies on the parks and recreation commission and one vacancy on the design review board.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. today in the Fairfax Women's Club for a public hearing on new police and fire facilities.

In Spring Cleaning Scrub Fireplace

NEW YORK (UPI) — At spring cleaning time give fireplace brick and hearth a good scrubbing with thick suds applied with a stiff brush. Rinse and let dry. Take the screen and fireplace tools outside for a thorough cleaning. Use a scrub brush and plenty of lather for them. Rinse with a hose or dip tools in a pail of water.

And then, just to let everyone know you're celebrating spring, place an arrangement of spring flowers on the hearth in front of the fireplace, replacing the log grate.

Ruling May Peril Tennis Club Plans

The Fairfax Town Council last night learned that a recent state Supreme Court ruling requiring environmental impact reports for major developments may provide a way to scuttle the controversial Canon Village and Tennis Club project.

The council ruled an environmental impact report must be submitted prior to any further action on the 128-unit project, planned for 88 acres along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard beyond Oak Manor Drive.

(The Supreme Court, in a ruling handed down Sept. 21, declared such reports must be submitted for all development having a "nontrivial impact" on the ecology.)

Priscilla C. Gray of 126 Ridge Road has appealed planning commission approval of the project's tentative subdivision map,saying no environmental impact report has been submitted. The council scheduled 8 p.m. Dec. 11 to hear the appeal.

Town Attorney Wallace S. Myers told the council the ruling is retroactive to the Environmental Quality Act of 1970, upon which the court decision is based. Myers also called for preparation of guidelines to determine what development has significant impact on the environment.

The tentative map for Canon Village was approved by default after the planning commission failed to act within a 30-day deadline set by town ordinance.

It was unclear what effect delay of appeal of the decision on the tentative map will have on the planning commission's Oct. 26 hearing, scheduled to consider the project's precise development plan.

4:03 p.m., San Anselmo — Smoke check at 104 San Francisco Boulevard, found to be illegal burning.

5:45 p.m., Petaluma — Cutting torch set fire to cushions in pickup truck at Stack's Wrecking Yard, 850 Lakeville Highway. No damage.

TODAY

4:30 a.m., San Rafael — Fire set in newspaper rack outside 117 Tamal Vista Drive; extinguished by resident Lawrence G. Hansen before firemen arrived.

Final Work On Germany Pact

BONN (UPI)—West German State Secretary Egon Bahr and his East German counterpart, Michael Kohl, began today what could be the final phase of their negotiations over a treaty that would put relations between the two Germanys on a firm and formal basis.

Such a treaty would be the crowning achievement of West German Chancellor Willy Brandt's efforts to reconcile the estranged blocs of a Europe divided by World War II.

With only 39 days until national elections, it would also give Brandt and his Social Democrat-Liberal coalition government a big campaign boost.

Tiburon Follows Others On Environmental Impact

Following in the footsteps of other bewildered cities across the state, the Tiburon City Council last night imposed a temporary ban on the issuance of building permits until it establishes criteria for determining which construction projects will have a "nontrivial" impact on the environment.

The moratorium on new construction comes in the wake of a recent state Supreme Court ruling which requires that environmental impact studies be filed for all developments which are likely to have a significant effect on the environment. (For the ruling's effect on the Highlands development near Tiburon, see supervisors story, page 6.)

The council's ban on building permits, planning approvals and zoning approvals includes a set of exemptions, similar to those adopted Thursday by the San Rafael City Council, for small-scale construction jobs.

1. General area rezoning.
2. Construction of single-family houses.
3. Alterations to the interior of buildings.
4. Garages, swimming pools and other accessory structures.
5. Accessory buildings to major developments where one half of the proposed buildings have already been issued building permits.
6. Demolishing buildings.
7. Installing signs.
8. Maintaining and repairing existing buildings and public improvements.

The council imposed the ban on building permits shortly after it delayed action on three pending development applications.

The owners of two separate apartment complexes — Harbor Hill on Harbor Oak Drive and Marinero on Lyford Drive — appeared before the council to ask permission to convert their 102 rental units to condominiums.

After hearing from several tenants who opposed the conversion plan and the owners who requested approval of their plans, the council continued the matter for two weeks.

During that time, the city staff will prepare interim guidelines that the council can use to determine which projects in Tiburon clearly have only a trivial impact on the environment.

It was suggested that the proposed conversion of existing apartments to condominiums presents almost no impact on the environment. Others in the audience responded that a change to condominiums would force out many people who couldn't afford to buy them or pay higher rents. After hearing from the city attorney that the proposed conversions would have to be considered subdivisions, the council decided to steer clear of the legal jungle.

Then, in an attempt to be consistent, the council also postponed its approval of the final subdivision map for Mount Tiburon No. 4, for two weeks.

Though it was pointed out that the subdivision map had less building sites than originally planned, the council was not prepared to consider such a reduction in density a "trivial" impact on the environment.

Once-A-Year Salary Review For Tiburon

The Tiburon City Council last night decided it will review the salaries of city employees only once a year, rather than twice.

After establishing the annual review, the council turned down a request from City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer, on behalf of the city's employees, that the council take a look at salaries next January before embarking on its new policy the following July.

He said employees would go 18 months without salary readjustments if the council skips their scheduled review in January.

Since adjustments made in July will probably be made retroactive to January, said Balmer, it would be better for the employees if they were granted the raises at the beginning of the year.

A motion by Mayor Albert H. Sennet to follow Balmer's suggestion and evaluate salaries in January failed for lack of a majority. Councilman Allan N. Littman then moved that the annual review begin in July. Littman's motion passed.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

OPEN SPACE — Canvassed results of the recent bond election and accepted the figures presented by Balmer. After labellin the victory "a remarkable and unique accomplishment" that might be "the highwater mark of Tiburon's history", Sennett thanked many of the residents who worked on behalf of the bond issue.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Heard the executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, Gerald J. Hood, ask for two people to be appointed by the council to represent Tiburon on a countywide human rights committee. After receiving the commission's annual report from Hood, the council agreed to send him names of two appointees.

PROPERTY TAXES — Instructed Balmer to acquire an adequate supply of state applications for the recently passed property tax exemptions for senior citizens at the suggestion of former councilman Anne L. Ellinwood.

COASTLINE — Debated the merits of Proposition 20, the coastline initiative, with one of its supporters, Peter Myers of the Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for the Environment, but continued the matter to Oct. 24. Littman argued that the initiative was sloppily drafted and would give a regional commission veto power over virtually any development in Tiburon.

RETAINING WALL — Awarded a contract for $11,512 to the Stanton Biggs Construction Co. to build an open face crib wall, about 60 feet long, to support a collapsing portion of Mar West Street.

SLURRY — Awarded a contract for $8,156 to the Bay Slurry Seal Co. to slurry seal several roads in Tiburon which badly need resurfacing.

UNCLAIMED PROPERTY — Adopted a resolution which allows the city to auction unclaimed property worth less than $250, rather than having to advertise in a newspaper for the property's owner.

College Board Candidate Quits

William M. E. Harriman, one of 12 candidates for two seats on the Marin Community College District board in the Nov. 7 election, has renounced his intention to run.

Harriman, of 264 Glen Drive, Sausalito, said he is withdrawing from the race "due to pressure of business" at College of San Mateo, where he is an English teacher.

Announcing his withdrawal, Harriman said he believes there are many other candidates for the two vacant seats, some of whom are well qualified.

Originally, 13 persons filed candidacy papers for the college board, but Keith E. Dwyer of Penngrove withdrew before sample ballots were prepared.

Arts Program Set In Petaluma

A program combining dance, music, poetry and painting will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Cinnabar theater, 3333 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma.

Dancer Katherine Merrill will present an original dance program and will be accompanied by Virginia Cross, classical flutist; James Paulsen, rock drummer; and Manuel Colon, Latin congo drummer.

The program also will include paintings by Nancy Leventon and poetry by Robert Magowan.

Apartment Of Envoy Ransacked

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two armed men broke into the East Side apartment of Jordan's ambassador to the United Nations, Abdul Hamed Sharif, Tuesday night, ransacked the premises and fled after slashing a guard on both arms and threatening Sharif's two young children and their governess police said.

The ambassador and his wife were in Washington when the incident occured.

Co-Author Of Look Article Takes The Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Richard Carlson, co-author of the Look Magazine article linking San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto with the Mafia, admitted that Alioto did not "vouch" for loans to alleged Mafia gunman Jimmy (The Weasel) Fratianno.

Carlson's testimony hit the eight-hour mark Tuesday in Alioto's $12.5 million libel suit against now-defunct Look.

Under questioning from Atito's attorney, James F. Baccardo, Carlson said that a police intelligence report said Alioto did not "vouch" for Fratianno loans made by the First San Francisco Bank, where Alioto was board chairman although the article said Alioto did.

Carlson said the first draft of the Look article did not say Alioto guaranteed the loans and Baccardo didn't press Carlson about the change.

After an outburst from Baccardo that he wasn't "interested in the ramblings of your imagination" when Carlson did not elaborate on an answer," Judge Russell E. Smith recessed until Tuesday.

Swedish Plane Crash Kills One American

RONNEBY, Sweden (UPI)—Seven Swedes and one American died late Tuesday when a light plane crashed and burned near this southern town, police said today.

They said Robert D. Wylie of San Antonio died when the plane flying from Vaesteraas to Ronneby crashed in a wooded area north of Kallinge Airport.

Hill Road Residents Lose Plea

Despite protests of residents along Hill Road, the Novato City Council last night authorized purchasing the Richard Connell property at 1523 South Novato Boulevard for $45,000 to extend the road.

Betty Machado of 1424 Dawes Street, speaking for 16 residents on Hill, presented a petition with their signatures protesting the purchase.

But the city council stood firm.

The Novato City Council also:

CHAMBER — Agreed to give the Novato Chamber of Commerce 25 per cent of the city's business license revenue, up to a maximum of $10,000. In the past the chamber has received $8,000 per year from the city.

OVERPASS — Authorized the city manager to request an overpass at Gnoss Field over the freeway, from the state Division of Highways.

INSURANCE — Received a report from Warren McVeigh and Associates of San Francisco that the city should study and consolidate its insurance programs and advertise them for bid. The council ordered the staff to prepare the insurance specifications and have them ready so that bids can be called before Nov. 23 when the present insurance expires.

ANNEXATIONS — Introduced an ordinance to annex 26 acres on Laguna Vista Drive and H Lane; passed an ordinance annexing 92 acres between Olive and Railroad avenues; the Pacheco Ranch of 570 acres west of Highway 101 south of Hamilton Air Force Base and the Atherton Avenue interchange of the freeway bypass. It ordered staff to work with the Gentry Development Corp. which has an option to buy 450 acres of the lower Bowman Canyon formerly owned by Jay Garlick. The staff is to help plan the proposed development so it can annex to the city.

ZONING — Introduced an ordinance freeing the council of necessity to consider precise development plans that already have been approved by the planning commission and plan review committee, except when appealed.

REVENUE SHARING — Authorized the staff to write Sens. Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney to see if there was some mistake in calculating the city's share of revenue sharing. City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said he had understood that it would amount to about $10 per resident but had proved to be $5 per person.

More Environmental Impact Rulings Due

The Novato City Council last night grasped the thorny problem of how to comply with the recent state Supreme Court order that significant projects require environmental impact reports.

The council agreed on some items as lacking environmental significance, but found it necessary to adjourn to 9 p.m. today at the Novato community house to pursue the matter further. It will also take up a list of projects now being processed by the city staff which may or may not need environmental impact studies.

Items the council agreed would not need studies are permits for new uses in existing structures; for new plumbing, mechanical or electrical work; for accessory structures such as swimming pools, carports and garages; bringing a structure up to building and health codes; for tree removal; for grading for single-family home or swimming pool; for construction of a single-family home or certain duplexes, or for any other project which the planning director finds compatible with that list.

A partial list of projects now before the city which may need studies include the Los Robles mobile home park expansion, Pacheco Ranch planned development, Nave Center service station, Imperial mobile home sale lot, Fidelity Subsidiary Corp. grading west of Highway 101 and south of Novato Creek, Marin Valley mobile home park, Goodyear store at the Northeast corner of Vallejo Avenue and Highway 101, and Stan's for Sports office and warehouse west of Highway 101 south of Novato Creek.

The council will consider which of these need environmental studies at tonight's meeting and will also take up agenda items not reached last night.

The later than usual meeting time was scheduled because City Councilman Fred F. Ruegg could not be present earlier.

Wallace Will Not Take Sides

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace announced Tuesday that he will not take sides in the presidential election.

Wallace, whose own bid for the 1972 Democratic nomination was slowed by a would-be assassin's bullet, said he never had tried to tell the people how to vote and would not attempt to sway them now.

Wallace did not venture a guess as to how most Alabamians will vote. However, it is well known that many who steered his 1968 and 1972 presidential campaigns are actively working for President Nixon's re-election.

Pear off for party desserts

For the grownups: drizzle pear halves with creme de menthe, top with sweetened whipped cream and a sprinkle of chopped pecans. For the kids: top pears with vanilla ice cream and cover with chocolate sauce. Either way they're delicious!

You'll like using Cock O' the Walk pears. They have top national brand quality, yet they cost you pennies less. And, along with their light price, they've got a new light syrup you'll enjoy, too.

Our taste by any other name is more expensive.

New Petaluma Committee Will Screen Building Pleas

A 17-member development allotment committee that will recommend who builds what in Petaluma next year was appointed last night by the Petaluma City Council.

The committee will sift through applications by developers for thousands of living units and recommend to the city council which should be built under the city's limit of 500 per year.

Members were selected to represent the council, planning commission, school boards, business community and citizens-at-large. The council had agreed to select persons from all areas of the city.

Members and their affiliations include council representatives John W. Cavanagh Jr. and Richard W. Clecak; planning commissioners Mervin S. Waters and Lester Popp; businessmen Vincent Di Gregory (east), George Geiger (west) and Mario Figone (central); Robert S. Stimson, Petaluma Board of Education; Carleton Reinaldo, Old Adobe School District board; Himmie Barlas, Cinnabar School Board; Irene Chambers, St. Vincent's School board.

Citizens-at-large appointed are (east) Lee Lofton and James Harberson; (west) Dona Cook and Frederick Zurth, and (central) Margaret Soberanes and Chris Henricksen.

The committee is expected to meet next month to select builders and projects. Final approval will rest with the city council for alloting building permits.

The Petaluma City Council also:

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDY — Rejected on 4-2 vote the recommendation of City Atty. Edouard E. Robert that rezoning applications and building projects be halted until guidelines are established on the state supreme Court Ruling requiring environmental impact studies. Mayor Helen Putnam and Councilman Fred V. Mattei supported Robert, but others believed cities and counties have overreacted to the ruling. Richard W. Clecak was absent. The council directed the building inspection department to continue issuing building permits as usual, although Robert warned lawsuits could result.

APPEAL — Scheduled Oct. 24 7:30 p.m. to hear an appeal by Ernest Curtis for commercial zoning at 817, 821, 825 and 829 East Washington Street. Robert recommended the matter be tabled.

DEMOLITION — Approved plans to demolish a substandard city-owned house at 303 Post Street at a cost of $1,300.

PLAN LINES — Introduced an ordinance setting plan lines to widen East Washington Street and scheduled a hearing for Oct. 24.

MEETING — Changed the next regular meeting from Oct. 16 to Oct. 14 since most council members will attend the League of California Cities conference in Anaheim that week.

Prison Drug Smuggling Guilty Plea

A 29-year-old former San Quentin guard pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to felony counts of smuggling drugs into the prison and having illegal drugs there.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner told Samuel Thomas Jr. to return Nov. 20 for sentencing under the terms of a plea bargain.

Thomas, who lives in Richmond, admitted the counts on condition he spend no more than six months in jail and be placed on probation.

On Dec. 1, 1971, three months after being hired, Thomas was arrested as he arrived for work. Benzedrine and tranquilizers were found during a search.

Prison authorities said they received a tip he was carrying contraband.

Demo Fete To Be In Mill Valley

A fund-raising "October Fest" will be held by Marin Democrats at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 21 at the Mill Valley recreation center.

Polka rhythms by a German band, serving-girls in Bavarian costume, tankards of beer and hot dogs and sauerkraut will be provided.

Sponsors are the Marin County Democratic Central Committee and the county campaign committees for Roger Boas, nominee in the Sixth Congressional District, and for presidential hopeful Sen. George S. McGovern.

San Franciscan Hurt In Crash

A 16-year-old San Francisco boy was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for minor head injuries suffered when a car in which he was a passenger crashed into a bridge railing on Highway 101.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Earl Becker was riding in a car driven by Greg Paul Piper, 19, of San Jose, when the car skidded in heavy rain and struck the bridge railing near Third Street in San Rafael.

Piper and another passenger received minor scrapes and bruises.

GOP's Javits: 'Must Tell All We Know In Bugging'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said today Republican leaders should "fully and frankly and directly" tell all they know about alleged GOP spying on the Democrats.

At the same time, Javits accepted President Nixon's denials that he had any knowledge of the attempt to bug Democratic national headquarters at Washington's Watergate complex.

"I simply must take the President at his word," Javits said at a news conference, but added:

"I do believe that our party ought to fully and frankly and directly say anything it knows about it."

Javits said he would discuss the matter with fellow liberal Republicans.

Reacting to reports that Republicans had secretly tried to disrupt the campaigns of Democratic presidential aspirants since mid-1971, Democrats were stepping up demands for an inquiry into Nixon's reelection campaign.

Frank Mankiewicz, political director for Sen. George McGovern who eventually outlasted 11 candidates for the Democratic nomination, Tuesday night listed 10 separate acts of alleged sabotage that he said "must have come from the Republicans.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said an alleged GOP subterfuge against his campaign two weeks before the New Hampshire primary was, if true, "not a prank. This is a violation of law." He said Nixon should respond directly to the charges.

And House Banking chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., renewed attempts to subpoena officials of Nixon's campaign committee to answer questions about the alleged political espionage.

Tuesday's actions followed a report in the Washington Post that Republicans since mid-1971 had been following Democratic candidates and taking actions to sabotage their campaigns. The Post listed as sources FBI and Justice Department files and four lawyers who were invited, but refused to take part in the alleged subterfuge.

One of the lawyers, Tennessee Assistant Attorney General Alex B. Shipley, said in Nashville Tuesday that the Post had correctly quoted him.

Board Asks For Return Of Funds

The San Rafael Board of Education, alarmed that the city's redevelopment plans may shut off some tax revenue, last night decided to ask the San Rafael Redevelopment Agency to return any district tax revenue frozen under redevelopment.

"The city may face a suit if this isn't done," according to Supt. John F. Plank, who said redevelopment would mean a "$91,000 loss to the district the first year."

Under redevelopment, tax revenues in a project area are frozen, with future increases in assessed valuation used by the redevelopment agency for self financing.

Plank said a newly enacted state law enables release of some school tax funds frozen in some redevelopment projects.

Plank said the board was "seriously disappointed" that the redevelopment agency had not accepted a district offer for a joint meeting on the matter. Instead, the agency told the board to air complaints at the Oct. 26 public hearing on redevelopment.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

COMMITTEE — Appointed 31 parents and citizens to the citizens advisory committee for 1972-73.

EVALUATION — Postponed to Oct. 24 discussion of how to gauge the good and bad points of the teaching staff.

EARTH SCIENCE — Approved use of "Investigating the Earth," an earth science text, for use this school year.

HIRING — Hired the following personnel: Daphne Ahlenius, instructional aide, $2.72 per hour; Cynthia Anderson, instructional aide, $2.72 per hour; Sib Cogswell, bus driver, $3.40 per hour; Beethoven Freeman, instructional aide, $2.72 per hour; Sally Gries, bus driver, $3.40 per hour; Christopher Griffin, custodian, $3.40 per hour; Edward Harris, custodian, $7,056 annually; Ross Helton, custodian, $3.40 per hour; Jeffrey Henington, bus driver, $3.40 per hour; Scottie Hughs, instructional aide, $1,975 annually; Richard Krieb, instructional aide, $2.72 per hour; Ronald Landsman, bus driver, $3.40 per hour; Geertruida Lechowski, instructional aide, $2,084 annually; Donald Moore, custodian, $3.40 per hour; Joann Power, instructional aide, $2,175 annually; Rebecca Preble, instructional aide, $1,975 annually; Emma Solari, instructional aide, $1,975 annually; Marina Taubert, instructional aide, $1,975 annually; Connie Trondsen, instructional aide, $2.72 per hour; John Vaughn, custodian, $3.40 per hour and Robert Whiteley, instructional aide, $1,997 annually.

ADULT EDUCATION — Approved appointment of Ann Case, Thomas Geraghty, William O'Bayley, Don Fearis, Robert Richards and John Pipgrass as adult education instructors at $8.45 per hour.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from Margie Belrose, Salvatore Dieli, and Marcia Smithe, fired custodian Willard Reed, and granted leave of absence to bus driver LuDean Varner.

GIFTS — Accepted 15 guitars for Santa Venetia Middle School from the school P-TA.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Oct. 24.

Reading Skill Problems Prompts Call For Study

The Petaluma Board of Education last night called for intensive study to find out how programs can be strengthened to help students with reading problems.

David Robbins, director of instructional services, said results of a testing program on 2,280 students showed that 631 were one or more years behind the average grade level in reading skills.

He recommended that a plan be prepared to help these students, but told the board the figures should not be regarded as alarming. Robbins said the tests also showed 516 students were reading one or more years above the state average and that the bulk of students were progressing as they should.

Members of the Association of Petaluma Area Teachers last year pointed to reading problems in the district and have agreed to join administrators in a complete study of the problem.

Robbins said the committee would review how facilities and aides might be used to help students and that elementary schools will be studied to pinpoint which traditionally send the weakest students to junior high schools.

Robbins told the board that the high mobility factor of students may also play a large role in lowering reading ability. He said the average turnover in elementary schools has reached 35 per cent.

In other business, the board hired and set salaries for four teachers including Alvin Baldwin, $6,397; Candace Ford, $6,-642; Heidee Lenzi, $3,355 part time, and Metha Schuler, $3,178 part time.

Data Equipment To Be Sent To Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The export of $2 million in data processing equipment to the Soviet Union has been approved by the Commerce Department.

Stinson Beach Goes To Battle Against Phoners

By PAT ANGLE

Residents of the tiny hamlet of Stinson Beach went o battle yesterday against the giant Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in an attempt to obtain better service for their area.

The first skirmish was fought in the tinson Beach Community Center where a hearing officer for the California Public Utilities Commission listened to complaints about the company's West Marin operation.

Seven residents — who testified before hearing officer Parke L. Boneysteele — told of a variety of problems, from phones that don't work to bills clogged with calls never made.

About 20 persons attended yesterday's hearing session, while another 130 from both Stinson Beach and Bolinas sent signatures on petitions detailing grievances and calling for improvements in service.

The residents, led by Robert B. Dieter, a television repair shop owner, are asking that the phone company set up an unmanned office in their community to house equipment now located in three trailers. The telephone subscribers say the trailers are not adequately protected from the area's damp, salt air and that, consequently, the equipment corrodes faster than it can be repaired.

They also want the utility to provide them a contemporary automatic billing system to replace the current system under which an operator breaks in on any long distance calls to ask the phone number of the caller.

Residents say this has created a most annoying problem because it makes it easy for anyone to charge such calls to someone else.

Until the automatic system is installed, they believe the company should assist subscribers to determine which long distance calls are theirs by listing on thier bills —along with the numbers called — the owners of those phones called.

The testimony began with Joan Reutinger who said that, in her three years in Stinson Beach, she has had more trouble with her telephone than in the previous 30 years as a subscriber. She said her phone was frequently completely dead and that it was often impossible to reach the operator or dial out of town when the phone was alive.

Others told similar stories of frequent service disruptions.

Gordon Purser said, "We're frequently cut off for the whole day without knowing it. Conditions are really intolerable."

(During the noon recess an Independent-Journal reporter tried to call Bolinas. After three unsuccessful attempts, during which a loud wailing came from the phone after the number was dialed, it was finally necessary to ask the operator for assistance.)

Col George H. White, chief of the community's volunteer fire department, complained that persons calling the fire department or its ambulance in emergencies often have trouble reaching them.

"The phone will give one quick ring and I will pick it up and there's no one on the line," he said.

White went on to say the company's "primitive, out-of-date equipment" would not accommodate more than 10 fire phones in the community, with the result that when a fire alarm sounds, phones in the homes of only 10 volunteer firefighters will ring automatically.

Because the volunteers are often out, White said the situation is potentially dangerous and the department really needs more phones. "Someday the fire phones will ring and no one will be home in those 10 houses, he said. "If it's a serious fire, we might have loss of life or property damage."

He said company officials ahve told him the present system will not support more fire phones.

White, a former district supervisor for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, concluded: "I've had telephone experience all over the world and this is the worst service I've encountered.

Almost everyone who testified complained bitterly of unauthorized calls on their bills, due, they said, to the lack of automatic billing. They were ired because the company expects them to do the often impossible task of sorting through the calls to determine which are theirs and which are not.

Mrs. Walden Raymond submitted as evidence a bill for the month of August. During the entire billing period the family had been on vacation and no call was made from the phone, she testified. Yet the bill showed 15 long distance calls charged to her unlisted number, including calls to Southern California.

Barbara Zimmerman, wife of a Point Reyes veterinarian, told of the great difficulty in determining legitimate calls on office bills which may run up to 19 pages.

Dieter charged that residents in the 868 exchanges are treated inequitably because their free dialing area is limited to four exchanges and a few thousand phones. Residents in Belvedere, who pay similar monthly charges, have free access to 98 exchanges and tens of thousands of phones, he said, and suggested the company determine its free dialing areas by the number of phones, rather than the geographic rea.

Dieter accused the company of having "a tunnel vision economic policy," saying it would, in the long run, cost the company less to construct a building to house equipment because the cost of heavy maintenance would be diminished. "A new phone system would be just as good for the company as for us," he said.

Dieter also called Warren Eaker, deputy zoning administrator for the county planning department, who testified that the company has already applied to the county to build a small shed to house the trailers.

Dieter contended such a shed would be inadequate to solve the many problems. "I can't believe that, in the face of all these complaints, the company is planning to do just a beautification project that simply makes the place look better."

Hugh Dougherty, a Stinson Beach attorney, said the company and been insensitive to the wishes of the community by doing nothing to lessen the proliferation of overhead lines in the downtown area and along the Bolinas Lagoon. He said that the lagoon lines and poles could easily be combined with those of Radio Corporation of America lines and poles which also run beside the lagoon.

Telephone company officials were to present their case at today's hearing. When testimony is completed, Boneysteele will prepare findings and recommendations which will then be presented to the utilities commission for final judgement.

New System Sought For Hitchhiking

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A newly formed California hitchhiking lobby wants the legislature to adopt the "Polish model," where riders are checked for criminal records and drivers receive coupons for giving hitchhikers a lift.

At a news conference Tuesday conducted at a busy freeway ramp, lobby leaders said the proposal would include a statewide youth hostel system to provide inexpensive overnight accommodations —a system which is very popular in Europe.

The young lobbyists said hitchhiking should be recognized as a legitimate mode of travel that is as safe as other kinds of human activity.

They also called for defeat of a Senate-passed measure by Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, that would ban hitchhiking at many freeway ramps.

Richard Vega of San Diego said the "ingenious" Polish system could be adapted easily for California if approved by the 1973 legislature.

He explained that hitchhikers would pay a few dollars to enter the voluntary program. If the applicant wasn't a criminal or a former mental patient, he or she would be issued a coupon booklet.

The coupons, indicating the rider was "safe," would be given to drivers on the basis of how many miles they drove the hitchhiker. If a driver was lucky, he then would win a contest prize if his coupon number was a winner.

Vega said surplus money would be used to finance the hostel system and also provide insurance on the hitchhikers.

"There's a little something in the plan for everybody," said Vega, who drove to the news conference from San Diego, but said he made a point to pickup hitchhikers along the way.

Housewife Dies In Butcher Knife Mishap

BURLESON, Tex. (UPI)—A housewife was fatally stabbed Monday when she slipped and fell on two butcher knives jutting from her frontloading dishwasher.

Peace Justice W.H. Gregory of nearby Joshua pronounced Mrs. Sally Ann Ivey, 25, dead from wounds in her side and ordered an autopsy.

Union Helping Its Alcoholics

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Teamsters Union's Bay Area Council announced Sunday it has started a program to rehabilitate alcoholics among its 50,000 members

Union spokesman Jack Goldberger said the union is concerned about the members' health, their job performance and their drivers' license.

Art O'Flanagan, a union member who heads the program, says those seeking help will be sent to privately operated rehabilitation centers.

Citizen Panel Probes Year-Round Schools

Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees last night expressed interest in year-round schooling and asked a newly appointed citizens committee to further explore the idea.

Supt. Lester M. Horning said the board met with Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, aides from his office and Lee C. Richardson Jr., member of the Marin County Board of Education, to discuss what help the county office could give in studying the 12-month plan.

"Our area is interested in this idea because we're at the limit of our space in the schools," Horning said. The year-round plan would mean that only three-fourths of the district's pupils would be in class at any one time; one-fourth would be on vacation.

The new advisory committee on finances and organization was asked to study the proposal, Horning said. The committee, plus another advisory committee on curriculum, were approved by the trustees last night. Each will have six to eight members, Horning said.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District Board also:

HIRING — Approved hiring Betsy Brock, Silvia Greenbaum, Lynn Batchelder, Victoria Kleven, Tim Blaskovich and Jo Bradley as classroom aides at $3 per hour, and Judith Anderson as half-time office clerk.

STULL ACT — Discussed but reached no decision on guidelines for teacher evaluation, required by the state. A special meeting to act on the guidelines will be called later, Horning said.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Oct. 24 to meet with the new citizens committees to discuss its work.

Arson Held Possible Death Try

A newspaper rack stuffed with gasoline soaked rags and live shotgun shells was set afire on the front steps of Lawrence Groves Hansen's home on 117 Tamal Vista Drive, San Rafael, at 4 a.m. today.

Police said today they are treating the arson case as a possible murder attempt, although Hansen told them he knew of no one with any motive to harm him.

Hansen summoned police after being wakened by "popping sounds" from the front of his home, and extinguished the blaze with a water hose by the time they arrived.

Police said the rack was stuffed with rags, shredded copies of newspapers and live shotgun shells. It had been set afire on a concrete stair landing.

More gasoline-soaked papers had been ignited beneath Hansen's car in the garage.

Nothing was destroyed by the fire, police said, but there was smoke damage to the garage door and to the bumper and trunk lid of the car.

Hansen, who is in the wholesale lumber business, told police that although he knew of no motive for the arson, four months ago a can of flammable liquid was thrown into his front yard and ignited by a road flare.

The Guilt Of Corona Questioned

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI)— The defense attorney in the Juan Corona mass murder trial charged today that a prosecutor in the case has admitted having "reasonable doubt" about the defendant's guilt.

Richard Hawk apparently was seeking to make a motion for dismissal of the 25-count murder indictment against Corona when he was cut off by Judge Richard Patton.

Moments after the trial convened, Hawk stood up and said: "In view of Mr. (Bart) Williams' statement of yesterday that he has reasonable doubt.

"Please don't proceed with such a remark in front of this panel," the angered juge said, interrupting the defense attorney.

At that point, Williams, the assistant prosecutor, said: "Your honor, I move that he be cited for contempt."

The judge then ordered both attorneys into chambers.

When the trial resumed 10 minutes later, Patton instructed the 10-man, two-woman jury to disregard Hawk's remark and ordered the statement stricken from the record.

Leaning over the rail, Hawk angrily told newsmen: "If this thing (the trial) goes on today, it's no holds barred, starting from the first crack out of the box."

The angry exchange came as the trial resumed after a private three-hour meeting among Sutter County officials Tuesday night at which they apparently decided to proceed with the case against Corona.

Sources close to the prosecution said no move would be made to dismiss the 25-count murder indictment against the Yuba City, Calif., farm labor contractor whose trial is in its 22nd day.

Player Injured

Robert Staley, 14, of 430 Stuart Drive, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with a back injury suffered in football practice at 3:30 p.m. yesterday at Kenilworth Junior High School.

Slice a banana in half lengthwise. Place three scoops of vanilla ice cream between the halves, top with Cock O' the Walk fruit cocktail—and presto—you've got a many-fruited banana split the kids will love. You'll like using Cock O' the Walk fruit cocktail. It has top national brand quality, yet costs you pennies less. And, along with the light price, it's got a new light syrup you'll enjoy, too.

Mystery Play To Be Presented

"A Case for Two Detectives," a children's mystery play with a Halloween mood, will be presented at 2 p.m. Saturday by the Novato Library Players at the Novato branch library on Novato Boulevard West of Seventh Street.

The players are a group of Novato children aged 8 to 14 who started acting last summer at the library. The play is directed by Linda Sitzer, children's librarian.

New Soviet, Iran Pact Reported Near

MOSCOW (UPI)—President Nikolai V. Podgorny said Tuesday that the Soviet Union and Iran will sign a 15-year pact on economic and technical cooperation plus a five-year cultural exchange agreement.

The Shah of Iran, Mohammed Reza Palevi, and Empress Farah Diba were beginning a 12-day official visit when Podgorny made the announcement.

Walk For Development To Attract Aout 2,000

Two thousand walkers are expected to take part in a 20-mile Walk for Development Oct. 18 beginning at 8 a.m. at College of Marin, according to the walk organizer.

The American Freedom from Hunger Foundation, sponsor of the event, hopes to raise $20,000 for distribution among four non-profit organizations: Operation Give a Damn, which helps troubled youth in Marin City; the House at San Quentin, which provides shelter for persons visiting prisoners; Project Heifer, which donates small livestock to people in the Philippines who suffered in last August's floods; and the International Voluntary Services, a school program in Laos.

Each organization will get 21.25 per cent of the proceeds, the foundation will get the remaining 15 per cent.

The Marin walk, which will wind through Greenbrae, San Rafael, San Anselmo and Ross before returning to the college gymnasium, is one of 10 such events on tap for that day around the Bay Area. The foundation hopes to realize $200,000 from the combined walks, in which 25,000 persons are expected to participate.

Each participant is to obtain sponsors who will contribute a fixed amount — anything from a penny upward — for each mile walked.

Leslie Lind, coordinator for the Marin walk, estimates that 2,000 persons, as many as took part the last time in 1970, will hike.

"It'll be very easy and very casual," says Miss Lind. "We set the route in the most scenic area, and everyone can set their own pace."

Other Bay Area communities scheduling walks are San Francisco, Santa Clara County, East and West Contra Costa County and Alameda.

Oakland and Berkeley will hold a joint walk, as will Vallejo and Benicia, and the mid and north peninsula areas.

Mag Wheels And Tires Are Stolen

Two magnesium wheels and two tires were taken off a car owned by Arvid Schaubert, of 87 West Shore Road in Belvedere, while it was parked in front of his house, police reported yesterday.

The tires and wheels, reportedly worth about $320, were stolen sometime between 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday.

A SWEET AND sour pork roast served with gingered pineapple slices and sweet potatoes was the winning entry in the national pineapple cooking contest. It makes an excellent company meal.

AWARD WINNER

A Sweet, Sour Company Entree

This is a recipe that won $25,000 for an Oregon homemaker in the First National Pineapple Cooking Classic held in Honolulu.

A sweet and sour pork roast with gingered pineapple, developed by Mrs. Virginia F. Harrison of Clatskanie, Ore., walked away with top honors in the main dish category and then went on to be selected the best of contest entry.

SWEET & SOUR PORK ROAST

- 1 (5 pound) rolled pork roast
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 2 cups canned pineapple juice
- 1 (8¼ oz.) can crushed pineapple, undrained
- ½ cup cider vinegar
- ¼ cup dark brown sugar
- ¼ cup soy sauce
- ½ cup sliced celery
- 6 sweet potatoes
- s gingered pineapple slices
- ¼ cup cornstarch

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Coat meat with flour. Brown meat on all sides in heated oil. Place meat in roasting pan. Combine pineapple juice, crushed pineapple, vinegar, brown sugar, soy sauce and celery. Spoon over browned pork roast. Cover and roast about three hours (until meat thermometer registers 185 degrees), basting frequently with pineapple mixture.

Meanwhile, pare sweet potatoes. Cook potatoes in lightly salted boiling water just until tender. Drain; keep warm. Prepare the Gingered Pineapple Slices.

When meat is done, remove and place on heated platter; keep warm. Mix cornstarch with a little water to make a thin paste. Stir into pan liquid, (fat removed), and cook, stirring, until gravy has thickened. Pour over roast. Garnish platter with sweet potatoes and spiced pineapple slices. Serves six to eight.

GINGERED PINEAPPLE SLICES

- 1 (1 lbs. 13 oz.) can pineapple slices
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons white wine vinegar
- ¼ cup dry white wine
- 1 large piece crystallized ginger

Drain pineapple, saving syrup. Mix drained syrup, sugar, vinegar, wine in saucepan. Cut ginger into three pieces lengthwise and add to syrup. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer for five minutes. Add pineapple slices and continue to simmer for five minutes longer, basting frequently.

How The Smart Shopper Can Save

A smart shopper will follow grocery ads and freeze for the future pork cuts that are featured as specials. Fresh pork cuts can be kept in the freezer for three to six months when wrapped for freezing and stored at 0°F. or lower.

To maintain the high quality and fine flavor of ground pork, remove it for use within one to three months. Thaw pork in the refrigerator in its freezer wrap or during cooking.

Oriental Harmony In This Cubed Ham Dish

When cubes of cooked ham are combined with green beans and water chestnuts in a soy-flavored sauce and given a crunchy crumb topping, Oriental harmony is achieved in a casserole. It is a dish that will be enjoyed by both family and guests.

If you do not have extra meat from a baked ham, buy a ham slice to cut into cubes, advises Reba Staggs, home economist with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

ORIENTAL HAM CASSEROLE

- 2 cups cubed cooked smoked ham
- 1 tablespoon lard or drippings
- 1 package (9 ounces) frozen frenched green beans, cooked
- 1 can (4 to 6 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and thinly sliced
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 tablespoon flour
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup dairy sour cream
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- ⅓ cup cracker crumbs
- 4 teaspoons melted butter.

Brown ham cubes in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add green beans and water chestnuts. Melt one tablespoon butter or margarine in a small saucepan. Stir in flour. Add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Combine sauce, sour cream add soy sauce and add to ham mixture. Cook just until heated through. Pour mixture into a greased one and one-half quart casserole.

Combine crumbs and four teaspoons butter or margarine. Sprinkle crumb mixture over ham mixture. Place casserole under broiler two to three minutes. Makes four to six servings.

Real Winner For A Pre-Game Meal

For a pre-game warm-up winner, serve the gang something to give them energy to cheer. Wrap half slices of bacon around cocktail frankfurters or small smoked sausage links with halves of water chestnuts. Fasten with small wooden picks.

Prepare an ample number of these meaty tidbits and store in refrigerator to satisfy the crowd. When ready to serve, place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 20 minutes or until bacon is crisp. Serve hot.

Repeat as required to satisfy stimulated appetites.

Oldest Mother

The oldest recorded mother of whom there is certain evidence is Mrs. Ruth Kistler, who gave birth to a daughter, Suzan, in Glendale on Oct. 18, 1956, when her age was 57 years, 129 days, according to the Guiness Book of World Records.

A SUPER DESSERT

Walnuts Add The Winning Touch

This luncheon dessert takes the prize for any party and the champagne walnut squares are as luscious as they look.

No baking is involved in this recipe so you can make this decorative dessert ahead of time and refrigerate it till ready for serving. While it is rather rich, the flavor is bright and refreshing — a happy ending to a party meal.

You'll notice that the recipe calls for toasting the walnuts and this step will insure crisp texture.

To Toast the walnuts, drop the kernels into rapidly boiling water; boil three minutes; drain well. Then spread the walnut kernels evenly in a shallow pan and bake at 350 degrees, stirring often, for 15 to 20 minutes or until the kernels are golden brown.

You can speed preparation time by using the already-shelled walnuts available in markets.

FOR DESSERT or snacking during a bridge party, champagne walnut squares are easy to serve and elegant. They are not baked, but refrigerated instead, until serving time. Gingerale may be substituted for the champagne.

CHAMPAGNE WALNUT SQUARES

- 1 3-ounce package cherry-flavored gelatin
- 1½ cups water
- 1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
- ½ cup finely chopped walnuts
- ⅓ cup melted butter, divided
- 2 envelopes (2 tablespoons) unflavored gelatin
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup cold water
- 1 6-ounce can frozen limeade concentrate
- 1 cup champagne or ginger ale
- 1 cup whipping cream
- ½ cup halved seedless green grapes
- ½ cup chopped, toasted walnuts

Prepare cherry gelatin using only one and one-half cups water; chill in an eight inch square pan until firm. Cut about two-thirds of firm gelatin into one-half inch cubes. Cut remainder into fancy shapes to decorate top of finished dessert.

Combine wafer crumbs, one-half cup finely chopped walnuts and melted butter; reserve two tablespoons. Press remainder onto bottom of well greased nine-inch square pan. Add unflavored gelatin and sugar to one-half cup cold water in sauce-pan and stir over low heat until dissolved. Stir in frozen limeade and champagne.

Chill until thick but not firm. Whip cream stiff; with same beaters whip limeade mixture. Gently fold whipped cream, grapes, toasted walnuts and diced cherry gelatin into limeade mixture. Pour over crumb crust. Decorate with cherry gelatin cut-outs. Chill until firm. Sprinkle reserved crumb mixture around edges. Makes one nine inch panful.

Sausage Scrapple Arouses Appetites For Morning Meal

For a delicious change from basic breakfast meats, start the day out with sausage scrapple, a flavorsome specialty originated by the thrifty wives of Pennsylvania Dutch farmers. It can be prepared and chilled the day before frying and serving to eliminate morning rush.

SAUSAGE SCRAPPLE

- 2 pounds pork sausage
- 1 can (13 ounces) or 1⅔ cups evaporated mild
- 3 cups water
- 1½ cups yellow cornmeal
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups crushed corn flakes
- 2 eggs
- 3 to 4 tablespoons lard or drippings

Brown sausage and pour off drippings. Combine milk and water. Measure 4 cups of liquid and add to sausage. Reserve remaining liquid for dipping scrapple. Heat sausage mixture to boiling and slowly stir in cornmeal and seasonings. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

Pour into a greased nine x five inch loaf pan and chill until firm. Unmold and cut into one-half inch slices. Dip into corn flakes. Combine eggs and remaining liquid and dip slices in this mixture, then in corn flakes again.

Brown in lard or drippings on both sides and serve hot with syrup. Eight servings.

Adjust Flame

Don't use more flame than you need. Adjust it to fit the pan or the pot, as you can easily, with gas. Turning the burner too high burns up a lot of gas — and sometimes the food.

Grain Cheaper

Bread Cheaper

A 'Deli' Meal Cooked At Home Atop Stove

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Have a deli meal. Cook corned beef on top of the range, then make up a barbecue sauce. Slater the beef with part of the sauce and bake; serve hot for a first meal. Refrigerate the remainder of the meat for good sandwich eating. The barbecue sauce that is leftover should also be refrigerated; if it lasts longer than the corned beef, serve it with cold cuts.

BARBECUED CORNED BEEF

- 4 to 6 pounds flat-cut corned beef brisket
- 6 whole cloves
- 3 whole allspice
- 2 bay leaves
- Water
- ¼ cup butter
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 tablespoon dark brown sugar
- ½ cup undrained sweet pickle relish
- 1 cup catchup

Place corned beef in a large saucepot; add spices and enough water to cover. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer until tender when pierced with a fork — three to four hours. Cool beef in broth; drain beef and remove excess exterior fat. Place beef in shallow roasting pan.

In a small saucepan melt butter; stir in remaining ingredients; simmer sauce, stirring constantly, for one minute.

Spread about ⅔ cup of the sauce over corned beef; bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Serve corned beef warm with remaining sauce; or chill meat, slice thin and serve cold on rye bread, spreading with remaining sauce warmed to room temperature.

Makes six to eight servings.

Wok Works Its Wonders On Onions

The year of renewed relations with China may have turned your tastebuds to the East.

PARMESAN STEAMED ONIONS

(4-6 servings)

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 5 medium onions; peeled and sliced ¼" thick
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate (optional)
- ¼ teaspoon sugar
- ¼ cup white wine vinegar or wine sherry
- 1 tablespoon grated parmesan cheese

Place butter in wok. Heat at 225 degrees (low heat) until butter melts, about two minutes. Separate onions into rings. Add onions, salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate, and sugar to butter; stir. Cover and simmer for 20 minutes, stirring every five minutes. Add wine vinegar (or sherry) and cheese. Increase heat to 300 degrees (medium heat). Stir gently and cook for three minutes.

10 Years Before The Mast

Woman With A Camera

By PAT BALMES

Marine photographer Diane Beeston for 10 years has worked from her boat's flying bridge, enduring heavy San Francisco Bay weather and lending drama to her yachting photographs.

The years of shooting regattas have taught Miss Beeston to anticipate a skipper's tactical maneuvers and position the Golden Fleece, her 27-foot power boat, to capture the action.

She has recorded bay sailing's violence, beauty and humor in her oversized picture book, "Of Wind, Fog and Sail," recently published by Chronicle Books.

A pioneer in commercial sailboat photography when she began her work in 1962, Diane Beeston works full-time on the bay, owns a house with a darkroom in San Francisco and has her boat, friends and fun at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

"It's physically hard work and wet. You learn to keep well," said the 42-year-old woman who photographs on the bay every weekend from April to September and on some weekdays for special races or commissions.

SHE KEEPS three cameras loaded and ready, one for black and white, one for color and one for emergencies.

"I work until I am finished after a day photographing races on the bay. The magazine stuff on spec I get right out. You get to know what magazines want; some like thrills and spills," she said.

Two Belvedere friends alternate piloting the Golden Fleece while she photographs. Crew Margaret Rumsey has sailed all her life. Susie Mitchell Miller takes the wheel while her husband Sheldon crews in races.

"A woman is not able physically to crew on the big boats in races. It's so much more fun to watch. I fell off the first sailboat I went out on. To this day I cannot sail a boat," she said.

The bay is ideal for marine photography; dependable winds blow at 25 to 30 knots every day and the city offers dramatic backgrounds, she says.

After October, the wind dies and overcast makes contrast poor until April, so she turns her lens on crashing surf along the coast. And last winter, she held three shows.

BECAUSE THE time for Christmas gift-giving is approaching, Miss Beeston disciplines herself to work in her darkroom when she would rather "rattle oil paints," play golf or tennis or enjoy entertainment with Marin yachting friends. She prefers Marin's more casual life-style and hopes to live in Belvedere someday, she said.

Her social life must be flexible; she must be available should a call come for prints or a commission.

"You never know who may call now that people have heard of me," she said.

Publisher Phelps Dewey of Tiburon looked through her work for a picture three years ago, commenting that if he ever wanted to do a book on sailboats he knew where to come. Recently he surprised her with a phone call, saying, "I'm ready to do that book now."

One of the best ways to make money in photography is to sell in quantity, Miss Beeston said.

"I knew an appointment calendar with sailing pictures was a good idea, but I am the world's worst salesman," she said. So she chose a college student, Ron Steinau of Belvedere, as her sales representative.

At her tiny darkroom, "which people would not believe," she develops her own work "so I would not want to kill an employee who wrecked a job." She sends out only color and big photomurals.

The 16-by-20-inch trays are on the floor and "sometimes I step in them," said Miss Beeston. If the print is over 11 by 14 inches she washes it in her bathtub.

SELF-TAUGHT, she learned the technical part from a tennis partner. No one can tell a person how to compose a picture, she said.

"It's like cooking, you put in a little more salt. In developing, you just rub it a little," she said.

"I was always totally artistically inclined," she said. She is a serious student of marine oil painting —perhaps a future career.

She was born in Batavia, Java (now Djakarta, Indonesia), in 1929. Anticipating World War II, her English father, vice president of a shipping line, brought his American wife, son and daughter to San Francisco where he had a job offer from an export firm. But he found the depression instead.

MISS BEESTON attended Katherine Burke School in San Francisco "in genteel poverty" and graduated from University of California.

She supported her parents until they died in 1966. At first, she worked in the purchasing department of California Packing Co. and learned photography in her spare time. Finding her new hobby expensive, she began taking pictures of friends' children.

In 1954 she became medical photographer for the University of California, San Francisco, opthalmology department.

Later she was put in charge of photography "from the top of the head to the tip of the toe." It was excitin" at first, but it got boring, sh" said.

Her office i. the old clinic, circa 1880, was dingy. She was attracted to sailboats because of their beauty and took their pictures from shore to brighten her office.

Nobody was doing sailboat photography in 1962 when she began taking boating pictures on weekends.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY DENNIS REIS
Monica Bariski recites vows

Novatan, San Rafael Woman Are Married

The First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo was the setting for the wedding of Monica Lynn Bariski of San Rafael and Henry Dennis Reis of Novato on Sept. 30.

A reception followed at the Pathfinder Garden of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Monica was attended by Elaine Howard of San Rafael as matron of honor and by Paula Bariski of San Rafael.

Mike Howard of San Rafael was the best man. The ushers were the bride's brother, David Bariski of San Rafael; the bridegroom's brother, Rick Reis of Novato, and Jeff Dorshkind of Novato.

The couple will make their home in Novato following the wedding trip to Monterey and Carmel.

Monica is a graduate of San Rafael High School and Marinello School of Beauty. She is employed with R and J Beauty Salon, San Rafael.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reis of Novato and the brother of Joellen Reis, also of Novato. He attends College of Marin and is employed with M and B Products in Terra Linda. He graduated from Novato High School.

PEDIATRICS TO PSYCHIATRY

Death And Dying Change A Career

By JOAN LISETOR

The stresses of death and dying were the major vehicles for change in the career of Dr. Eugene Shatkin who, seven years ago, gave up a thriving pediatric practice in Marin to study psychiatry at Langley Porter Neuro-psychiatric Institute in San Francisco.

He had had little contact with death until serving on the emergency ward at the beginning of his internship, he told an audience last night in College of Marin's Olney Hall. Shatkin discussed the stresses he has felt as a physician, positive changes caused by those stresses and the kind of work he does. His talk was the fourth in the series, "SOS — Stress in Our Society," presented by the Marin Association for Mental Health and by the college.

"Death is a nemisis to an intern," Shatkin said, and everywhere he went in the hospital he was pulling curtains and being confronted with patients suffering terminal diseases. His discomfort with death led him to pediatrics, he said.

"I THOUGHT pediatrics was wonderful. After all, don't all the patients get well?" he asked rhetorically.

"She was the fifth child and only daughter of a college student, and her illness caused a severe family crisis. The family's desire, when the child's death was near, was for her to die at home. I told them she should be in a hospital, but told them they should do what they want."

He described the desperate situation when the child died at home and he found the fire department there attempting to revive her.

Attending the child's eulogy he discovered that the friends of the parents were angry with him.

"I later learned that the family friends couldn't accept the child's death, were angry and depressed and needed someone to blame."

THIS IS one of the experiences that brought him to the realization that when a death occurs, the person suffering the loss must let go, feel pain and go through a mourning stage.

Now on the staff at the University of California at Davis, Shatkin treats clinical patients as well as conducting group sessions with pediatric nurses. In his clinical work he sees neglected and abandoned children who have been abused by their parents. Of prime interest to him,he said, is the parent who has battered the child.

An attempt is made to reach out to the troubled parent, but these attempts are often thwarted because a lawman arives and arrests the parents. Often in these cases the children eventually go back to the home, where there has been no counseling, only to return to the hospital battered again, he said.

The next in the series will be held Tuesday night in Olney Hall. Dr. Philip Hicks, a Marin County psychiatrist, will discuss the stresses involved with adolescence.

Efforts Lead To Better Jobs

Recent efforts to improve the social and economic status of workers of minority races have led to better jobs and higher earnings for some minority workers, according to a report by the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration.

Between 1960 and 1971 the proportion of all minority women workers employed in professional and technical jobs rose from 6 to 11 per cent, and the proportion in clerical jobs rose from 9 to 22 per cent. Over the same 11-year-period the proportion in private household work decreased from 35 to 17 per cent.

The median wage of minority women employed full-time rose from $2,372 in 1960 to $4,674 in 1970.

Danes Touring U.S. Set Marin Performance

By MOLLY MARIN

The 24 Danish students now touring the U.S. and Canada demonstrating gymnastic and dancing skills will perform in Marin at the College of Marin gymnasium at 3:30 p.m., Oct. 22. It will be the only major Bay Area performance of the students from the Hellebjerg School, which emphasizes physical culture. There will be no charge for the demonstration, which is open to the public.

The Marin stay of the 12 boys and 12 girls is being sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard James of Sausalito. The visitors will arrive in Sausalito Oct. 20 and will be honored at a dinner at 6:30 p.m. at the Sausalito Woman's Club. Marin families who will house the Danish guests will meet them at the dinner. Seventy are expected to attend.

After attending the 10 a.m. service Oct. 22 at Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito, the Hellebjerg athletes will give a short program at Campbell Hall.

DR. AND MRS. Leo Tarantino of Tiburon are sailing in the Mediterranean off the island of Corsica. They have chartered a yacht and will be cruising and putting into Corsican ports for a month, returning to Marin in mid-October.

MR. AND MRS. Rogers C. Broomhead of Kentfield will give a dinner party at their home tomorrow before the opera preview of Puccini's "Tosca." The preview will be given at the Barn at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Stephanie von Buchau of Larkspur, music and dance editor for San Francisco magazine, who will present the preview, will be honored guest.

Other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Edmond C. Ward of Kentfield, Mrs. John C. Alexander of Sausalito, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Rorick of Ross, and Robert W. Hendra of San Anselmo. Mrs. Alexander is chairman of Marin Opera Action, sponsor of the preview.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Happy Sampler' Tells How Her Marriage Benefits From Affair

DEAR HELEN:

"Curious," the tired husband, wondered how young parents ever find the time or energy for affairs. You wondered, too, and asked "samplers" whether hanky-panky was really worth the effort.

I'm a "sampler." My answer (and I'm quick to say it's not for everyone) is "Yes."

I have two children, one a preschooler. I started my affair five years ago when our oldest was in kindergarten. It continues. Maybe I'm a freak, but I've made the best of two worlds and, outside of the guilt I feel and the worry over being found out, I think my "other man" and I have done our best to have an affair responsibly. Actually, it has helped both our marriages.

Yes, I've had qualms and doubts: "What will this do to my marriage?" "To my lover's marriage?" He and I agreed to put our spouses and families first, which averted the temptation to run away or something equally foolish, such as being jealous or possessive. Our relationship is much more than merely physical. We are friends first.

Our marriages take the day-to-day buffeting —the total honesty of constant intimacy: hair curlers, bathrobes, two-day beards and undershirts. A few hours every few weeks with a lover gives respite from the routine. He doesn't see my unglamorous self. With him I can be the person I want most to be, and she's real, too. I go home purring like a kitten — more patient with the kids, more relaxed and loving with my husband — he never lacks for love.

What do I get that I don't have at home? Excitement of the clandestine, I suppose, in part. But more: My lover pours out his heart to me, lets me comfort him. My husband doesn't want to "burden" me.

Yes, it takes energy and subterfuge. It takes time and lots of love — for both men. Of these, only the subterfuge saddens me — and that's a terrible minus.

As for energy, I've benefited: doing all I need to do at home in less time, and having cut enough calories to gratefully lose 20 pounds. I've learned to plan my time so that my fewer family hours are more wisely spent. And love? Who can't benefit by the greater capacity to bestow and receive love? The kind of love that asks, "What can I do for my beloveds?"

My husband and daughters may never know, but my extra measure of good spirits comes from my equivalent of "going out to buy a hat" — which doesn't even cost like a hat does.

Really, my family is more strengthened than weakened by my affair. — HAPPY SAMPLER FROM OHIO

DEAR HAPPY:

Your letter supports the theories of numerous modern psychologists who say that, in isolated instances, an affair can reinforce a marriage. But think how fast two marriages might disintegrate were those secret meetings exposed.

As you added in a "personal" postscript: "Lest this letter serve as encouragement to others to do as I've done, please put in your remarks a big strong caution. We're taking a grave risk. I pray every hour for our marriages. Please pray for me, too."

Not only risk but potential misery is involved here — for yourselves, your mates and families. I doubt that everyone touched by this affair could be as free of jealousy and possessiveness as you are. — H.

ON THE AGENDA

Marin's AAUW Branch Sets First In Series Of General Meetings

First of the Marin Branch, American Association of University Women, series of general meetings will be held Monday at 9:30 a.m. at Wesley Hall of the United Methodist Church in San Rafael. Chairman is Mrs. Ross Cobb.

The status of women in 1972 will be the focus of all general meetings for Marin Branch AAUW this year. Speaking at the first meeting will be Barbara Hosmer, president of the Marin Chapter, National Organization for Women, who will discuss the purposes of NOW and explain the ways in which the organization works to achieve equal rights and opportunities for women. She will point out major areas of discrimination encountered by women of today, be they housewives or career women.

Today's Woman Has 3 Choices

Today's woman has three choices, according to New York psychiatrist Dr. Alexandra Symonds.

She can be an active feminist, working to end restrictions for women in jobs and education and fighting for maternity leave rights, more day care centers and special tax deductions for the working mother.

She can be a full-time homemaker, content to derive her status and security from her husband.

The third choice is the woman in the middle, trying to resolve the conflict between the aspirations of feminists and a woman's role as wife and mother.

MAYOR C. PAUL Bettini of San Rafael is proclaiming Sunday as National Catholic Daughters of America Day in San Rafael. In honor of the occasion Court St. Raphael 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, will attend mass at St. Raphael's Catholic Church.

Other Catholic Daughter courts throughout the U.S., Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands also will have special events to mark the occasion.

Court St. Raphael also is conducting a membership drive, and Mrs. Andrew Schweighofer is membership chairman.

Mrs. William Webb is chairman of Sunday's program.

A "JUNK 'N GEMS" rummage sale is planned by the Women's Missionary Council of the Southern Marin Assembly of God Church in Mill Valley Monday through Friday.

The sale will be held in Wesley Hall at Sycamore and East Blithedale avenues in Mill Valley, beginning at 9:30 a.m., and closing at 4 p.m. each day.

Mrs. Manuel Saenz of San Anselmo is chairman.

CMDR. F. E. THRALL, U.S. Coast Guard commanding officer of the San Francisco vessel traffic system, will be the speaker at the luncheon meeting of El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday at noon at the home of Mrs. Richard E. Mittelstaedt in Greenbrae.

Hostesses for the luncheon with Mrs. Mittelstaedt will be Mmes. Henri M. Boussy, Thomas L. Harris, A. A. Laurence and William A. Marcus.

WITH ELECTION Day coming up, members of the Officers Wives Club at Hamilton Air Force Base are having a red, white and blue hi-and-bye coffee tomorrow at 9:30 a.m., at the Officers Club.

Hostesses will be wives of officers of the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron at Hamilton. Mrs. Carl Bibb is chairman.

CALIFORNIA PARENT-Teacher Association president, Mrs. Tony Patch of San Francisco, will speak to members of the 14th District P-TA tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at the Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo.

Chairman is Mrs. Dallas Wagner of San Rafael, president of the district. She will be assisted by Ross Valley Council P-TA president Mrs. Charles Mat is and Mill Valley Council P-TA president Mrs. James MacNichols.

Mrs. Patch has been an officer on all P-TA levels, is a member of the national and California Associations of Parliamentarians and has served on the board of directors of the Friends of the San Francisco Public Library.

A luncheon at Deer Park Villa restaurant in Fairfax will follow the meeting.

THE SAN Jose Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association is having its annual fund raising event at the school in Novato on Friday from 3 to 7:30 p.m.

The ninth grade steering committee will be selling popcorn and ices. Also available will be hamburgers, hot dogs, chili, cold drinks, cotton candy and candied apples.

Mrs. Paul Bradshaw is chairman.

Differences In Job Patterns

Substantial differences persist between the employment patterns of minority women and those of other groups. Minority women are more likely than white women to be in the labor force, to be working wives and to be working mothers, according to a report by the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration.

Minority women workers have less formal education,

'Young Winston' In New York Premiere

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Young Winston," the movie version of Sir Winston Churchill's life up to the time of his marriage, had its American premier Tuesday night with the Duke and Duchess of Kent and Churchill's namesake-grandson in attendance.

Klieg lights scraped the sky above Manhattan's Second Avenue as Mayor John V. Lindsay and the British ambassador, the Earl of Cromer, led one of the most distinguished first night film audiences in years into Columbia Pictures' duplex theater.

The tall, athletic Kent—first cousin of Queen Elizabeth—thanked the benefit sponsor of the premiere, The Winston Churchill Foundation of the United States, for making possible his first visit to the United States. His beautiful blonde duchess added a regal note to the affair with her empire-style white gown set off by a diamond mini-tiara and drop earrings.

Celebrity fans who crowded the sidewalks before and after the showing gave their loudest applause to Simon Ward, the young British actor who was chosen from 400 candidates to play the adult Churchill. Director Richard Attenborough, who gave the film an almost documentary quality, also attended. Attenborough and writer-producer Carl Foreman based the film on Churchill's book "My Early Life."

The premiere was followed by a supper dance in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Plaza with the Kents and Winston Churchill, grandson of the statesman, and himself a member of Parliament and Mrs. Churchill in the boxes of honor. They were welcomed by Lewis W. Douglas, former U.S. ambassador to Britain.

Bad Rainstorm Hits Mexicali

MEXICALI, Mexico (UPI)—The worst rainstorm in 25 years brought destructive flooding to the normally arid border region of Baja California, officials said today.

A downpour that lasted 26 hours washed out sections of road, sent water streaming three feet deep through some streets, destroyed crops and deposited sand in homes near the Gulf of California, according to Juan Hernandez, head of the tourist department of the Mexicali Chamber of Commerce.

Museum Flea Market Slated

Items large and small will be for sale Oct. 22 when the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science holds its second annual flea market.

The event, which last year netted $1,100, will be held at the museum located opposite Albert Park in San Rafael, at 10 a.m.

Allen Bernes, chairman of the event, said donations of new or nearly new items will be picked up by museum representatives if notified by Oct. 19.

Several booths will be available for private concessionaires. Vendors may get in touch with Bernes at 153 Hillside Drive, Fairfax.

Phony Pipeline Jobs In Alaska Offered

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI)—Phony construction jobs in the proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline are reported being offered in many parts of the country.

The Alaska Departments of Economic Development and Labor issued a warning Monday about the impersonators and said no construction would be done this year.

A Drop Forecast On '72 Tax Bills

This year, most taxpayers will get a drop in federal income tax because of extra exemptions and a raise in standard deduction.

This was disclosed last night during the first of three evening series presented by the Society of California Accountants.

Public accountants Richard Y. Martz and Michael M. Manning and Roy F. N. Brown, senior auditor appraiser for Marin Cunty, spoke to an audience of more than 50 persons at Dominican College's Bertrand Hall. Manning predicted that many taxpayers will get refunds from this year's federal tax payments because of overwithholding.

The public service series on "How To Play The Tax Game Within Rules and Win" will continue tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Guzman Hall at Dominican. The meetings are open to the public for $1 per evening.

Moderator Ernest T. Stair of San Rafael said the meeting was switched to Guzman Hall for tonight and tomorrow because of bigger crowds expected. Carroll A. Snyker, manager of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, opened last night's meeting.

Topics for tonight are tax tips for wage earners, tax tips for business and professional men, and are tax shelters for you?

Tomorrow night's topics are wage, price and rent freeze; new California income tax laws, and what's in the crystal ball?

The program is sponsored by the North Bay chapter of the Society of California Accountants, Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, Dominican College, Independent-Journal, San Rafael and Corte Madera chambers of commerce, Marin County Board of Realtors and Marin Builders Exchange.

Joint Tennis Pact On Agenda

The San Anselmo School District board will consider a joint agreement with the city providing for tennis courts at Red Hill School when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Red Hill School library.

Under the agreement, the city and the school district will each pay $8,000 to finance construction of the courts, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott.

The board wll also consider appointing a student representative for board meetings, discuss a field trip policy and debate the merits of the Watson tax initiative.

Named To Board

Sausalito attorney William Stevens has been appointed to the board of directors of the Sausalito Art Center. He replaces Anne Drever, who recently resigned from the board.

11 Welfare Cases Reported Tinged

The Marin County Department of Public Social Services reported yesterday a preliminary check of 30 child support welfare cases found 11 tinged with fraud — seven serious enough for referral to the district attorney's office.

According to Betty L. Presley, welfare director, the cases were found as a result of the state's new computerized crackdown on welfare cheats.

Statewide, welfare officials have found a 41 per cent instance of apparent fraud among recipients in the top 10 per cent income bracket receiving Aid to Families With Dependent Children (AFDC). Marin's 11 cases fall within that category, too.

The controversial new program is a cross-check of welfare recipients' unemployment compensation records with welfare records. It is called "earnings clearance system" and was fought in the courts for months by the Golden Gate Welfare Rights Organization.The group claimed invasion of privacy.

Miss Presley, in a memorandum to Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella, said the county's 11 cases span a three-month period from October to December 1971.

She said the four cases not referred to the district attorney involved discrepancies of less than $100.

A larger batch of about 580 cases is now being cross checked in the same manner, she wrote, though unsure when the investigation would conclude.

In all, the county had 2,392 AFDC cases during the three-month test period. Not all can be checked under the state's new program since unemployment records do not exist for all recipients.

Miss Presley said the county's percentage of welfare chiseling can be figured in a number of ways.

It totals 36 per cent if the 11 cases are applied against the 30 initially checked; 1.8 per cent if the 11 cases are applied against the 612 which will be checked, and .4 per cent if the 11 cases are applied against the 2,392 caseload total for the test period.

Developer's Land Value Is Reduced

A West Marin developer whose land was rezoned to the controversial A-60 classification has been granted a 42 per cent reduction in the value of his property by the Marin County assessment Appeals Board.

H. Morgan Noble of Marina Developers, Belvedere, won the reductio Friday, claiming the county's action in rezoning his property had substantially reduced its value by limiting possible development to one dwelling unit per 60 acres.

The assessor's office had listed the market value of the 357 acres overlooking Tomales Bay at $216,000.

The appeals board, however, agreed in part with the developer and slashed the value to $125,000. He will pay taxes on 25 per cent of that amount. Noble claimed during the hearing that the land was worth only $35,600 as a result of the rezoning.

Candidates Set Session On Radio

The candidates for the Fourth Supervisorial District seat — Gary Giacomini and Michael R. Peevey, an economist —will appear tomorrow at 9 a.m. on the radio station KTIM "Sounding Board" program to discuss problems concerning the county.

Questions may be phoned in during the broadcast. The program will be repeated by tape recording on Sunday at 10:05 a.m.

Senate Deals A Severe Blow To Antibusing Legislation

For the second time in as many days a Dixie-led coalition seeking to push through the tough bill before Congress adjourns this weekend failed to muster the needed two-thirds majority to choke off debate.

The bill, approved by the House last August and strongly supported by President Nixon, was certain to pass if it came to a vote. But Northern liberals apparently will be able to keep that from happening by talking against it.

A third and probably final vote on a motion to shut off debate was set for Thursday. No further consideration of the bill was expected today.

Unless backers of the tough House-passed antibusing bill win on cloture, the bill is sure to die this weekend, when Congress is scheduled to quit for the year.

"I don't think we have the votes for cloture today," a glum Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., a leader of the antibusing bloc, said. "It would be unrealistic to say it would be anything but a long shot. It's a real uphill situation."

Northern liberals, wielding the filibuster tactic used successfully by Southerners in years past to block civil rights legislation, are trying to talk the bill to death. They contend the measure—which would virtually halt all long-distance busing of students as a tool for school desegregation—would rekindle racial strife and wipe out the integration gains of the last 20 years.

Southern senators, with some allies from Northern and border states like Griffin, had a 45-37 majority on Tuesday' cloture vote—but they were 10 votes shy of the two-thirds margin required.

Almost to a man, the Dixie bloc abandoned its tradition of never voting to shut off debate. Only Arkansas Democrats J. William Fulbright and Jhn L. McClellan voted to let debate continue.

Following that vote, Nixon summoned Griffin and other leaders of the antibusing forces to the White House for a strategy session. They emerged to say the President was dispatching top lieutenants to Capitol Hill to try to change some minds.

"I am against busing, period," Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., quoted Nixon as saying.

Though Nixon was known to prefer his own proposals to curb busing, keyed to a moratorium on court orders, those at the White House meeting said he recognizes the only chance to get any bill this year is for the Senate to accept the pending House measure without change.

Strep Infection Leads Disease List

Streptococcus infection, with 84 cases reported, was the most prevalent communicable disease reported last week to the Marin County Health Department, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Forty-one cases of gonorrhea, eight of infectious hepatitis and one of syphilis were reported during the same period.

Bus Shelter Issue To Be Tackled

The long-delayed issue of bus shelters will be tackled by Golden Gate Bridge District directors at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in toll plaza offices.

The joint transportation and finance-auditing committee will consider a district application for federal funds to triple about $75,000 that the county has accumulated for shelters from sales tax revenue on the district's bus fleet.

Also on the agenda is an application for transit funds from the new sales tax on gasoline.

The building and operating committee will meet first to consider relocation of the San Francisco bus parking lot.

The full board will meet at 10 a.m. Friday.

Cat Care Course Will Be Offered

A five-week course on cat care and instruction will be conducted on Saturdays by the Humane Society of Marin at the humane education center at 171 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Novato.

The course will be taught from 10 a.m. to noon starting Saturday and continuing until Nov. 11. There is no charge for the course.

Tiburon Man Pleads Guilty In Conspiracy

I-J Special Report

INDIANAPOLIS — A Tiburon resident along with two others pleaded guilty yesterday in U.S. District Court to charges they conspired to burn down a warehouse in Kenton, Ohio, in order to collect $420,000 in insurance.

Admitting the crime was William Andrew Stephen Hodge, 34, of 1845 Mar West, and L. Deane Shepard, 38, of Indianapolis and David R. Paicely, 46, of Cincinnati.

The three plus two Indianapolis men who pleaded guilty earlier were accused of conspiring to buy a warehouse which was to be burned to collect insurance money.

Federal and local officials said they were tipped to the plot and Paicely was arrested leaving the vacant warehouse on July 24.

Hodge finally surrendered himself in August in Indianapolis after what police termed an unsuccessful attempt to flee the coutry.

In addition to the warehouse incident, Hodge has been accused of stealing $28,000 in cash from a Napa restauranteur early in August.

He is charged with taking a briefcase containing the money from Napa restaurant owner Lee Carbone's room in the Tiburon Lodge. Hodge had reportedly spent the evening wining and dining with Carbone and his wife in Tiburon.

Indiana authorities said he turned over some of the money when he turned himself in.

Three Sets Stolen

Burglars who smashed a window at the Sears and Roebuck store in the Red Hill Shopping Center tday took three large portable color television sets, according to San Anselmo police, who said the break-in was discovered about 3 a.m.

Election Hopefuls Tell Why They Must Be Voters' November Choice

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Seven candidates last night offered their visions of a bright future if given a majority of votes in the November general election. Incumbents defended their records and challengers sought flaws in those records.

Tight time limits of five minutes apiece, however, generally limited the candidates to familiar ground in their appearance before some 200 persons in Dominican College's Guzman Hall. Most came from the student body, many apparently attending as part of class assignment.

The event was sponsored by the Associated Students of Dominican College and by the League of Women Voters.

Candidates appearing were Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and his challenger in the second district, Barbara Boxer; Michael R. Peevey and Gary T. Giacomini, runoff candidates seeking the Fourth Supervisorial District seat being vacated by Louis H. Baar; Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and his Democratic challenger, Harry Moore. The seventh was San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas, Democratic nominee in the Sixth Congressional District.

The incumbent being challenged by Boas, Republican William S. Mailliard of San Francisco, was in Washington for final negotiations on the proposed Golden Gate National Recreation Area. Boas acknowledged that Mailliard had to be in Washington for the "very important vote coming up" on the recreation area.

Peevey, an economist and research director for the California Labor Federation, both praised and attacked the pending countywide general plan. He cited it as "an excellent document," but objected that it "leaves out how to get to its goals in many cases."

He suggested the county planning department's staff of 24 include two economists to square the plan's goals with economic realities. Peevey also urged addition of an "environmental ombudsman" to the county staff to resolve conflicts between development and conservation.

Giacomini, an attorney, uncritically embraced the general plan, arguing that "preserving and enhancing" the environment was the major issue facing the county.

He argued that all forms of transit, including trains, should be studied for possible use to break dependence on cars. Advocates of the ferry service used to be considered dreamers, yet it has returned to the bay, he noted. Advocates of trains also could end up proven right, Giacomini said.

Arrigoni, a stockbroker, took credit for helping bring about what he termed "a new emphasis" on preserving Marin's environment. During his four years in office, the county adopted the first county logging control ordinance in the state and the first county ordinance to control tideland areas, he said.

Arrigoni said he would push again for a county "consumer hotline" so consumers can complain directly to the county, a proposal that he failed to get funded during this year's budget hearings. He also suggested expansion of driver education courses in public schools to include how to buy a car, how to purchase insurance and how to understand financing and warranties.

Home economics courses should include credit buying, carrying charges and interest buying, and adult education classes should teach simple home repairs for problems such as leaky faucets, burned out fuses and use of tools, he said.

Mrs. Boxer, active in numerous citizen groups, had a less favorable view of what she claimed was Arrigoni's record, including approval of 20,000 housing units in Marin since he was elected. (The bulk of these units, however, were approved by city governments, not the county supervisors.)

She also said that the past four years had seen the county's crime rate rise 33 per cent, air pollution levels rise along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and the county budget go up 59 per cent. She said "the issue in this election is a choice between bureaucracy and democracy."

Asked from the audience if supervisors should serve full-time, Peevey pledged again he will resign from his job if elected. Giacomini declined to make such a pledge unless supervisors' pay was increased from the present $14,000 to at least $18,000 a year.

Mrs. Boxer said she would serve full-time at the present salary, stating supervisors already average $17,000 a year because of pay from other agencies they serve on as supervisors.

Arrigoni said he was proud of combining public service while also holding his former job. "Full-time doesn't mean sitting out at the civic center from nine to five and harrassing department heads," he said.

Arrigoni and Mrs. Boxer also tangled over campaign funding when she noted that he had spent twice the $6,000 she spent in the June primary election. Arrigoni said he had the disadvantage of having to run an expensive "grass-roots campaign" while she had the backing of "a special intrest group," apparently a reference to Marin Alternative, which she helped found.

In the Assembly race, Moore called for imposing a deadline for legislative committees to act on bills, opening all committee meetings to the public, limiting the $30 daily expense allowance for legislators to 180 days and requiring full financial disclosure by legislators.

He said he opposed Proposition 17, which would restore the death penalty, and Proposition 22, which would bar secondary strikes, picketing and boycotts.

Moore favored Proposition 18, which would expand state and local control over materials considered obscene, and Proposition 20, which would control use of the coastal zone. Of the last, he predicted, "it will pass and carry me into office on its coattails." He did not elaborate.

Bagley said he also favored Proposition 20, addin he was the swing vote in the ways and means committee to get a similar measure onto the Assembly floor. (It later died in the Senate.)

Citing the state's new premium bond rating, Bagley said it was made possible by legislation he carried last year to institute payroll withholding that put "our fiscal house in order." The rating itself saves the state millions of dollars a year in interest payments, he said.

Bagley also took credit for "saving Bolinas Bay," adding elective directors to the Golden Gate Bridge District and imposing a moratorium on oil drilling in San Francisco Bay.

Asked their positions on abortion laws, Moore said present laws were adequate while Bagley said he would support their "further liberalization" unless government-sponsored family planning programs prove adequate in stemming unwanted births.

Both opposed Proposition 19, which would remove penalties for private use of marijuana. Bagley said it "sociologically leads to hard drugs" and Moore said too little was known about marijuana to loosen penalties against its use.

Boas said that if elected he would open an office in the Marin part of his two-county district, adding he wanted to repair the "malaise about government and politicians" that was interfering with the functioning of government.

Noting that he had opposed the Vietnam war since 1966, Boas said Mailliard by contrast has been a "defense department spokesman" who consistently supported the war, including the invasion of Cambodia two years ago.

Boas said Mailliard "equates the maintenance of the South Vietnamese regime with our prestige."

Contrasting their "economic priorities," Boas said Mailliard voted to finance the supersonic transport plane and the measure to save Lockheed from bankruptcy. "I wouldn't have voted a nickel for it," Boas said of the SST, and added that the government had no business bailing out a corporation that went broke because of mismanagement.

Boas also cited his own opposition to joint civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base with Mailliard's refusal to take a position on the controversial proposal.

Sausalito Works On Ferryboat Proposal

Sausalito city councilmen last night worked out a rough draft of a 10-point plan for bargaining with the Golden Gate Bridge District over continued use of the downtown ferry terminal.

The finished draft will be formally introduced by the council at its Oct. 24 meeting, then forwarded to the Golden Gate Bridge District board for discussion, according to City Mgr. Albert R. St. Cyr.

The city said it wants the bridge district to lease 320 commuter parking spaces near the Big G supermarket when more ferryboats are added to the Sausalito run, and to subsidize a city-operated shuttle service between the parking lot and the terminal in place of the current district shuttle buses.

The council called for "minimal" downtown terminal facilities, the fewest possible number of ferryboat arrivals and departures at the downtown terminal, routing tourist traffic to and from the proposed Golden Gate National Recreation Area via the bridge district's future Larkspur terminal, and operating its shuttle between Sausalito and the Larkspur terminal from the northern parking lot rather than downtown Sausalito.

The district may continue its present downtown shuttle service, with not more than six buses, until Sausalito can provide "a mutually acceptable" alternate form of transit. There has been discussion of using the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way for narrow gauge rail service.

Other points in the bargaining draft would have the district lease the terminal site from the city either on a per-passenger fee or a lump sum, "whichever is larger at the end of the fiscal year," submit an environmental impact statement not less than 120 days before any formal agreement.

The rough draft prepared by councilmen Stephen A. Fraser and Evert H. Heynneman was discussed for three and one-half hours during last night's study session, St. Cyr said.

It was the third such debate on agreement with the bridge district on the ferry terminal.

Forgery Case To Superior Court

A former Marin resident charged with three couts of forging drug prescriptions was bound over yesterday to superior court to appear Monday.

Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court ruled there is enough evidence to try Clyde Wilson Collings Jr., 48, of Gig Harbor, Wash., on charges of passing the prescription at the Corner Drug Store in Sausalito on March 17, April 15 and July 21.

The prescriptions were for dexadrine and doriden, police said.

Rally For Mill Valley Mayor; Ruling Remains

By JAY GOODWIN

Friends and supporters of Mayor Jean S. Barnard rallied to her side last night, but the Mill Valley City Council left unchanged its recent decision to cut the mayor's term to one year.

At its last meeting, the council voted to reduce the term of mayor from two years to one.

At the time, Mrs. Barnard asked to be exempted from the new policy, so she could complete her two-year term in April 1974, but the council turned her down though noting nothing prevented electing an incumbent mayor to a second one-year term.

Before the formal portion of last night's meeting, Mrs. Barnard opened the floor to the traditional citizens question period.

About eight residents took the microphone to criticize councilmen Gerald J. Hood, Robert E. Capron and Edward J. Boessenecker for their actions last Monday.

Pat Briggs, chairman of Marin Alternative, said the policy change must be construed as a personal attack, despite the disclaimers of the three councilmen. "It was not only hasty, but in extremely bad taste," she said.

Francis Kelly added, "Last week's post-midnight council policy review action certainly gives the appearance of pettiness, slippery ethics, double standards and very flexible principles."

Denying any attempt on his part to dump the mayor in a late night session, Boessenecker said he had, in fact, voted to adjourn the meeting at 12:15 a.m., but the majority of the council voted to continue the meeting.

JEAN S. BERNARD
Wins support

Responding to those who had suggested it takes two years for a mayor to effectively implement a program, Boessenecker said the mayor in Mill Valley is not supposed to execute policy. "The city council, as a whole, sets policy for the city," he said.

Councilman Robert E. Capron asked the audience to believe that his vote for the one-year term was not intended "as a slap in the mayor's face."

Planning Commissioner John DeBecker said there was no reason to cut Mrs. Barnard's term at this time because the mayor always serves at the pleasure of the council. He said, "The legal question is very clear. You can give her the pink slip any time you want. Why don't you review her position in one year and give her a pink slip then, if she doesn't cut the mustard."

Councilman Robert E. Burton said he opposed both the reduction of the term and the fact that Mrs. Barnard was denied an exemption from the new policy. "I'm sure it's legal, but I don't consider it particularly ethical," he said.

Hood, who had pushed for the one-year term since April, defended his position after everyone else finished.

"I'm the villain, so I guess last is where I belong," he began. Like Capron and Boessenecker before him, he said, "It's not a matter of personality. There was nothing in my motion to infer that the mayor is not a fine mayor.

"I felt that the mayor chairs the council meetings. She does not set the tone or policy of the city. The mayor reflects the tone of the council."

Mayor Barnard briefly said her reaction at the last meeting was spontaneous and unrehearsed. "Actually, I was floored," she said.

She said that while she was pleased with the change in the power of appointments enacted in April — removing them from the mayor's sole discretion — she thought the mayor's term should be two years because it takes time to learn the job.

"I just wish I'd been telephoned the night before," she concluded.

Following the half hour discussion, no one on the council suggested that the decision be formally reconsidered.

Mrs. Maginnis For Giacomini

Patricia T. Maginnis, unsuccessful candidate in the June primary election in the Fourth Supervisorial District, yesterday endorsed Gary T. Giacomini, one of the two runoff survivors of the primary.

The other loser in the contest, James Dougan, endorsed Giacomini the day after the election. The other runoff candidate is Michael R. Peevey.

Miss Maginnis, in a statement issued by her campaign committee, said that Giacomini had shown "a greater commitment" than Peevey to issues involving equal opportunity for all persons in employment, education and local government.

Theft From Boat

Tools and fishing equipment worth $255 were stolen from his boat parked behind his house, Gilbert Lauren De Costa of 17 Francis Street, San Rafael, told police. The theft occurred over the weekend, said police.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If Your Eyesight Is Normal, Proper Play Won't Hurt You

Do you have X-ray eyes? Can you see through the backs of the cards? If so, you don't need to play today's hand skillfully. If your eyesight is only normal, however, proper play won't hurt you a bit.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

FIRST IMPULSE

West opens the queen of hearts, and your first impulse is to take your king of hearts while the taking is good. That's fine if you then guess which opponent has the queen of clubs. If you misguess, the opponents will take a club and four hearts.

If you are good at guessing or if you can see through the backs of the cards, you can afford to win the first trick. But if you are just normal, refuse the first trick and all will be well.

If West continues hearts, you will get your king. Later, you can finesse clubs through West. You won't mind losing a club trick to East, since East will not have a heart to return. (If East had a third heart, the suit would break 4-3, and you would then lose only one club and three hearts.)

WEST MAY SWITCH

West may switch to a new suit at the second trick, but you will still be safe even though you will never win a trick with the king of hearts.

For example, suppose West switches to a spade. You win in dummy with the ace of spades and lead the ten of clubs for a finesse through East. You wouldn't mind losing that trick to West because you would still be safe against a heart continuation from West. You would surely win four clubs, three diamonds and two spades. With the club finesse working, you would actually win 10 tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
♠- K 8 5
♥- K 7 3
♣- K J 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You cannot bid a suit of your own, and you cannot afford to double for a takeout with such mediocre suport for the unbid suits.

Boycott Not Too Successful

BERKELEY (UPI)—A black students' boycott of Black Studies classes at the University of California at Berkeley is still on, but has not been "overwhelmingly successful," a spokesman for the boycotters said Monday.

The boycotters initiated the action more than a week ago in protest of the hiring of assistant professor William M. Banks III. Banks was hired last June after Chancellor Albert Bowker fired Ron Lewis as coordinator of Afro-American studies.

The Black Students Union said Bowker should not have hired Banks without consulting the group.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

GUESS WHO was born today and became famous? The year: 1884. The place: New York City. Her parents: well-to-do, able to give her all the advantages. But she was orphaned at 10, sent abroad for private tutoring, and made unhappy by loneliness. As a young woman she thought she lacked beauty, poise, and social grace. Then a handsome suitor arrived, smiling, confident, assured. They were married in 1905 and from that time forward made history together. He became governor of New York, then a wartime assistant secretary of the Navy, and finally the President. Now our birthday celebrity was a new person, outgoing and active, forever on the lecture circuit, no longer shy but eager to speak out for causes she believed in. Her husband prayed: "O Lord, make Eleanor tired." Even after his death, she kept busy, serving for a time as a U.S. delegate to the United Nations. Who was she? Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who lived a remarkable life for 78 years.

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS TODAY

1. JOSEPH W. ALSOP JR., well-known author and journalist, is 62 today. This writer of stinging commentaries on U.S. politics and foreign policy had an adventurous time in World War II. Serving as an aide to Gen. Claire Chennault, he was captured by the Japanese, exchanged, and then sent back to run our Lend-Lease operations in China. Quiz question: Is his middle name Stewart?

2. NATHAN F. TWINING was born this day 75 years ago in Monroe, Wis., and became a celebrated Air Force general. From the rank of second lieutenant in 1918, he rose to command our flying forces both in the European and Pacific theaters in World War II. Quiz question: Was he chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff under President Eisenhower?

3. JEROME ROBBINS, award-winning New York and Hollywood choreographer, is 54 today. This talented dance director has been doing hit shows since 1948, including such winners as "High Button Shoes" and "Fiddler on the Roof." Quiz question: Did he win an Emmy for putting "Peter Pan" on television?

ANSWERS

1. No; 2. Yes; 3. Yes.

There couldn't be a greater contrast than these two. One a Victorian masterpiece (an original Belvedere house) with water frontage, stone walled gardens, 4 stories, 3 bedrooms, 3 baths, maid's quarters and a huge attic. The other is sleek modern, one story, large POOL on a walled terrace, huge rooms including 3 bedrooms, formal dining, 2½ baths. Not so much contrast in the prices! $149,500 and $125,000.

ISN'T GOOD SERVICE WONDERFUL?

Our service is "late" but nice. Marin commuters have found it very convenient that our service department is now open till 7 pm. Monday thru Friday. In most cases we can give your VW a maintenance or tune-up by 7 pm if you come in by 5 pm. Call our private service line 388-5230 and give us a vote for "late" service.

Guilty Plea In Forged Check Case

A 24-year-old Marin man pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing a forged check for $194.83 that was cashed in San Rafael July 6.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner scheduled sentencing of Alexander Jose Semons, no known address, for Nov. 20.

Semons admitted the felony charge on condition he receive a suspended state prison sentence and serve up to six months in jail.

San Rafael police arrested Semons after a check cashed at George's Recreation Parlor was returned by the bank as stolen from a Daly City service station May 16.

Semons, who also used the surname Penzur, was identified by a photograph taken by the bartender when he accepted the check, according to police.

First Air Force A7s In Indochina

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three squadrons of single-jet, single-seat A7 fighter-bombers have been ordered to Thailand to replace four squadrons of twin-jet, two-man F4 Phantoms involved in the Vietnam war.

The Defense Department said Tuesday the change would not result in any significant change in military capability and was being made to rotate personnel.

However, it was the first time the Air Force has sent any of its A7s to Southeast Asia. The Navy has operated the aircraft from carriers off the Vietnamese coast.

A Forest Victory For Sierra Club

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—On the grounds that it violated constitutional rights to petition the government, a federal judge has dismissed a suit brought by a timber firm in an effort to prevent the Sierra Club from interfering in national forest management.

The action thrown out Tuesday by Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli in U.S. District Court was a $7 million countersuit filed by the Humboldt Fir Co. of Hoopa.

Attorney John Hoffman, who represented the club, said the ruling confirmed that the rights of groups and individuals to present their views "cannot be strangled by specious laims of interference with government contracts."

The case involves the U.S. Forest Service's review of roadless government lands for possible classification as wilderness areas. No logging is permitted in wilderness areas.

Nitorgen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Turner Trial Suspect Immune

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI)—An associate of Glenn W. Turner decided Monday to turn state's evidence in the securities law violation trial of the flamboyant millionaire.

William F. Humphries III, 23, of Tampa, who had originally been charged along with Turner, was granted immunity from prosecution when he agreed to testify in the Turner trial.

Turner, the 38-year-old son of a South Carolina sharecropper who franchises the inspirational "Dare to be Great" program, is charged with 86 counts of violating Florida's uniform sales of securities act.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The California Regional Water Quality Control Board, North Coast Region, will conduct a public hearing on October 25, 1972, at 1:30 p.m. in the Social Service Conference Room, Sonoma County Administrative Center, Santa Rosa, California, to consider amending the INTERIM WATER QUALITY CONTROL PLAN for the NORTH COASTAL BASIN and the INTERIM WATER QUALITY CONTROL PLAN for the KLAMATH RIVER BASIN, pursuant to the California Water Code, Section 13244, and to consider recommendation of changes in the Municipal Wastewater Treatment Project List for Fical Years 1972-73 through 1976-77, as adopted by the State Water Resources Control Board on July 6, 1972.

The proposed changes in the Interim Plans will include modifications of existing water quality objectives to be consistent with recently adopted State Water Resources Control Board plans and policy. Changes are also being proposed in the facilities plan for water quality control in the Greater Humboldt Bay area and the Russian River Drainage Basin. Proposed changes in the project lists will include project deletions and additions to reflect current planning.

Interested persons will be given the opportunity to present evidence regarding the Interim Plans and project lists. If possible, written comments should be furnished to the Regional Board in advance of the hearings.

Copies of the Interim Plans, current project lists, and proposed changes will be available after October 10, 1972, upon request to this office.

Notice—Civil No. C-71-1245 SC. In the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, United States of America, Plaintiff, vs. 32.52 Acres of Land, more or less, situate in the County of Marin, State of California; HAROLD F. GENAZZI, also known as Harold Genazzi, et al., and UNKNOWN OWNERS, Defendants. To Defendants, the heirs or devisees of Galen Burdell, deceased; and all other persons or parties unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property hereinafter described in this Notice under the designation "unknown owners": You are hereby notified that a complaint in condemnation has heretofore been filed in the office of the Clerk of the above named Court in an action to condemn the following estate and interest in the lands described in Schedule "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof, for use in connection with the construction of housing facilities at Point Reyes for the proposed San Francisco Coast Guard Radio Station, and for such other uses as may be authorized by Congress or by Executive Order: The fee simple title, subject, however, to existing rights of way, easements for public roads and highways, public utilities, and pipelines. The authority for the taking is the Act of Congress approved February 26, 1931 (46 Stat. 1421, 40 U.S.C. 258a); the Act of Congress approved August 1, 1888 (25 Stat.357, 40 U.S.C. 257); 14 U.S.C. 92(f); section 6(b)(1) of the Department of Transportation Act (Public Law 89-670, 80 Stat. 938, 49 U.S.C. 1655 (b) (1); the Act of Congress approved May 21, 1970 (84 Stat. 255, Public Law 91-261) which act authorizes acquisition of a site for the project for which the land is taken; the Act of March 30, 1971 (85 Stat. 12, Public Law 92-7) which act appropriates funds for such purpose; and acts supplementary to and amendatory of the foregoing acts. You are further notified that if you have any objection or defense to the taking of your property, you are required to serve upon plaintiff's attorney at the address herein designated within twenty (20) days after October 18, 1972, an answer identifying the property in which you claim to have an interest, stating the nature and extent of the interest claimed and stating all your objections and defenses to the taking of your property. A failure so to serve an answer shall constitute a consent to the taking and to the authority of the court to proceed to hear the action and to fix the just compensation, and shall constitute a waiver of all defenses and objections not so presented. You are further notified that if you have no objection or defense to the taking, you may serve upon plaintiff's attorney a notice of appearance designating the property in which you claim to be interested, and thereafter you shall receive notice of all proceedings affecting the said property. You are further notified that at the trial of the issue of just compensation, whether or not you have answered or served a notice of appearance, you may present evidence as to the amount of the compensation to be paid for the property in which you have any interest, and you may share in the distribution of the award of compensation. You are further notified that trial by jury of the issue of just compensation is demanded by plaintiff. Dated: September 28, 1972. JAMES L. BROWNING, JR., United States Attorney; By FRANCIS B. Marin 4-H Clubs Set Special Events

Marin County 4-H clubs have scheduled several events for the remainder of this month, climaxed by the festival of the Great Pumpkin on Oct. 28, according to Donald Brittsan of the Farm Adviser's office.

A training school for 4-H officers will be held from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday at Hill Junior High School on Diablo Avenue and Hill Road, Novato. Special classes will be held for presidents and vice presidents, secretaries, treasurers, reporters and song and game leaders.

A seminar on animal diseases will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Humane Education Center, 171 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Novato, for 4-H club members and others.

High school 4-H Club members will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Leslie Hinerman home at 1006 Idylberry Road, San Rafael.

The VIP's (very important puppies) 4-H Club will have an information booth at the Blue Ribbon Dog Breeder's Association Show Oct. 28 at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Civic Center. This group raises puppies for Guide Dogs for the Blind.

The Festival of the Great Pumpkin will start at 11 a.m. Oct. 28 at the mall in Novato's downtown shopping center, sponsored by the Novato Jets for all 4-H Club members.

Prizes will be given for the largest, smallest and most unusual shape of home grown pumpkins; carved or decorated pumpkins for the Linus group, 8 and under; Snoopy group 9 through 11; Lucy Pumpkin Award will be given for best of show.

Retail Sales In U.S. Down 1.5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Retail sales throughout the United States last month were down about 1.5 per cent from August.

The Commerce Department said in a report Tuesday that September retail sales were valued at $37.3 billion, seasonally adjusted—about 6 per cent ahead of a year earlier. Retail sales from July through September were up 2 per cent over the previous three months and up 9 per cent over July-September, 1971.

FORMER FOLIES DANCER

Lilly Silverfield of Greenbrae is becoming known for her colorful mosaics, but few Marinites know of her colorful background as an eccentric dancer hailed throughout Europe in the pre-World War II era. From ballet as a young girl to the famed Bal Tabarin in Paris to a hit revue in New York City to the Folies Bergiere in San Francisco, she had a successful career. The story of Mrs. Silverfield's dancing, well illustrated, and her emergence as an artist in a different field are featured in a story by Dorothy Gardiner in this Saturday's Marin Magazine.

DESPERATION DIVE — Oakland A's first baseman Mike Epstein made this diving try for a foul ball hit by Detroit's Dick McAuliffe yesterday during the third inning of the third game of the American League playoff series. Detroit won, 3-0, and forced the series into today's fourth game.

Coleman's 14-Strikeout Job Prevents Oakland Clinching

DETROIT (UPI)—The comebacking Detroit Tigers sent ace pitcher Mickey Lolich to the mound in the fourth game of the American League playoffs today, confident that they could duplicate their "miracle of 1968."

Thanks to the Tigers' 3-0 victory Tuesday behind record-breaking Joe Coleman, Detroit could have deadlocked the playoffs with another win today and force a showdown finale in a fifth game Thursday. Oakland still needed only a win today or Thursday to reach the World Series.

But after that shutout win by Coleman, the Tigers thought they could roar back all the way —as they did in 1968 when they trailed the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, in games in the World Series and won the next three games to become world champions.

Lolich was the hero of '68, as he won three Series games and the Tigers were sure he'd get them even now.

The A's had 14 batsmen whiffed by Coleman Tuesday in a performance that smashed the American League playoff record of 12 strikeouts set by Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles on Oct. 5, 1970 against the Minnesota Twins.

But the cool Michigan weather, at 55 degrees some 20 degrees colder than Oakland, and Coleman's darting forkballs at least took the steam out of Oakland's headlong rush toward what the A's hope will be their first World Series since 1931.

Three times the A's got men on second and third in the same inning and three times Coleman slammed the door. Twice he did it by striking out dangerous Mike Epstein, and he regarded that as the key to his pitching performance.

It happened right in the first inning when a double by Matty Alou, first of three hits by the pesky outfielder, a walk to Dal Maxvill and a double steal produced runners on second and third. Coleman had helped himself by whiffing Joe Rudi and Jackson, but here was Epstein at the plate and Coleman admits, "He's hurt me in the past."

Martin scampered out to the mound to talk to Coleman. The "book" solution was obvious — walk Epstein intentionally with first base open and let righthander Coleman pitch to righthanded batter Sal Bando instead.

But Martin went against "the

Hardman, Collett Face Goal Rushers

The tone of the little get-together last night between the fans and players sounded somewhat like the sessions when the 49ers were having their lean years.

Fielding the questions from the Marin Chapter, 49er Goal Rushers boosters group were defensive end Cedrick Hardman and special teams player Elmer Collett. You could sense the natives were getting restless. Panic was about to set in. The 49ers had been soundly beaten by the hated Los Angeles Rams Sunday, 31-7, and now the win-loss record was a mediocre 2-2.

HARDMAN TRIED his best to make the 70 fans in the banquet room of Holiday Inn remember the S.F.ers had won a divisional championship the past two years. They needed this reminding. That's why he received a loud round of applause when he said, referring to Sunday's debacle, "One game doesn't make a season. Hang on to your Super Bowl tickets."

Collett, a Marin County home grown product who played at Tamalpais High and College of Marin before making a name for himself at San Francisco State, said "crucial mistakes" cost the Niners the game at Los Angeles. "Those interceptions always hurt, and we failed to make those third down plays."

"We didn't play good 49er defense," said Hardman. "They (the Rams) made the big plays, and Roman Gabriel called a good game. And they had good blocking,"

MARILYN GREENBLAT wanted to know about the importance of a quarterback's emotion during a game, especially that of John Brodie. Collett, being an offensive lineman, caught that one.

"A quarterback has to be cool; he has to be like a machine," said Elmer. "Brodie is the same guy 20 points ahead or 20 points behind. He can't be a cheer leader; that part is up to the individual, the individual's desire."

The same coolness doesn't need to carry over to the defensive captain, in this case the very excitable Frank Nunley, middle linebacker who calls the defensive plays for the 49ers.

"Frank is very emotional," laughed Hardman. "We have to pull him off a referee once in a while." Is there much chatter across the lines between teams? came another question. "Frank always has a lot to say to everybody," said Hardman, grinning.

Another fan who had noticed Collett at 49er games did more hollering on the sidelines than a cheer leader asked him about that.

"I LIKE TO GET involved," he asked. "On the special teams you have to do a lot of watching." And it's hard for a guy like Collett to watch quietly.

Another time when the questions were getting into that pessimistic attitude, Hardman, a number one draft choice out of North Texas State, said it didn't matter if you lost a game by one or 30 points. "Sunday we lost by 24 points, but that won't double our loss total. At the end of the season we can look back and say we lost a game. We will be able to say we are 12 and 2." Applause.

One youngster in the audience wanted to know which quarterbacks were the hardest for Hardman to tackle. He named Greg Landry of Detroit, Roger Staubach of Dallas, Fran Tarkenton of Minnesota and Joe Namath of the New York Jets. He named Tarkenton on what he had seen, admitting, "I haven't ever played against him yet." That day will come on the 49ers' final game of the season, Dec. 16 in Candlestick Park. Beware, Fran.

HARDMAN BROUGHT his wife of one year, Marilyn, to the dinner and she smiled from her table when he answered some of the loaded questions with a simple "yes" or "no" or "I think so." She told me before the meeting started that being from Houston, she had always been an Oilers' fan.

Overhearing this bit of information, the 6-foot-3, 252-pound Hardman turned and said, "That was before. She's no Oiler fan anymore."

Right on, Cedrick.

Schedule To Begin For WHA

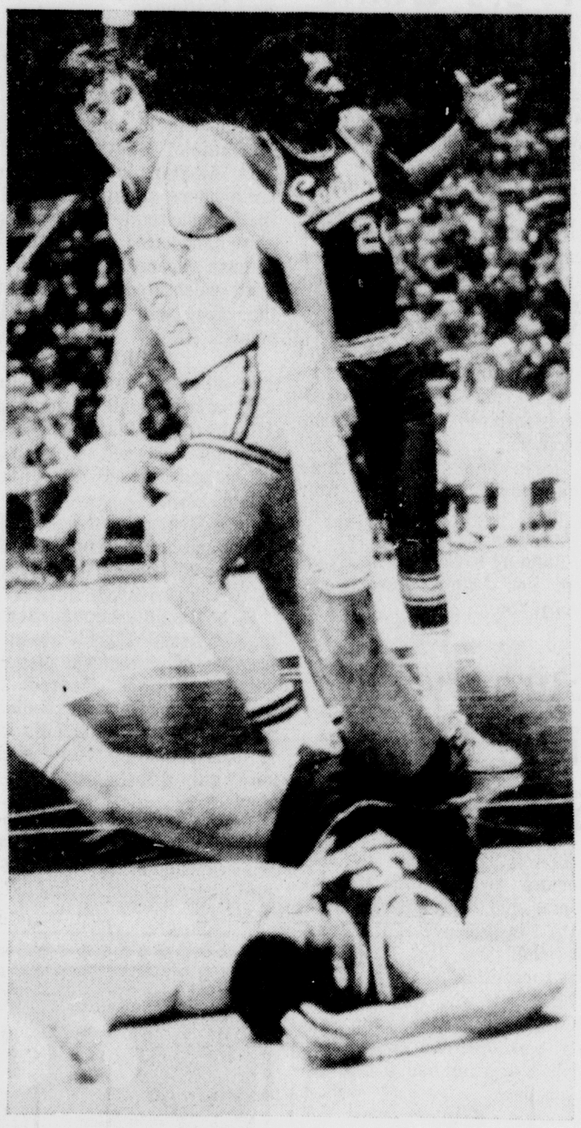
By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The World Hockey Association, after spending a long summer ravaging the lineups of rival National Hockey League clubs, initiates its first season of on-ice activity tonight with games scheduled at Ottawa and Cleveland.

A league spokesman said sellouts were expected for both contests, with crowds of up to 10,000 people in attendance. Ottawa will be host to the Alberta Oilers and Cleveland will be at home to the Quebec Nordiques.

Some 60 men who skated with NHL clubs last season were lured away by WHA gold. The most notable defector was Bobby Hull, who jumped from the Chicago Black Hawks to the Winnipeg Jets, but his status currently is being decided in a Philadelphia law court. If a favorable ruling is returned today, Hull would be able to play with the Jets when they open their season in New York Thursday.

Cleveland's most outstanding name is goaltender Gerry Cheevers, who set a record of playing in 32 consecutive unbeaten games for the Stanley Cup champion Boston Bruins last season. He will be tending goal tonight for the Crusaders, who also have Gerry Pinder and Gary Jarrett from the California Golden Seals.



BAD POSITION

BASKETBALL WIN STREAK ENDS AT 28

Marin Catholic High School's 28-game winning streak in Class C basketball was ended yesterday by the Drake "C" cagers in a Marin County Athletic League-opening game at Marin Catholic.

The Drake Pirates, led by Mike Leach's 10-points, edged the Wildkittens, 40-39, ending the streak which carried through three seasons. Mike Koenig led Marin with 12 points.

San Marin Grabs Prep Soccer Lead

San Marin High School gained sole possession of first place in Marin County Athletic League soccer standings yesterday, as the Mustangs shut out visiting Marin Catholic, 3-0, while Redwood was losing to Novato, 1-0.

Andy Justianiano, Ed Jones and Bruce Vollerd each scored for San Marin as the surprising Mustangs took over the league lead.

Standings

San Marin 4-1, Redwood 3-2, San Rafael 3-2, Terra Linda 3-2, Drake 2-2-1, Novato 2-2-1, Tamalapis 1-3-1, Marin Catholic 0-4-1.

San Marin Water Polo Team Tops Novato, 10-4

It was a big day for the San Marin High School water polo team yesterday, as the Mustangs beat arch rival Novato for the time in the school's history, 10-4.

In other Marin County Athletic League matches, league-leading Terra Linda continued its winning ways, smothering Drake, 8-3, while Redwood drowned Tamalpais, 12-2. San Rafael drew a bye.

Redwood had an easy time of it beating Tamalpais, as Giant Tom Schindler contributed five goals and Warren Lager scored three. Tam continued to falter in the standings, slipping back to fourth place, while Redwood moved up a notch to third.

Standings

Swedish Players Fail In WHA Bid

HIBBING, Minn. (UPI)—Swedish hockey stars Ulf Sterner and Bennie Anderson were released by the Chicago Cougars of the World Hockey Association Tuesday.

A club spokesman said both had broken training rules several times and Coach Marcel Pronovost commented, "If a man can't take care of himself, I'm not going to baby sit."

CINCINNATI, 7-1

Reds' 'Laugher' Triumph Forces Decisive 5th Game

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Today was to be the day the National League winner is decided and if you're not sure who it'll be, you pay your money and take your choice—righthander Steve Blass of the Pittsburgh Pirates or southpaw Don Gullett of the Cincinnati Reds.

With the best-of-five series tied at was games apiece following the Reds' 7-1 "laugher" Tuesday, the winner of today's contest goes straight into the World Series against the American League champion. Ross Grimsley, a 22-year-old lefty, held the hard-hitting Pirates to two hits — both by Roberto Clemente.

The Reds, meanwhile, touched four Pittsburgh pitchers for 11 hits and were aided by three Pirate errors which directly accounted for the first three Cincinnati runs.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, who had predicted the two evenly-matched divisional champions would need five games to decide the pennant, attributed the Reds' Tuesday success primarily to Grimsley.

"No matter who wins tomorrow (Wednesday)," Anderson said, "I think today's game was the big one. If we get into the World Series, Grimsley is the guy who got us there."

But it was the Pirates' defense, or lack of defense, which doomed starter and loser Dock Ellis despite the fact Pittsburgh Manager Bill Virdon said Ellis "threw the best stuff of the series."

The Reds got an unearned run in the first inning off Ellis when, with runners on first and third, catcher Manny Sanguillen, hero of Monday's Pirate victory, threw the ball into center field in an attempt to nail Johnny Bench trying to steal.

It remained 1-0 until the fourth inning when the roof caved in defensively again on Ellis, with the Reds picking up two more unearned tallies.

Bench scored from second on the error and when Alley fired wildly to the plate, Geronimo raced all the way to third from where he scored on a bunt single by shortstop Darrel Chaney.

Two other Cincinnati runs in the seventh inning came as the result of Pirate misplays. Bobby Tolan received credit for a triple and Denis Menke a single when leftfielder Rennie Stennett lost both their fly balls in the sun.

"I don't like to recall games like that," said Virdon, who refused to blame Stennett, normally an infielder, for his problems with the sun.

Oakland's Traffic Problems

Should the Oakland Athletics wind up in the World Series, they would host the middle three games Oct. 17-18-19 with a 5:15 p.m. starting time.

Thus not only would 50,000-plus spectators battle the commuter jam on the Nimitz Freeway, but it would also conflict with the Golden State Warriors basketball home opener set for Oct. 17 at 8 p.m. and the California Golden Seals hockey home opener set for Oct. 18, at 8 p.m.

Finley is so busy getting ready for the baseball series, that he hasn't had time to yet think about the hockey opener.

Early Test Case Of TV Football

(First of Series)

When pro football adopted the 75-mile blackout ban on television of home games there were one million TV sets in the country. That was more than two decades ago. Now there are hundreds of millions of TV sets in the country and there is great public clamor for a lift of the ban.

Congress is not insensitive to the clamor. Indeed, the president himself let it be known through a White House spokesman that he will sign a bill to end the ban if Congress sends it to him.

ONE PENDING BILL in Congress is a tough one that would end all blackouts by all sports — football, baseball, basketball and hockey. Another would bar home game blackouts if the contest is a sellout 48 hours before game time.

Sen. John O. Pastore, Rhode Island Democrat who is chairman of the Senate communications subcommittee, is author of the 48-hour pre-game sellout bill. Last week Pete Rozelle, pro football commissioner, appeared before Pastore's committee.

"Human nature is such that when people get accustomed to having something free they are not likely to be enthusiastic about paying for it on other occasions," Rozelle testified.

"IN MY OPINION the bill being here proposed would in essence be self-defeating. It would virtually assure that in a period of a few years there would be no such thing as a sellout and therefore no local television. At the same time it would have made non-buyers of former fans."

Pastore told Rozelle to "think it over" and come up with a voluntary plan to end the National Football League's blackout policy or Congress would legislate it out of existence. Rozelle said he would think about it.

Instead of stating his opinion and making the kind of tongue-in-cheek observation he did about human nature, Rozelle should have cited facts and let them speak for themselves. Facts, not opinions, invariably carry more weight with sharp-minded senators.

PERHAPS ROZELLE momentarily forgot the facts of how it all started — the blackout ban. If he did, pro football owners shouldn't be too severe with him because he still was a college boy in 1950 at University of San Francisco when Dan Reeves, late owner of the Rams, made an experiment in television.

Reeves was trying to learn what would happen if he presented his football team on home television while trying to fill the Los Angeles Coliseum the same afternoon. Reeves found out. People stayed home.

That was good enough for Reeves and Bert Bell, then NFL commissioner. Their solution was the 75-mile blackout. No television would be shown within a radius of 75 miles of a home game.

IN 1952 THE Justice Department brought suit against the NFL charging that the blackout policy violated antitrust laws. Bell told NFL club owners the TV blackout was vital to protect their home gates. The owners came up with $200,000 to finance the NFL's defense of the suit.

On Nov. 12, 1953, Judge Alan K. Grim in Federal District Court of Pennsylvania upheld the blackout.

There was great rejoicing among those club owners who enjoyed the benefits from individually negotiated TV contracts. Other club owners didn't really get excited about the golden egg of TV until a decade later when the NFL, now under Rozelle's guidance, negotiated a package deal with TV — a deal that triggered another antitrust suit because of its package nature.

(Tomorrow: NFL loses this time)

Two Teams Said Eying New Orleans

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)— Two major league baseball teams are seriously considering moving to New Orleans within the next two or three seasons, according to Louisiana Superdome Director Ben Levy.

Levy said Tuesday two club owners have told him they were ready to move to the giant sports arena being erected in New Orleans. But he said the club owners were not discussing the matter publicly for fear of dwindling attendance at games in their current home cities.

"I have been told by baseball officials and team owners 'be patient, baseball is going to be knocking at your door with the kind of facility you people in Louisiana are building,'" Levy told a Kiwanis Club meeting.

"I have been assured unofficially that we will have a full baseball franchise by 1975," he said.

book" and told Coleman to "challenge" Epstein. He explained later, "My pitcher (Coleman) doesn't pitch well with the bases loaded."

"I changed my pitching style for this game," Coleman explained. "Usually I am a high fastball pitcher, but I decided to rely on my low forkball instead and it was working well."

Martin, who became a winning manager in a playoff game for the first time after five straight losses as skipper of the Minnesota Twins and the Tigers, also looked like a genius on the Tigers' first two runs in the fourth inning. They were driven in by Ike Brown, a Martin sub at first base.

Nolan Says Defense Cost 49ers Game

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) —Coach Dick Nolan, emerging from a look at films of Sunday's 31-7 loss to Los Angeles, said his San Francisco 49ers defenders were too busy trying to help each other out.

"It was often a case defensively of someone trying to take care of someone else's position and not taking care of their own," the 49er mentor said. "And we just missed some tackles, too. They came at us and played better football."

San Francisco hosts the suddenly-inspired New York Giants Sunday.

Surgery On Two Giants Successful

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)— Doctors at Stanford Medical Center said Tuesday surgery on San Francisco Giants Juan Marichal and Jim Ray Hart was successful.

Marichal, who won only six games while losing 16 this season, was operated on for correction of a lumbar disc in the lower back.

Hart went into surgery for correction of a tear in the lateral cartilage of the left knee. He suffered the injury while fielding a groundball near the end of the season.

Both players were operated on Monday.

Knicks Win Despite Loss Of Star Reed

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Knicks must be running their game situations on carbon copies. They went to the 1972 playoff finals without injured Willis Reed and are off to a fine start in the 1972-73 season minus their beloved leader.

Reed, sidelined for five games by a bruised thigh muscle, watched his mates roll to a 113-89 victory over the Seattle SuperSonics Tuesday night. The score could have been worse, but Coach Red Holzman showed some mercy by playing his scrubs for most of the last quarter after New York built a 33-point lead.

BRADLEY

Dollar Bill Bradley, despite being penalized with three quick fouls, scored a game high 26 points for New York. Dave DeBusschere, the Knicks' other starting forward, netted 18. They were better than .500 from the floor as they combined for 20 of 36 attempts.

John Brisker, recruited from the American Basketball Association after the Pittsburgh franchise was disbanded, led Seattle with 16 points and Jim McDaniels, another former ABA All-Star, added 14. Brisker,a more prolific scorer in the junior circuit, was considerably handcuffed by Bradley's defense. Spencer Haywood, a third celebrated ABA star of the past, was limited to 12 points.

SCORES

In other action marking the start of a new NBA campaign, Atlanta ripped Buffalo, 120-109; Baltimore downed Cleveland, 102-90, and Chicago beat Philadelphia, 95-89.

Pete Maravich scored 34 points and Lou Hudson added 32 in Atlanta's victory over Buffalo.

Rich Rinaldi, taking advantage of Archie Clark's absence because of a contract dispute with Baltimore, scored 26 points in leading the Bullets past Cleveland. Rinaldi hit on 12 floor shots—his entire total for 39 games last season was a mere 42.

Bob Weiss scored nine straight points in the final period as Chicago overcame a 65-63 third quarter Philadelphia deficit.

PREP OF THE WEEK

Terra Linda Football Star Really Attends San Rafael

By LEW CODDINGTON

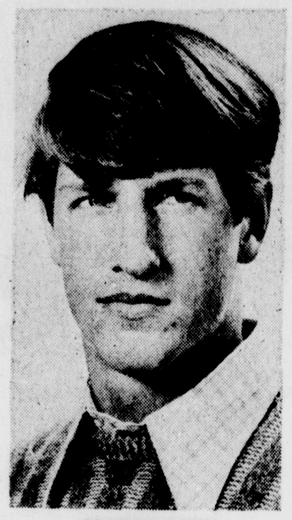
One of the finest athletes now attending San Rafael High School plays football for Terra Linda, which must come as a disappointment to people who believe in good, old-fashioned interscholastic rivalry.

He is Scott Logan, who last week starred on both offense and defense as Terra Linda grabbed its long-overdue first victory, a 16-8 conquest of San Marin, and thereby became the Independent-Journal Prep of the Week.

Logan gained 69 yards in six carries, including a 42-yard touchdown run, as a fullback in the Trojans' Wishbone offense. He also starred as a linebacker as his team shut off San Marin's balanced attack, which had averaged 28.7 points a game before Saturday.

Although technically a student at Terra Linda, Logan attends classes at San Rafael under the district's Nexus program, a loosely structured interdisciplinary program which attempts to relate various aspects of differing areas of study.

Among his classmates in Nexus is Lance Loughlin, San Rafael quarterback and last week's Prep of the Week. Things may get interesting next week, as the two stars prepare for the Oct. 21 clash between the Bulldogs and the Trojans.



SCOTT LOGAN
San Rafael Trojan

Logan stands 6-foot-1 and weighs 175 pounds, which is not the size of your typical fullback. "We don't worry about size too much at Terra Linda," he says.

A senior, Logan was not a starter last year, but took over quickly this season. "I felt I would be a starter this year," he said. "I have no preference for either offense or defense. The defensive system we have this year is better for me — it has a lot more versatility and the terminology is simpler.

"Playing two ways is not much of a problem. I get as much rest as I need, because I alternate with Steve Withers (also a star linebacker) at fullback. Besides, we're all in good physical shape. The coaches have us run 100-yard wind sprints every day, and I did a lot of running in the off-season. I was in my best shape ever when practice started this fall."

Logan also plays basketball. He was a reserve forward last year and intends to switch to forward this season.

Logan carries a 3.2 (B) average in school and is undecided about his college plans. "I may go to Cal or San Francisco State," he said. He is undecided about his major, but is leaning to history, and like Loughlin doesn't intend to continue playing football.

He was a member of Terra Linda's student council last year, but is involved in no such activities this year, and primarily devotes his attention to studies and football.

Meloche In Net As Seals Seek To Even Mark

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The California Golden Seals will have goalie Gilles Meloche tending the net as they try to even their National Hockey League record tonight against the Minnesota North Stars.

Garry Young, the team's coach and general manager, said yesterday he had picked Meloche as starting goalie, with Marv Edwards his back-up, and had sent third-stringer Lyle Carter to the Seals' Western Hockey League farm team in Salt Lake City.

Young said it would be "a month" or so before he settles on all starters for his defensive and offensive lineup.

Drug Investigation Involves Pepitone

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

CHICAGO — A Federal investigation of hard drug traffic in Chicago's Rus Street night club district has sought employe records of a lounge owned by Joe Pepitone, Chicago Cubs first baseman, Federal officials said yesterday.

Michael Fitzsimmons, regional director of the Office of Drug Abuse Law Enforcement (ODALE), said, "This is a broad scale investigation which has been proceeding since June. There are no indictments pending. We would hope that in time there would be some indictments, prosecutions, convictions. "The Pepitone place cannot be singled out above or before any of the others under investigation."

BOATING

Electronic Ignition Is Very Effective

All the manufacturers of outboard motors have introduced their new 1973 lines, and it's interesting, and gratifying, to note that electronic ignition is being used on many more engines.

This advanced system is the best invention for the piston engine since the self starter.

There seems no doubt that our present piston engines will ultimately be superseded by rotary engines of the Wankel type, or turbines, but the electronic ignition will certainly allow the piston to put up a longer fight.

Electronic ignition is being used on many 1973 snowmobiles, and as an option on many high performance cars.

Thousands of people have never heard of it, but those who have ask questions:

Q. This new ignition has no breaker-points. How does it work? Is it as good as the people who have bought it say it is?

A. Instead of breaker points the new ignition has a small copper disk rotating between the poles of a magnet. Slots in the disk produce electric pulses which, through a transistor circuit, trigger the discharge of a condenser or capacitor to produce the spark across the points of the sparkplug. This is the Mercury system. In the Johnson, Evinrude system a rotating magnet is used. In both systems there is nothing to wear, no points to burn. It's probably better than the enthusiastic supporters believe it is.

Q. What's the proper scientific name for the system?

A. An electronic engineer might call it a "magnetic pulse-capacitor discharge system.

Q. Will it start an engine better?

A. Here's a test I ran myself. Six sparkplugs were taken out of an outboard motor with conventional ignition. They were so fouled the engine would not run. They were put in an engine with the new ignition. It was wetted down with a hose. The battery was so flat that its voltage, normally 12, measured only four volts. The motor started on the second crank with the starter cord and ran smoothly.

Q. Why is it so effective. . .?

A. An engineer's explanation — It does it because of a faster rise in the voltage (or electrical pressure) which makes the spark jump the gap. In older systems the current "leaked" across a fouled plug before the pressure got high enough to make it jump the gap. In the new ignition the gush of current is so fast it doesn't have time to go anywhere but across the gap.

A. Thunderbolt, Power Pulse or Magnapower. (An automobile system is called Delcotronic.)

Q. If it's so good, why isn't it on all cars?

A. The auto industry has such a tremendous vested interest in the garage and auto repair industry that it can't rock the boat too rapidly. Any garage mechanic can repair the present breaker-point-spark-coil system — which, it must be admitted, is pretty good. The electronic system has to be pulled out as a unit and repaired by experts with sophisticated instruments.

JUST ANOTHER TINY BASEBALL FAN

With the stadium dark and deserted after yesterday's National League playoff game in Cincinnati, a 2½-year-old baseball fan went sneaking and peeking around. Will he be caught and punished? Hardly. He is Pete Rose, Jr., son of the Reds' star outfielder.

Final Arguments Set In Hockey Litigation

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Opposing attorneys were scheduled to present their final arguments today in a legal showdown between the National Hockey League and the new World Hockey Association.

U.S. District Judge A. Leon Higginbotham ordered the attorneys to return to his chambers after they told him Tuesday they were unable to reach agreement on contract disputes between the NHL and the WHA.

All major legal actions stemming from the dispute between the two leagues have been consolidated before Higginbotham. The cases involved NHL players, including Chicago Black Hawks superstar Bobby Hull, who jumped to the WHA.

The NHL claims that the players violated their contracts; the WHA says the reserve clause in the older league's player contracts violates federal anti-trust laws.

Higginbotham entered the case when John McKenzie, former Boston Bruins star, filed an anti-trust suit against the NHL claiming that the reserve clause denied players the right to negotiate contracts with teams outside the league.

McKenzie has signed a $300,000 contract to serve as player-coach of the Philadelphia Blazers of the WHA.

On Monday, Higginbotham said that hockey, unlike baseball, should not be immune from federal anti-trust laws.

THE INJURY PROBLEM

Stanford, Washington Hit

OAKLAND (UPI) —Stanford and Washington collide Saturday in a Key Pacific Eight football game at Palo Alto and each team will be missing some key performers.

From Seattle comes word that running back Darrell Downey is out for the season with torn ligaments while wide receiver Tom Scott will miss at least the Stanford game with knee problems.

Coach Jack Christiansen told the Northern California sports writers Tuesday that explosive John Winesberry reinjured an ankle and will probably miss the Husky affair.

In addition, Pierre Perreault, who has been bothered by a broken finger, "has lost all enthusiasm for football and is leaving both the team and school.

Concerning the wild 30-21 loss to USC, Christiansen commented that "breaks—or mistakes, depending on which way you look at it—hurt us a lot. But I think everybody is in good spirits; we lost, but I think we played fairly well."

Coach John McKay of USC had commented he wanted to win "by 2000 points" after the game and had a few other choice insults for Stanford, but Christiansen declined rebuttal comment "because anything I said would only sound like sour grapes. When a fellow (McKay) has so much hate in him, it's no good saying anything."

He indicated he was seriously considering alternating two or three of them Saturday against USC.

White praised the play of receiver Steve Sweeney, who has tied the Cal career records for receptions (100), and TD passes (12).

The writers honored UOP linebacker Larry Mankins, a stickout in the 17-0 blanking of Fresno State, and San Jose State defensive back Phil Duncan who pilfered two passes against San Diego State.

They also saluted Cal Aggies quarterback Bob Biggs, the nation's small college passing leader after a 23-for-38 for 399 yard performance against San Francisco State, and Jim Data'rice of St. Mary's, who ran for 103 yards and two touchdowns in the 22-10 win over Occidental.

Redwood Rips Foe In Cross-Country

Kennedy's varsity had not lost a dual meet in over two years, and had never lost on its home course, but Redwood runners took the first six places, and all eclipsed the previous course record of 13:35. In order, they were Jan-Eric Moller, the winner in 13:12, Dave Brainerd, Pete Sweeney, Mike Killeen, Ned Overend and Pete Demarais.

Court Hears Debate On Abortion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee moved quickly today to consider a House-passed bill to put a $250 billion ceiling on spending this fiscal year—with the President authorized to make cuts to stay within the limits.

But the measure encountered strong opposition from key Democratic leaders.

Both Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the committee, and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield voiced dissatisfaction with the legislation which President Nixon said is a must if tax increases are to be avoided.

The committee arranged for Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz to testify this afternoon on the proposal while Mansfield and his Republican counterpart, Sen. Hugh Scott, argued about it on the Senate floor.

Mansfield said that to empower the President to cut spending authorized by Congress as he wishes would be to make Congress "a second-class branch" of government.

"It seriously infringes on the congressional power of the purse which under the Constitution is the keystone, the capstone of congressional power," he said.

Countering, Scott said: "It's simple. If we have a spending limit, we don't get a tax increase. If we don't have a spending limit, it will be Congress' fault that we will have to have a tax increase."

Nixon has argued he must have the debt ceiling to prevent a tax increase next year, and some Democrats have warned their colleagues that Nixon will harm them politically if Congress doesn't go along with his plan.

"You're playing with your own political lives and destinies when you vote" against the Nixon proposal, warned Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., who championed the administration bill. He made the statement Tuesday shortly before the House approved the bill 221-163.

(Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-6th District noted for the measure.)

"Nixon has got you over a barrel," said Rep. Joe D. Waggonner Jr., D-La., and Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., said "this bill has good political impact for the President and he's going to hold it to us if we don't vote him this power in a political year."

Senate Panel Moves On Spending Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawyers for the state of Texas, defending their anti-abortion law, contended before the Supreme Court today that life begins with conception — and from that instant on, the unborn fetus is a "person" as far as constitutional rights are concerned.

At issue is a law on the books in Texas and 30 other states which makes abortion a crime unless it is necessary to save the mother's life.

On the opposite side of the issue was Mrs. Sarah R. Weddington of Austin, Tex., representing a group of citizens trying to get the law overturned. She told the nine black-robed justices that lower court rulings have so far indicated a fetus should not be considered a "person" with rights equal to all others.

Robert C. Flowers, assistant attorney general for the state of Texas, said "upon conception we have a human being."

But Mrs. Weddington told the Court that the state has no "compelling interest" that would justify interference with the "fundamental Constitutional right" of a woman to bear a child or not as she chooses.

Both lawyers were questioned continually from the bench, mostly by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Potter Stewart, Byron R. White and Harry A. Blackmun. Blackmun suggested that the medical profession itself is not in agreement as to when life begins.

White said if it begins at the moment of conception, as Texas insists, the state would have great trouble "permitting an abortion for any reason."

Flowers responded that the matter would then become a balancing of interests.

Mrs. Weddington, wearing a soft green knit suit, spoke of the "irreparable injury" done to a woman who is forced to carry an unwanted child.

Health Plans To Remain Cool

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI) — Prime Minister Edward Heath has made it clear he will maintain a cool and confident posture despite growing grass-roots criticism in his governing Convervative party which convened its annual meeting today.

Resolutions for debate voiced concern about inflation, unemployment, growing violence in the cities, the continuing Northern Ireland crisis, and the influx, now well under way, of thousands of Asian holders of British passports expelled from Uganda.

Heath was not scheduled to address the convention until Saturday.

Pot-In-Jail Suspect Is Bound Over

Eugene Milton Paine, 18, of Vacaville, was bound over yesterday to Marin Superior Court on a charge of having marijuana inside Marin County Jail, but the case of a codefendant was continued until tomorrow in order to schedule a new date for preliminary hearing.

Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court ordered Paine to appear in the higher court Monday, but continued the case of Robert Elton Yates, 18, of San Rafael, when the public defender said he cannot defend both because of a conflict.

The two were arrested Sept. 30 after a sheriff's deputy smelled what he thought was marijuana and found a small bag of possible marijuana in their cell.

Paine was in jail at the time for driving without a license, but was released daily on work furlough. Yates was then serving a sentence for burglary, but was allowed to attend classes at College of Marin.

BART's Auto-Stop Controls 'Fail Often'

OAKLAND (UPI) — A Bay Area Rapid Transit train operator testified Tuesday he had had to use the emergency stop button "lots of times" when automatic equipment failed to operate properly.

"Just yesterday it happened about eight times," operator Dana Black told a state Public Utilities Commission hearing into the Oct. 2 BART accident which injured five persons.

It was disclosed Monday that the accident was caused when a tiny cystal oscillator on the train transmitted the wrong signal from the system's central control and the train ran off the end of the track at the Fremont station.

Black, who witnessed the accident, told the hearing that last Monday he had to use the emergency button eight times during a orthbound run, and a technician boarded the train when he reported the situation.

PG&E Agrees To Nuclear Study

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. has agreed to additional studies on the potential environmental effects of nuclear power plant in hopes to build at Pt. Arena.

"We see no reason to change our evaluation of the site as being suitable for a nuclear plant, but in the interest of responding to questions raised by the U.S. Geological Survey office, the additional studies will be conducted," PG&E announced yesterday.

The giant utility said Dr. Richard H. Jahns, Stanford University geology professor, and an assistant will perform seismic investigations at Pt. Arena.

Plea Of Innocent To Grass Charge

Daniel Owen West, 21, of San Francisco pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony count of having marijuana and a preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 31.

West was arrested Thursday by the California Highway Patrol after a car in which he was a passenger was stopped in San Francisco for a traffic violation on Highway 101.

AT&T Rings Happy Note With Report

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Interest seems to have revived in American Tel. & Tel. stock recently. Why has this happened all of a sudden when the market is going down? Do you think this will continue and is the stock a buy at this level? — H. K.

A. Ma Bell, the communications giant, had a happy message for shareholders recently with its raised dividend and earnings report — primary catalysts behind the issue's strength in past sessions. American Tel. & Tel. reported a 15 cent gain in per-share net to $1.10 from the year-earlier period's 95 cents. Revenues for the three months rose to $5.26 billion from the $4.63 billion recorded the previous year. Further bolstering shares was a statement by Chairman John D. deButts saying that these statistics provided strong assurance that significant improvement will be forthcoming in 1972s full-year earnings.

Among the factors cited which aided results were rate increases granted the Bell System companies in 1972. Thus far this year, AT&T has granted some $600 million from regulatory agencies in annual rate hikes and the firm is actively seeking $1.3 billion more. Even more credit was accorded to what the executive termed "unrelenting discipline" by the Bell firms in cutting costs, improving efficiencies and controlling capital outlays.

The company reported that new telephones were installed at a record rate for the period, while long distance dialing — another good growth yardstick — rose 11 per cent from the like period in 1971. In short, greater demand in nearly all of AT&T's business areas plus cost controls created a pace which should carry through the remainder of 1972 and beyond.

This is indeed encouraging news for AT&T followers; and as earnings continue this upward trend, AT&T stock should gradually return to higher trading levels. At this juncture, the issue represents an attractive vehicle not only for the conservative income investor — sporting a dividend returning 6 per cent — but for investors interested in possible price recovery over the intermediate to long term. Purchase is justified.

Market On Mixed Side At Opening

Prices also moved lower on the American Stock Exchange. Overseas Shipholding was the most active stock, off 3-8 to 22 3-8 on 44,700 shares.

NEW PINTO

Ford Division's Pinto for 1973 features an impact-absorbing bumper system and standard front bumper guards. Pinto comes in a two-door sedan, a three-door Runabout and a station wagon. Marin dealers are Lyons-Ryan Ford in San Rafael, J & B Ford Sales in Corte Madera and Novato Auto Sales.

CHEVROLET VEGA

Available in four models, the 1973 Vega is offered in both hatchback and notchback coupe versions, as well as Kammback wagon and panel express truck. The exterior nameplate ornamentation is changed from "Chevrolet Vega 2300" to "Vega by Chevrolet"

Introduction date for all Chevrolets was Sept. 21. Chevrolet dealers in Marin are DeLong in San Rafael, Campbell-Bishop in Corte Madera, Cheda in Point Reyes Station, and Empire in Novato.

New Marin County Paper Due Publication Within A Month

A new Marin County newspaper called Marin Monitor is expected to start publication in a month or two in San Rafael.

Three Marin residents have formed a $1,500,000 corporation to operate the Marin Monitor. The directors are Kurt Raeth of Mill Valley, Mike Davis of Mill Valley, and Allan Ross of Lagunitas. Temporary office of the new publication is at 899 Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael, "but we're looking for a permanent site somewhere in the Northgate shopping area," said Ross.

Ross described himself and his two colleagues as experienced in the printing field. He said the corporation is conducting a marketing research to determine whether or not the newspaper should be a daily.

Ross declined further comment, explaining that announcements on the details of the publication and its principals will be issued in about a month.

MONTESSORI SCHOOL is scheduled to open late this month in a brand new building at 317 Auburn Street in San Rafael, near Woodland Avenue at California Park.

Owner of the school is Yvonne Van Boeckel of Greenbrae, who conducted the first Montessori School in Marin County in 1963 and has been with the school ever since. In 1967, she opened her own Montessori School at 279 Jacoby Street but gave up the building last June and started building her own school on Auburn Street.

Dolan

ARTHUR J. DOLAN III of Tiburon, assistant vice president in Wells Fargo Bank's head office national division, San Francisco, graduated from the Pacific Coast School of Banking in Seattle. Dolan joined Wells Faro Bank in 1969.

The school, sponsored by the bankers associations of 10 western states, requires a three-year course in advanced banking and management for graduation.

ORTHO MATTRESS Co. quietly opened its new San Rafael store today, across the street from courthouse square at 1009 Fourth Street, former site of Manor House and Lachman Brothers.

Manager of the store is Bruce Allen, who formerly managed the company's Pleasant Hill store on Monument Boulevard, between Pleasant Hill and Concord. The store carries mattresses, sofa sleepers, corner units, and various bed accessories.

The San Rafael store's 35,000 square feet of floor area makes it the largest of the 13 stores owned by Ortho Mattress in the Bay Area. The store will be open seven days a week. Weekday hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturdays 10 to 6, and Sundays noon to 6.

CAPITAL PLANNING Associates Inc. and its subsidiaries will hold an open house for invited guests tomorrow afternoon at its new office in Novato, 97 San Marin Drive.

The financial planning firm was located at 121 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park for about two and one-half years before it moved last month to its new quarters on San Marin Drive, across the street from the firehouse.

ROBERT S. LANSCHE, 16-year resident of San Rafael Meadows, has been named distributor for Master Industries of Denver, which sells motivational leadership and manpower development programs. At present, he and his wife Marge are working out of their home at 319 Corrillo Drive under the name of Romar Marketing Associates.

They will launch their new business by conducting a seminar at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Thur.) at Holiday Inn in San Rafael. Donald Smith, regional vice president of Master Industries, will help conduct the seminar.

Blue Chip Reports Six Month Earnings

Blue Chip Stamps reported earnings before securities losses of $3,086,000 or 60 cents per share for the six months ended Sept 2, 1972, a decrease of 7 cents per share from the first half earnings of last year.

A cash dividend of 6 cents per share will be paid Nov. 6 to stockholders of record Oct. 16.

Watson Initiative Not Tax Reduction

Advocates of Proposition 14 are telling us that it will "cut your property tax bill 40 per cent. Only you can vote tax relief!" they are shouting.

These proponents include the California Real Estate Association, Farm Bureau Federation, Cattlemen's Association, State Association of County Assessors, and various apartment house and homeowner groups, plus some boards of supervisors and chambers of commerce.

Opponents are telling us that Proposition 14 will increase sales taxes by 40 per cent, double some consumer taxes, reduce school support by $700 million and eliminate local control over school finance, and create deficits totaling one billion dollars or more statewide.

These opponents include the League of California Cities, League of Women Voters, California Teachers Association, California School Boards Association, California Council of Parents and Teachers, County Supervisors Association of California, and many other groups — including boards of supervisors, chambers of commerce and homeowner associations.

WHO, THEN, can we believe?

Perhaps it's wiser to forget who is for and who is against and what they say and look at Proposition 14 itself.

This proposition would amend the state constitution to limit the property tax to 1.75 per cent of market value, except for payment of debts.

To arrive at this percentage, it sets limits on the tax rate per $100 assessed valuation for $2 for a county, $2 for a city, $2 for schools, 50 cents for all intra-county agencies in any county, and 50 cents for all inter-county agencies. These add up to $7. On the present assessment ratio of 25 per cent of market value, that represents 1.75 per cent of the market value.

THIS WOULD NOT produce enough money. So Proposition 14 provides that the state would take over all welfare costs and would increase its school support to $825 per pupil.

To do this, Proposition 14 would add two cents to the sales tax, increase the cigarette tax to 20 cents per pack, sharply increase the tax on alcoholic beverages, and apply a few new taxes.

This still would not be enough. Opponents say there would still be deficits, statewide, totaling one billion dollars or more. Proponents admit there would be deficits, but say they'd be much smaller.

THERE ARE TWO simple ways to escape the bind:

The Legislature can increase the state income tax. No doubt it will do so.

County assessors can jack up their appraisals of "fair market value." No doubt they will do so.

If Proposition 14 is passed, your property tax bills will not be cut 40 per cent. The schools will not go bankrupt. There will not be statewide deficits. None of the things predicted by either side will happen.

You will simply pay more taxes to the state and maybe a little less to the county — and lose all local control of schools in the bargain.

Proposition 14 changes the tax setup. It does not reduce taxes. It does not deserve passage.

State's Legal Advocates —For Panderers And Pot

By RUS WALTON

When I was a kid, back on the farm, a lawyer was someone to look up to. He was a pillar of the community; usually on the school board or the county freeholders or a deacon in the church. When things got messed up, John Q. Esquire could be counted on to straighten them out.

I must say that I am not inclined to look up to lawyers today. At least, not the ones in the California State Bar Association.

The delegates endorsed the legalization and licensing of prostitutes and houses of prostitution. They also sanctioned a 15 per cent commission for pimps who pander and provide certain services and supplies to the ladies of the evening.

The central argument in favor of endorsing prostitution and pandering was that as long as such activities are illegal, it forces young women into a life of crime. Some reasoning, that! It suggests that the way to abolish crime is to abolish law.

THE BARRISTERS did not stop there. They also gave their vote of approval to Proposition 19 — the initiative that would decriminalize the growing and the use of marijuana.

They did, indeed, go further. They also sanctioned the sale of marijuana on the open market. Pot, said the pillars of the bar, should be legalized and licensed by the state and sold under the same controls as beer and wine.

I must assume that these delegates of the law have their own vision of some brave new world — some future society wherein whores flaunt the state's seal of good housekeeping and marijuana is avilable across the counter. The state, of course, would reap the monetary rewards for sponsoring such degradation.

Well, the state is I, by proxy. And I want no income derived from peddling flesh or pushing pot. These lawyers move in the wrong direction; liberty is what we need more of, not license.

I do not like the future they envision. It smacks of Dante's inferno in living color. And in that I see no future at all.

THERE ARE, to be sure, many fine attorneys in this state. They want no part of what the Conference of Bar Delegates espoused on these issues.

These men of morals are quick to point out that the actions of the conference are not binding on the bar's board of governors and should not be considered official policy. Be that as it may, the fact remains the public is correct in its impression that the California State Bar Association is sliding downhill. I have not seen or heard of any barrister demanding to be disassociated from the delegates' actions.

There was a time hen the bar concerned itself with substantive legal matters, with questions of justice and debates on equity and polity. Now it seems, the bar spends much of its time on "social action" — working to remove stigma from those activities which society, in its own defense, has held to be immoral and improper.

The older and more conservative members of the association claim most of this wish to change society has been foisted upon them by young activists, who have more time for politics than law — time to take over the delegate spots at the county level, time to sit in state convention, time to load the votes on resolutions dealing with pot and pimps and prostitution.

Many attorneys moan this crossing of the bar. But, their feathers must be singed along with those of the legal eaglets; they let it happen. If they do not like the results they had best get to work and change it — so that their legal house can once more be their home.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

San Anselmo Council's Low Spending Record

In a recent editorial directed to the subject of the spending practices of various municipal and district boards, you left the reader with the impression that abuse is the rule rather than the exception.

Our city administrator reviewed San Anselmo's records with your reporter, who commented on the "tight ship" we run. I think the public would be interested in what he learned.

In San Anselmo all council travel and meeting expenses are budgeted through one account. .Such expenses include the cost of the Association of Bay Area Governments, Council of Mayors and Councilmen, League of California Cities, and any other conference, meeting, or travel expenses incurred by the Councilmen. Over the last six years, our budget item has been as follows:

Two years ago this council reduced their salaries from $150 per month to $25 per meeting with a maximum of $75 per month.

Cable TV Change Wanted Now, Not Later

On behalf of the Corte Madera Citizens Committee on Communications and Citizen Participation, I would like to thank you for your excellent coverage of our Town Meeting Sept. 30.

I would like to offer a correction to your statement of the cable television resolution adopted at that meeting. First, the resolution asked the town council to amend its current CATV ordinance and franchise agreement with Tele-vue Systems of Marin now - not when the present franchise expires in February of 1975. Second, the resolution called for two to four hours per day - not four hours.

Under present FCC regulations, Tele-vue will be required to provide at least one channel of public access programming on a 24-hour per day basis when the present franchise agreement expires in February, 1975. This requirement applies not only to Corte Madera, but to all towns and unincorporated areas of the county. The due date s either when present franchises expire or March 1, 1977; whichever is sooner.

We would urge residents of other towns in the county to investigate the potential of public access to cable television as a means of improving communications and citizen participation in their communities. If we do not begin comprehensive communications planning now, we are going to be faced with a big mess in two or three years.

TODAY'S WORLD

Transportation Plan Called Realistic

The most striking fact brought ou in Marin's Phase II balanced transportation report is that San Francisco commuters account for only one seventh of the peak hour traffic on the county's streets and freeways. The message is clear: if Marin is to avoid turning into an asphalt and concrete lined smogsville like Santa Clara and San Mateo counties, we've got to find a way to reduce or stop the growth of local traffic.

To me, the report signals a real emergency. In the I-J's account of the board of supervisors' reaction (Sept. 13), Supervisor Arrigoni seemed to be the only one who recognized the problem — the other three just indulged in sharpshooting.

Wornum called the report "anti-road and anti-automobile." Well, the report forecasts the frightening environmental destruction that more roads and more autos will bring, and outlines methods and costs for alternatives. Maybe Wornum should have called the report "pro-Marin."

I found the 82 page report realistic. I hope those who feel "anti-automobile and anti-road" will let Barr, Wornum, and Baptiste know how they feel.

County Master Plan Raises Some Questions

Many ideas presented in the proposed county master plan, which was distributed by you last week, may be good. Other issues are raised by the plan, however, which perhaps you will answer.

(1) Who paid for the plan and how much?

(2) What will happen to democratic forms of local government when these super-legislators get control?

(3) Have those named on committees shown such ability to manage their own affairs that they should be assumed capable of managing county affairs?

(4) Is Marin the only county in the United States confronted with such planning, or are similar avoidances of local government being suggested elsewhere? and

(5) Can this be still another big government, big spend, big tax plan?

City Employee Takes Councilmen To Task

In light of the recent articles printed in your newspaper regarding the wasting of tax dollars by officials of city government, I wish to add my comments as an employee of the City of San Rafael.

When pay raise negotiations were taking place with the San Rafael Police Officers Association, Firefighters Association, and the San Rafael City Council, it was brought out by a member of the council that the city's general fund was seriously lacking funds. It seems sad that the city's officials did not realize the lack of avilable funds when they were wining and dining in San Francisco and flying to Hawaii at the taxpayers' expense.

Considering that many (if not most) of the police officers and firemen cannot afford to own homes in the city in which we work, and considering that the council decided they could not afford to grant to safety employees the pay increases that were totally justified in black and white, it shocks me that they can throw away the taxpayers' hard-earned dollars on their own personal extravagant use. It appears that the San Rafael City Council can only become money conscious when their own personal entertainment has already been paid for by the very people that elected them to office.

I sincerely hope that the tax paying citizens of San Rafael do not forget this matter at election time.

Is Nation Going Conservative? No, 'Conservatives' Grow Liberal

WASHINGTON — There is a good deal of political opinion floating around to the effect that the American voter is going quite conservative.

The opposite, I believe, is nearer the truth — that the American voter is going quite liberal.

It is true that some opinion surveys show that in some parts of the country more people identify themselves as conservative than otherwise.

But the pollsters do not define conservative when they ask a person to classify himself. The fact is that both political parties have been moving substantially to the left during the past four years — pre-eminently the two presidential nominees, President Richard Nixon and Sen. George McGovern. This means that today's conservatism is yesterday's liberalism.

Conservatives .....38%.
Moderates.....29%.
Liberals .....24%.

Does this justify the conclusion that New York, once one of the most liberal states in the union, has now become one of the most conservative?

I doubt it. Rather, does it not suggest that these voters are only calling themselves conservatis — or conservative-moderates — while in reality accepting or embracing the liberal policies and programs of the Nixon Administration?

What I am saying is that conservatism is not very conservative any more.

AN EDITORIAL in Life carries this we're-going-conservative argument still further. It argues that "the final effect of the McGovern candidacy may be to show us how conservative a country we have become." And then adds:

"The voters who have a large stake in the preservation of the system now greatly outnumber those who feel they would gain from fundamental change."

The wish to preserve "the system" is not the touchstone of conservatism. Every reform of the New Deal — reforms which helped to preserve the system — has been embraced by most conservatives. All of the civil rights and welfare programs of the Johnson administration were carried out a time of mounting prosperity and at a time when those who supported these changes "had a large stake in the preservation of the system."

This suggests that those who have a large stake in the system — meaning good wages and reasonable security — do not thereby oppose social change.

IF IT HAPPENS that Nixon wins by a substantial majority, how could this show that the country is going conservative?

Nixon has said and shown that he is a Keynesian economist, that he favors deficit spending when it is needed to stimulate the economy. That's not conservative.

He abruptly cast aside the concept of the free market a year ago and instituted wage-price controls. That's not conservative.

Nixon has opened a new era of cooperation with the Soviet Union from arms control to pollution control. These acts rest on the premise that the cold war is on the way out. That's not conservative.

He has turned Red China from an open enemy to a partial friend. That's not conservative.

All of these policies have had liberal Democratic advocacy for some time.

I am not saying that what Nixon has done is necessarily right at all points. I am saying that it is not very conservative and that, if he is re-elected, it will not betoken what some see as "a historic shift to the right."

The Antinoise Industry Meets Amid The Clash Of Decibles

WASHINGTON — The malady spread insidiously over the civilized world. Month by month, its victims lay awake nights twitching with nerves, tried and failed to concentrate at work, cursed each other and the world around them, blamed other innocent diseases for their symptoms. Frequently it crossed the threshold of pain, and in places where people gathered in great masses it became intolerable. Yet only gradually did either layman or specialist realize what it was, or how serious it was.

True, in Baltimore there were complaints about unnecessary noise at least as early as 1914. Ten years later, the Women's Civil League began a campaign against: (1) noise in hospital zones; (2) noise from heavy vehicles; (3) open mufflers; (4) motorcycles; (5) horns; (6) loose streetcar gear; (7) early-morning newsboys and hucksters; (8) ringing bells; (9) train and factory whistles, and (10) clanging garbage cans. But the chief police inspector sent out some of his boys and concluded that all that was needed was a little diplomacy. Baltimore, then a city of about three-quarters of a million persons, was "noiseless," the good inspector reported.

THAT IS APPROXIMATELY how it went in every metropolitan area in the country for another 40 years or so. Only in the late '60s, when public fedupness with other forms of pollution was spreading, did the notion catch on that noise is pollution, too. Since then it has grown so tal hardly a city is without its antinoise crusade, and hardly a maker of scientific equipment has failed to branch out into the burgeoning field of noise detection, measurement, analysis and prevention.

Thus some 1,200 specialists convened here the other day to present and discuss papers on every aspect of this new noise consciousness. They came from England, France, Russia, Canada, Germany, Denmark, Sweden and nearly every state in the Union, and they went into the acoustical design of a low-pressure loss-attenuating bend for noise control in air-conditioning distribution duct systems, application of the coherence function to acoustic noise measurements, transient and steady-state sound absorption coefficients of fiberglass and polyurethane foam, and at least 88 other subjects.

They were pleased by the news that states like California, Hawaii, New York, Colorado and Minnesota have passed strong noise-control laws, and that cities like Chicago, Boston and New York have such measures in operation, and Baltimore and Washington have them in process.

They knowingly examined a hallful of decibel meters, oscilloscopes, ear muffs, plastic insulation and other industrial responses to the situation. Perhaps on that basis, they warned that noise measurement standards and methods are still in the exploratory stage. And they seemed unanimous in urging Congress to move into the noise-law field. The House already has passed a comprehensive bill by a broad margin, but at this writing the Senate still had not acted, and the chance of its voting and then House-Senate differences being worked out narrow with each day of the adjournment rush.

ALTOGETHER the experts' presence here and their expertise, the belated degree to which they have made noise control yet another high-growth industry, was testimony to the remarkable ability of modern civilization to move against a problem once it is backed against the wall and there is no other way out.

It was heart lifting to leave the convention hotel knowing that great technical and social forces both at last were aligned against the old insidious foe. It was inspirational food for thought while being lulled by: (1) heavy vehicles; (2) open mufflers; (3) motorcycles; (4) horns; (5) trash truck compressors; (6) pile drivers; (7) air hammers; (8) jet planes; (9) clanging garbage cans, and (10) the protracted groan of an entire block of Connecticut Avenue's surface sinking into the chasm created by construction of the national capital's subway system — which will become (11) when it is completed.

It Was One Long Hassle At Novato Council Meeting

The Novato City Council set some kind of a record at its meeting last week. Some meetings have gone longer than the 2 a.m. record set, others have attracted bigger crowds, but this one was six hours of haggling and important decisions.

One item was the purchase of the Richard Connell property at 1531 South Novato Boulevard for $45,000. When, and if, Hill Road is extended through the Paul Pickart property, the Connell property could link Hill Road to South Novato Boulevard.

Residents of Hill Road do not want that street made into a major collector and many of them attended the council meeting. However, the council would not allow the Hill Road question to be linked to purchase of the Connell property.

THEN WHEN City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. explained the recent decision of the state Supreme Court that all projects must have an environmental impact study before a building permit can be issued, Councilman George C. Quesada got in a lick against the freeway bypass.

He ordered the city and county attorneys to stop the construction of the bypass. Palmer told him that public projects already have had to have the study of environmental impact approved.

Then on the question of where the second city-owned swimming pool should be located, the council placed first choice on land adjacent to San Marin High School on the west, or second choice on the high school site.

The council wanted the endorsement of the Novato School District board. The school board, meeting at the same time, stallej on giving its endorsement of the $500,000 bond issue on the Nov. 7 general election, waiting on the city council's decision.

No one mentioned the possibility of putting it in Pioneer Memorial Park, which is nearer the center of the city.

There was such a large crowd that people in the hall and lobby of the Community house could not hear the proceedings inside the council chambers. Finally Mayor F. Wayne Sartain asked everyone to vacate the council chambers who did not have an interest in a particular item on the agenda so that those on the outside who did, could get into the chambers.

When that failed, the council moved its meeting into the main auditorium of the Community House.

ALTHOUGH WE HAD a small amount of rainfall last year, the North Marin County Water District had access to Russian River water, so throughout Novato, there was ample to water lawns and gardens.

As a consequence, there is the usual lush growth on the shrubs and trees around the city.

In driving around, one notices that in many places the new growth has covered stop signs and street name signs. For instance going eastbound on Center Road, residents know that there is a stop sign at Diablo Avenue, and stop.

However, a stranger going down the street cannot see the stop sign until he is within a few feet of the intersection.

These situations could be a traffic hazard. A little pruning by the city public works department could correct them.

State Spends Half Million On Discredited Program

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The State of California has committed itself to spend a half-million dollars on an experimental mathematics program that teachers of mathematics claim already has been tried and found wanting.

The experiment is authorized by Assembly Bill 1644, which was introduced by Assemblyman Newton R. Rusell, R-Burbank, and proved so popular that it acquired 30 Assembly and six Senate co-authors — including Marin-Sonoma Assemblyman William T. Bagley.

It calls for trial in four school districts of an "abstract, conceptually oriented" mathematics teaching program, which it describes in some detail. The description fits precisely what is known as Project SEED (Special Elementary Education for the Disadvantaged), originated and promoted by Willia Johntz.

THE CALIFORNIA Mathematics Council, made up of math teachers throughout the state, opposed the bill. The council contended that the SEED approach already had received ample testing and that money to improve mathematics instruction could be put to much better use.

In a June 16 letter to Gov. Ronald Reagan, the president of the council's northern section, Harold D. Taylor of San Mateo, wrote:

"Since a program similar to the one described in AB 1644 has been in operation in 22 school districts for three years under the title of 'Project SEED' at a cost of $350,000 per year, the ideas suggested have already been experimentally tested."

Among objections raised by Taylor and presidents of the other two sections of the California Mathematics Council was introduction into classroom instruction of "mathematics specialists" defined in the bill as anyone "who has at least the equivalent of 36 semester hour credits in mathematics." The rate of pay for these specialists, under the bill's provisions, could be $22,500 per year for a halftime (20-hour week) job.

COUNCIL LEADERS also expressed their objections to state Sen. Albest S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, chairman of the Senate Education Committee. The bill, however, was whisked through both houses and signed by the governor.

Rodda, in replying to Taylor's letter, agreej that the program is "identical to that of Project SEED" and continued: "I have talked with Dr. Johntz, who is promoting this program, and I have observed several sessions of SEED math instruction on a demonstration basis. My impression has been good . . ."

The commission on Mathematics Education in the Inner City, set up by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, got a different impression from observing a SEED session directed by Johntz in New York. Its report contains this item:

"ON THIS OCCASION, Mr. Johntz preceded the demonstration with the usual pronouncements on the merits of the approach and the usual assertion that he had never met the demonstration class before . . . Finally,

"Johntz: And how many members in this set?

"Child: Infinite.

"Johntz: And how do you know?

"Child: Because you told us yesterday.

"Later, the principal confided in private that the demonstration class had been rehearsed for three days prior to the public presentation. This slip, occasioned by a child's innocence, must make SEED claims somewhat less than credible."

THE COMMISSION raised a long series of questions about the program as used in New York. It concluded:

"The profusion of cued responses and contrived 'discovery' leads to the question of whether or not the children did indeed learn abstract mathematics or simply mastered some meaningless symbol manipulation according to recognized patterns."

In three years of Project SEED experiments, apparently this question has not been answered. But perhaps, by spending another half-million dollars to further finance Johntz's project under a different name, the sponsors of AB 1644 hope to find out.

Satellite Launched At Vandenberg Base

The Air Force would say nothing about the satellite except that it was fired into space at 11:03 a.m. by a Titan 111D rocket.
